PENDERGAST AND O'MALLEY GO TO PRISON MONDAY

Latter Given Year And Day For Failure To Pay Tax On Bribe Money

Steps Taken To Recover Huge Sum For Insurance Policyholders

KANSAS CITY, May 27 (AP)—R. Emmet O'Malley, ousted Missouri insurance superintendent, and his political boss, Tom Pendergast, will enter Leavenworth penitentiary Monday to serve sentences for income tax evasion on the $[illegible] "bribe money" they received for settling Missouri's $9,500,000 fire insurance rate case in favor of the stock companies.

Federal Judge Merrill E. Otis called it "bribe money" today as he sentenced O'Malley to a year and a day for failure to pay taxes on his $62,500 end of the deal.

"For thirty thousand pieces of silver he betrayed Missouri," the judge said in paraphrasing a Biblical quotation.

"O'Malley was guilty of loyalty to a friend; at no time did O'Malley ever ask for any of the money for himself," said the defense attorney, William G. Boatright, after his client pleaded guilty.

Pendergast pleaded guilty last Monday to tax evasions on $[illegible] including $[illegible] which the government said he got as a payoff to bring about the distribution of funds impounded after a fire insurance rate increase was denied.

He was sentenced to a year and three months in prison. Some critics termed the sentence too light, causing Judge Otis to defend it in court today as one without passion and hatred and revenge.

Both men must pay taxes plus penalties.

At the prison Pendergast and O'Malley will find twenty-one workers in the Pendergast Democratic or-

EUROPE'S TENSE FEELING EASES

Alliance-Building Efforts Of Two Big Opposing Camps Continue

By Associated Press

Europe entered upon the Whitsun holiday today (Sunday) in an atmosphere of slackened tension but with no let-up in the alliance-building efforts of her two big opposing camps.

Behind was a week capped by the sealing of a sweeping German-Italian military alliance, Soviet Russia's announcement of a gigantic $7,727,265,000 defense budget and marked progress in British-Soviet Russian negotiations.

Ahead lay more negotiating on details between London and Moscow to get Russia into the British-French front and further steps by Germany in her newly launched program of wooing old and new friends to strengthen the Rome-Berlin axis.

British and French representatives in Moscow yesterday delivered to Soviet officials what was understood to be an offer to resume the close cooperation which bound the three powers in 1914.

BIG NEWSPRINT PLANT DEDICATED

Tribute Paid To Men Who Led In Developing New Industry For South

LUFKIN, Tex., May 27 (AP)—Old East Texas, which has slept for centuries in the shade of its stately pines, today saw its forests cradle a new industry that brings fresh economic hope to the south and may revamp the newsprint industry of the world.

Southern newspaper publishers stood inside bare unfinished walls of a great paper mill and while workmen's trip hammers knitted the skeleton-like frame, dedicated a plant that will convert native pine into newsprint.

Fifty thousand tons of newsprint annually will begin to roll from the $6,000,000 mill about December 1. Newspaper publishers, who now buy most of their paper from Canadian and Swedish markets, months ago signed contracts for the first year's output.

The softwood of the great coastal plain which extends from Georgia westward to mid-Texas may in the future furnish the United States much of the 4,000,000 tons of newsprint used annually.

Land owners who have realized little cash from their pine trees, felt a new fortune within their grasp.

Northern-grown wood for paper mills sells for $7 to $15 a cord. The south's wood crop will begin selling for around $5 a cord.

The plant of Southland Paper Mills, Inc., is being built with funds subscribed by southland publishers and a $3,425,000 Reconstruction Finance corporation loan which is to be repaid in ten years.

E. L. Kurth, president, said the big thicket of East Texas alone grows enough yellow pine yearly to supply five or six mills the size of this one.

Publishers from six states said there was a strong possibility other mills would be built in Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Arkansas, Alabama and Georgia, as the demand for southern newsprint increased.

The plant at first will obtain material from a Houston mill which will dehydrate the pulp and ship it here for refinishing. Later pine logs will be beaten here into pulp for newsprint.

Honored today were the two men who probably did more to make the mill possible than any others. Drs.

VETS' FACILITIES TO BE CONSIDERED

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—Representative Brooks, Democrat, Louisiana, said the veterans administration advised him a decision would be announced in about ten days on whether Louisiana needs further veterans hospital facilities.

If the agency held that the existing hospital was insufficient, Brooks said hearings would be held on the location of a new one.

Louisiana members of congress have joined in asking additional facilities. There is disagreement, however, over whether there would be a new hospital or merely an enlargement of the Alexandria hospital.

BACCALAUREATE EVENTS PLANNED

NOE ENDORSED BY LOUISIANA LEAGUE

NEW ORLEANS, May 27 (AP)—The Louisiana League for Better Government today endorsed State Senator James A. Noe of Monroe for governor in the Louisiana campaign, Edward G. Spellman, chairman of the league, announced.

The announcement said the league had no connection with the Louisiana Better Government committee which suggested that Mayor Robert S. Maestri of New Orleans be drafted for governor because of his "business-like administration" of New Orleans.

Spellman's statement said:

"The Louisiana League for Better Government has endorsed Mr. Noe's candidacy because of his promise to repeal the sales tax, to stop the alleged deductions of the payroll, and for his promise to give Louisiana a clean and efficient government."

The organization endorsing Maestri, who said he did not want the job, is headed by Dudley LeBlanc.

CHANGE SHOWN IN SENTIMENT SINCE FEBRUARY

UPSWING IS ANTICIPATED WHEN CONGRESS ADJOURNS

General Attitude In Wall Street Is That International Situation Better

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—Some financial and industrial leaders said today international and domestic politics and general business conditions have made them increasingly confident a moderate business upturn is on the way.

This spreading belief marks a change in sentiment prevailing since February.

However, they expected the upturn would affect consumer lines chiefly. There was little hope expressed of a major upturn in the heavy goods field.

Most of those interviewed thought the upturn might be expected by late summer, some predicted it would begin shortly after congress adjourned.

Although a few stock market analysts this week predicted a turn for the worse in Europe, the general attitude of Wall Street leaders was that the international political situation was definitely better as a factor in this country's business and that every day's postponement of hostilities decreased the likelihood of general war.

On the domestic political front Wall Street leaders were encouraged chiefly by the reported agreement this week between Senator Pat Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, and President Roosevelt to try to obtain passage before ad-

ST. MATTHEW'S CLOSING YEAR

Baccalaureate And Commencement Exercises Scheduled Today

The final exercises of the high school department of St. Matthew's for the class of 1939 will be held today. The members of the class will receive Holy Communion in a body at the 8 o'clock mass this morning, after which they will be breakfast guests of the junior mothers at the school. At 10 a.m. they will attend high mass in St. Matthew's church and in the evening at 8 o'clock the graduating exercises will be held.

The graduating class comprises the following members: Bobby Rimes, Cliff Worsham, Clarence Du Bos, Paul Keller, Harry Kokinos, Pete Ladart, Eugene Spatafora, Louise Brown, Angie Miller, Josephine Zagone, Marie Cascio, Dorothy Waldrop, Marjorie Gremillion, Mildred Keller, Marilyn Rolleigh and Ann Soebbing.

The public is invited to attend both public exercises today. Closing exercises for the grammar grades will be held at the 8 o'clock mass on Monday. After the mass the grammar grade graduates will have breakfast at the school as guests of the sixth grade.

Russia Ignored, Scorned Then Sought By England

It is July, 1937, and Maisky is pale with rage.

"Up there, gentlemen," he says to newspaper men with a wave at the Locarno room, "the British are selling the democracy of Spain.

"Soviet Russia is for the Spanish government and democracy. Britain, Germany and Italy are on the other side."

Eight months later and six days after Germany annexed Austria, Maisky returned to the foreign office.

He handed a note to Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax in which world powers were invited to consider joint action against aggressor nations.

A week later he received the British reply.

"His majesty's government are of the opinion," Prime Minister Chamberlain announced, "that the indirect but none the less inevitable consequence of such an action as is proposed by the Soviet government would be to aggravate the tendency toward the establishment of exclusive groups of nations which must be inimical to the prospects of European peace."

Sitting in the gallery of the house of commons plucking at his thin goatee, Maisky listened to this statement and duly reported it to Moscow.

Then followed two incidents which angered Maisky and his government.

On October 10, 1938, after the Munich agreement pared off the Sudetenland and other areas from Czecho-Slovakia, Lord Winterton, a member of the British cabinet, explained to an audience in Shoreham that Russia did not help in the Czecho-Slovak crisis but "only made very vague promises owing to her military weakness."

TASK OF RAISING SQUALUS STARTS

One Or Two Weeks May Be Required To Bring $4,000,000 Submarine Up

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May 27 (AP)—An intricate plan for raising the $4,000,000 submarine Squalus and its crew of 26 dead—a plan so complicated it may take a week or more to execute—was thrown into high gear today with 60 of the navy's best divers working in relays at the task.

"Keep at it day and night until the job is done. There will be no Sundays or holidays until the Squalus is raised."

These, in effect, were the orders flashed to the men assigned to one of the most delicate submarine jobs in history.

The return from Washington by fast navy plane of two submarine experts—Commanders A. I. McKee and A. R. McCann—with the approved plan of operation was the signal for speeding up the work. Shortly before noon, almost simultaneous with the landing of McKee and McCann, the first relay of divers went down.

Their previous work had been largely exploratory and with the purpose of clearing away some of the obstructions from the Squalus' deck.

A high naval official said there remained no doubt that the raising of the Squalus would be a long and tedious process. Indications that at least seven days would be required for the work were seen when the officers said it might be possible to give a week's notice before the Squalus broke the surface. From another naval source came the off-the-record opinion that it might be two weeks, at least.

Third Term Talk Again Brought Up

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—A new surge of speculation over President Roosevelt's 1940 campaign role enlivened backstage political discussions in Washington this week.

The renewed third term talk started through interpretations widely placed on the president's "no-retreat" speech to the retailers' forum early in the week. Some influential Democrats shared the view that it indicated a readiness on the president's part to be drafted in 1940 in order to carry on this program.

The third term talk was further and importantly stimulated by Postmaster General Farley's return from a survey of Democratic party prospects for 1940. The trip took him from coast to coast and, particularly, through most of the interior state where Democratic 1938 election reverses were heaviest.

Publicly, he had cheery predictions to offer of Democratic 1940 successes in the 13 states he toured—and noth-

MURPHY, HOOVER ON WAY TO NEW ORLEANS

DALLAS, Tex., May 27 (AP)—Federal District Attorney Clyde Eastus was notified today Frank Murphy, United States attorney general, and J. Edgar Hoover, federal bureau of investigation head, would arrive here by plane tomorrow.

The two are returning from the west coast. They will leave here tomorrow afternoon for Houston and will go from there to New Orleans, La., before going to Washington.

GOOD MONTH OF BUSINESS SHOWN

April Of 1939 Compares Well With April Of 1938, Data Discloses

Business conditions in Monroe in April, 1939, compared favorably with the same month in 1938, according to figures released yesterday by the Chamber of Commerce office. The April, 1939, figures, as compared with the same period last year, showed an increase in postal receipts of 0.8 of 1 per cent, building permits increased 452.6 per cent, telephones in service increased 0.5 of 1 per cent, new motor vehicle registrations were up 14.6 per cent, freight shipments were up 0.7 of 1 per cent, electric power consumption increased 3.1 per cent.

On the negative side of the picture, bank deposits decreased 7.7 per cent and bank debits decreased 10 per cent, manufacturing sales were off 15.3 per cent.

In the field of private employment, there was an increase of 46.8 per cent, and public employment increased 39.1 per cent.

April business, as compared with March of this year, showed postal receipts up 0.2 of 1 per cent, telephones in service increased 0.6 of 1 per cent, department store sales were up 15 per cent, electric power consumption increased 13.2 per cent.

On the negative side of the picture, building permits were down 30.2 per cent, new motor vehicle registrations decreased 26.2 per cent, freight shipments dropped 14.1 per cent, bank deposits were off 0.5 of 1 per cent, bank debits were down 19.2 per cent and manufacturing sales were off 28.5 per cent.

COUCH 'PUSHING' FOR AIR ROUTE

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 27 (AP)—Harvey C. Couch, president and chairman of the board of the Kansas City Southern railroad, said today he was "pushing vigorously" plans to establish an airline service between Kansas City and New Orleans.

He disclosed that a formal application for a license would be on file with the bureau of air commerce at Washington by July 1.

"I'm sold on the idea," Couch said. "Kansas City is the natural gateway for traffic both north and south, and east and west."

Asserting he was unable to estimate when service would start, Couch said the obtaining of mail contracts, purchase of equipment and fixing of schedules would take some time.

The proposed plane route would serve Fort Smith, Ark., Texarkana, Ark., Shreveport, La., Baton Rouge, La., and possibly Alexandria, La.

The railway board discussed the proposal at Kansas City two weeks ago, authorizing W. N. Deramus, executive vice-president, to make application to the proper authority for a passenger, mail and express air service.

TREASURY CHIEF OFFERS PLAN TO HELP BUSINESS

Morgenthau Proposes To Remove 'Irritants' And Promote Recovery

FIVE-POINT PROGRAM IS OUTLINED BY SECRETARY

Suggests Repeal Of Remaining 2½ Per Cent Undistributed Profits Tax

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—A broad outline for tax revision legislation to remove "business irritants" and promote a "lasting recovery" was laid before congress today by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau.

Without making specific recommendations for new tax schedules, the treasury chief suggested to the house ways and means committee that it consider a five-point program and indicated the administration was willing to:

1. Reduce some of the higher individual income surtax rates if pending legislation is passed to prohibit future issuance of tax-exempt securities.
2. Repeal the remaining 2½ per cent undistributed profits tax.
3. Liberalize the present capital stock tax and the related excess profits levy.
4. Provide for the carry-over of net annual business losses to be deducted from business profits of future years.
5. Continue cooperative studies with a view to legislation at the next session, to change the present law limiting to $2,000 the excess of corporate capital losses over capital gains that may be deducted from ordinary income.

Republicans on the committee promptly asserted that Morgenthau had "admitted" the Republican position on the tax question was correct. In a statement which he said spoke for the 10 minority members of the committee, Representative Treadway, Republican, Massachusetts, said: "By

MEMORIAL DAY PLANNED HERE

Four Services Scheduled Today To Honor War Veterans

With national Memorial day falling on May 30, observance of the day will be held here Sunday. The L. B. Faulk post, American Legion, will attend in a body at the 11 a.m. service at the First Presbyterian church when the pastor, Rev. Ernest D. Holloway, will address the veterans. At the same hour, the Rodney J. Hobbs post of the V. F. W. will attend in a body the First Baptist church, when the pastor, Rev. L. T. Hastings, will address veterans.

At 4:30 p.m., the United Spanish war auxiliary will hold an impressive ceremony on the new bridge at Louisville avenue when a wreath will be dropped into the river in memory of the soldiers who died at sea. The exercises will be in charge of Mrs. Alma McKee, auxiliary president, and Mrs. Stella Courtney, past department president.

Both legionnaires and Veterans of Foreign Wars members and the general public will attend a service in Riverview Burial park at 5 p.m., when Dr. C. Karlos Smith, pastor of the First Methodist church in West Monroe, will deliver a Memorial day address.

Graves of veterans will be decorated in the cemeteries of the city and vicinity Sunday afternoon.

NOE ENDORSED BY LOUISIANA LEAGUE

NEW ORLEANS, May 27.—(AP)—The Louisiana League for Better Government today endorsed State Senator James A. Noe of Monroe for governor in the Louisiana campaign, Edward G. Spellman, chairman of the league, announced.

The announcement said the league had no connection with the Louisiana Better Government committee which suggested that Mayor Robert S. Maestri of New Orleans be drafted for governor because of his "business-like administration" of New Orleans.

Spellman's statement said:

"The Louisiana League for Better Government has endorsed Mr. Noe's candidacy because of his promise to repeal the sales tax, to stop the alleged deductions of the payroll, and for his promise to give Louisiana a clean and efficient government."

The organization endorsing Maestri, who said he did not want the job, is headed by Dudley LeBlanc.

CHANGE SHOWN IN SENTIMENT SINCE FEBRUARY

General Attitude In Wall Street Is That International Situation Better

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP)—Some financial and industrial leaders said today international and domestic politics and general business conditions have made them increasingly confident a moderate business upturn is on the way.

This spreading belief marks a change in sentiment prevailing since February.

However, they expected the upturn would affect consumer lines chiefly. There was little hope expressed of a major upturn in the heavy goods field.

Most of those interviewed thought the upturn might be expected by late summer; some predicted it would begin shortly after congress adjourned.

Although a few stock market analysts this week predicted a turn for the worse in Europe, the general attitude of Wall Street leaders was that the international political situation was definitely better as a factor in this country's business and that every day's postponement of hostilities decreased the likelihood of general war.

On the domestic political front Wall Street leaders were encouraged chiefly by the reported agreement this week between Senator Pat Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, and President Roosevelt to try to obtain passage before ad-

ST. MATTHEW'S CLOSING YEAR

Baccalaureate And Commencement Exercises Scheduled Today

The final exercises of the high school department of St. Matthew's for the class of 1939 will be held today. The members of the class will receive Holy Communion in a body at the 8 o'clock mass this morning, after which they will be breakfast guests of the junior mothers at the school. At 10 a.m. they will attend high mass in St. Matthew's church and in the evening at 8 o'clock the graduating exercises will be held.

The graduating class comprises the following members: Bobby Rimes, Cliff Worsham, Clarence Du Bos, Paul Keller, Harry Kokinos, Pete Ladart, Eugene Spatafora, Louise Brown, Angie Miller, Josephine Zagone, Marie Cascio, Dorothy Waldrop, Marjorie Gremillion, Mildred Keller, Marilyn Rolleigh and Ann Soebbing.

The public is invited to attend both public exercises today. Closing exercises for the grammar grades will be held at the 8 o'clock mass on Monday. After the mass the grammar grade graduates will have breakfast at the school as guests of the sixth grade.

Russia Ignored, Scorned Then Sought By England

It is July, 1937, and Maisky is pale with rage.

"Up there, gentlemen," he says to newspaper men with a wave at the Locarno room, "the British are selling the democracy of Spain.

"Soviet Russia is for the Spanish government and democracy. Britain, Germany and Italy are on the other side."

Eight months later and six days after Germany annexed Austria, Maisky returned to the foreign office.

He handed a note to Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax in which world powers were invited to consider joint action against aggressor nations.

A week later he received the British reply.

"His majesty's government are of the opinion," Prime Minister Chamberlain announced, "that the indirect but none the less inevitable consequence of such an action as is proposed by the Soviet government would be to aggravate the tendency toward the establishment of exclusive groups of nations, which must be inimical to the prospects of European peace."

Sitting in the gallery of the house of commons plucking at his thin goatee, Maisky listened to this statement and duly reported it to Moscow.

Then followed two incidents which angered Maisky and his government.

On October 10, 1938, after the Munich agreement pared off the Sudetenland and other areas from Czecho-Slovakia, Lord Winterton, a member of the British cabinet, explained to an audience in Shoreham that Russia did not help in the Czecho-Slovak crisis but "only made very vague promises owing to her military weakness."

MRS. BERGDOLL: STUDY IN DISAPPOINTMENT

TASK OF RAISING SQUALUS STARTS

One Or Two Weeks May Be Required To Bring $4,000,000 Submarine Up

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May 27.—(AP)—An intricate plan for raising the $4,000,000 submarine Squalus and its crew of 26 dead—a plan so complicated it may take a week or more to execute—was thrown into high gear today with 60 of the navy's best divers working in relays at the task.

"Keep at it day and night until the job is done. There will be no Sundays or holidays until the Squalus is raised."

These, in effect, were the orders flashed to the men assigned to one of the most delicate submarine jobs in history.

The return from Washington by fast navy plane of two submarine experts—Commanders A. I. McKee and A. R. McCann—with the approved plan of operation was the signal for speeding up the work. Shortly before noon, almost simultaneous with the landing of McKee and McCann, the first relay of divers went down.

Their previous work had been largely exploratory and with the purpose of clearing away some of the obstructions from the Squalus' deck.

A high naval official said there remained no doubt that the raising of the Squalus would be a long and tedious process. Indications that at least seven days would be required for the work were seen when the officers said it might be possible to give a week's notice before the Squalus broke the surface. From another naval source came the off-the-record opinion that it might be two weeks, at least.

Third Term Talk Again Brought Up

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—A new surge of speculation over President Roosevelt's 1940 campaign role enlivened backstage political discussions in Washington this week.

The renewed third term talk started through interpretations widely placed on the president's "no-retreat" speech to the retailers' forum early in the week. Some influential Democrats shared the view that it indicated a readiness on the president's part to be drafted in 1940 in order to carry on this program.

The third term talk was further and importantly stimulated by Postmaster General Farley's return from a survey of Democratic party prospects for 1940. The trip took him from coast to coast and, particularly, through most of the interior state where Democratic 1938 election reverses were heaviest.

Publicly, he had cheery predictions to offer of Democratic 1940 successes in the 13 states he toured—and noth-

MURPHY, HOOVER ON WAY TO NEW ORLEANS

DALLAS, Tex., May 27.—(AP)—Federal District Attorney Clyde Eastus was notified today Frank Murphy, United States attorney general, and J. Edgar Hoover, federal bureau of investigation head, would arrive here by plane tomorrow.

The two are returning from the west coast. They will leave here tomorrow afternoon for Houston and will go from there to New Orleans, La., before going to Washington.

GOOD MONTH OF BUSINESS SHOWN

April Of 1939 Compares Well With April Of 1938, Data Discloses

Business conditions in Monroe in April, 1939, compared favorably with the same month in 1938, according to figures released yesterday by the Chamber of Commerce office. The April, 1939, figures, as compared with the same period last year, showed an increase in postal receipts of 0.8 of 1 per cent, building permits increased 452.6 per cent, telephones in service increased 0.5 of 1 per cent, new motor vehicle registrations were up 14.6 per cent, freight shipments were up 0.7 of 1 per cent, electric power consumption increased 3.1 per cent.

On the negative side of the picture, bank deposits decreased 7.7 per cent and bank debits decreased 10 per cent, manufacturing sales were off 15.3 per cent.

In the field of private employment, there was an increase of 46.8 per cent, and public employment increased 39.1 per cent.

April business, as compared with March of this year, showed postal receipts up 0.2 of 1 per cent, telephones in service increased 0.6 of 1 per cent, department store sales were up 15 per cent, electric power consumption increased 13.2 per cent.

On the negative side of the picture, building permits were down 30.2 per cent, new motor vehicle registrations decreased 26.2 per cent, freight shipments dropped 14.1 per cent, bank deposits were off 0.5 of 1 per cent, bank debits were down 19.2 per cent and manufacturing sales were off 28.5 per cent.

COUCH 'PUSHING' FOR AIR ROUTE

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 27.—(AP)—Harvey C. Couch, president and chairman of the board of the Kansas City Southern railroad, said today he was "pushing vigorously" plans to establish an airline service between Kansas City and New Orleans.

He disclosed that a formal application for a license would be on file with the bureau of air commerce at Washington by July 1.

"I'm sold on the idea," Couch said. "Kansas City is the natural gateway for traffic both north and south, and east and west."

Asserting he was unable to estimate when service would start, Couch said the obtaining of mail contracts, purchase of equipment and fixing of schedules would take some time.

The proposed plane route would serve Fort Smith, Ark., Texarkana, Ark., Shreveport, La., Baton Rouge, La., and possibly Alexandria, La.

The railway board discussed the proposal at Kansas City two weeks ago, authorizing W. N. Deramus, executive vice-president, to make application to the proper authority for a passenger, mail and express air service.

TREASURY CHIEF OFFERS PLAN TO HELP BUSINESS

Morgenthau Proposes To Remove 'Irritants' And Promote Recovery

Suggests Repeal Of Remaining 2½ Per Cent Undistributed Profits Tax

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—A broad outline for tax revision legislation to remove "business irritants" and promote a "lasting recovery" was laid before congress today by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau.

Without making specific recommendations for new tax schedules, the treasury chief suggested to the house ways and means committee that it consider a five-point program and indicated the administration was willing to:

1. Reduce some of the higher individual income surtax rates if pending legislation is passed to prohibit future issuance of tax-exempt securities.
2. Repeal the remaining 2½ per cent undistributed profits tax.
3. Liberalize the present capital stock tax and the related excess profits levy.
4. Provide for the carry-over of net annual business losses to be deducted from business profits of future years.
5. Continue cooperative studies with a view to legislation at the next session, to change the present law limiting to $2,000 the excess of corporate capital losses over capital gains that may be deducted from ordinary income.

Republicans on the committee promptly asserted that Morgenthau had "admitted" the Republican position on the tax question was correct. In a statement which he said spoke for the 10 minority members of the committee, Representative Treadway, Republican, Massachusetts, said: "By

Four Services Scheduled Today To Honor War Veterans

With national Memorial day falling on May 30, observance of the day will be held here Sunday. The L. B. Faulk post, American Legion, will attend in a body at the 11 a.m. service at the First Presbyterian church when the pastor, Rev. Ernest D. Holloway, will address the veterans. At the same hour, the Rodney J. Hobbs post of the V. F. W. will attend in a body the First Baptist church, when the pastor, Rev. L. T. Hastings, will address veterans.

At 4:30 p.m., the United Spanish war auxiliary will hold an impressive ceremony on the new bridge at Louisville avenue when a wreath will be dropped into the river in memory of the soldiers who died at sea. The exercises will be in charge of Mrs. Alma McKee, auxiliary president, and Mrs. Stella Courtney, past department president.

Both legionnaires and Veterans of Foreign Wars members and the general public will attend a service in Riverview Burial park at 5 p.m., when Dr. C. Karlos Smith, pastor of the First Methodist church in West Monroe, will deliver a Memorial day address.

Graves of veterans will be decorated in the cemeteries of the city and vicinity Sunday afternoon.

CHANGE SHOWN IN SENTIMENT

Some leaders continued to express skepticism. They saw a wide divergence between the president's economic views expressed in his address before the American Retail federation Monday and his reported assent later in the week to a tax revision program desired by "big business."

Wall Streeters do not regard the Morgenthau-Hanes tax revision program as a tax panacea by any means. They do not expect it to reduce taxes or expenses. They do, however, hope that it will tempt into the common stock financing market large sums of potential equity money now lying idle in bank accounts.

Chiefly by allowing losses to be balanced in with profits, it would make "risk" investment for wealthy men more attractive than it is today.

Estimates as to how much money might thus be brought in vary greatly, generally running between $2,000,000,000 and $5,000,000,000 in the next couple of years. Some think the long delay in obtaining a "blessing" for the program, which was originally conceived in terms designed not to conflict with administration economic policies, has tended to diminish the incentive to invest when such a program is adopted.

They also point out that the original plan called for concurrent moderate amendment of securities and exchange commission procedure, so that very wealthy men, or groups of wealthy men, could put large sums of money in the equity market without having their position made known.

While former SEC Chairman Douglas' acid rejection of first proposals to amend SEC regulations offered by the securities exchanges technically left the door open to more moderate suggestions, some Wall Streeters said there is little likelihood of the New York stock exchange "sticking its neck out again" in the near future.

To the layman, all this may seem more or less like an attempt to "fix things up" for big speculators. However, a number of industrial leaders have said repeatedly that when the equity market "opens up again" they will launch new common stock issues for the purpose of increasing plant—which would presumably create new jobs and stimulate heavy industry.

RUSSIA SCORNED BUT NOW SOUGHT

Again, six days after Germany absorbed Bohemia and Moravia, Russia sought British aid by suggesting an immediate conference to halt Nazi-Fascist expansion. Britain called the suggestion "premature."

Then British foreign policy took an abrupt turn, and Maisky became a key figure in the realignment of Europe's great powers.

Since the disappearance of the Czecho-Slovak republic, Britain has promised to fight for Poland, Rumania, Greece and Turkey and all the genius of British diplomacy has been directed toward getting the support of Soviet Russia.

But Ivan Maisky has been suspicious.

In diplomatic quarters it is said he remembers too well the series of rebuffs—the long fights in the Locarno room against Britain's "hands-off-Spain" policy, the polite rejections of Russia's attempts to enlist Britain's help, Chamberlain's incautious reference to Russia as that "half-oriental power."

Now an agreement finally is in sight, virtually on Russia's terms.

Moscow has new British proposals, designed to meet the main Russian objections to earlier terms suggested by London for Russia's addition to the British-French front, coupled with an invitation to War Commissar Marshal Klementi E. Voroshiloff to attend British army maneuvers this fall.

The new proposals, said to bear Polish and Rumanian approval, were understood to provide:

The joining of Britain, France and Russia immediately in common defense in event any of them should be a victim of European aggression. An attack on Russia in the far east would be excluded.

Cooperation of all three if any one of them were involved in war while fulfilling assurances to other European states—thus covering British and French guarantees to Poland and Rumania and possible Russian guarantees to her Baltic neighbors.

Consultation on common action in event of acts or threats of aggression.

A declaration that the agreement is defensive only and embodies the principles of the League of Nations covenant although mutual assistance would not be withheld pending a league verdict.

sible world conference in a further attempt to reach peaceful settlement with Germany and Italy.

Meanwhile, Nazi officials who lavished entertainment upon the Italian delegation at last week's signing of the German-Italian military accord made ready to shower similar attention on Yugoslavia's regent, Prince Paul, who arrives in Berlin Thursday.

The Nazis also prepared a royal welcome for Spaniards en route to Germany with German legionnaires returning from service with the nationalists in Spain's civil war. Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, No. 2 Nazi, himself was delegated to extend the official glad hand.

For the moment Adolf Hitler appeared to be letting his quarrel with Poland over Danzig and the Polish corridor rest until the time is ripe to act. The Nazi technique reminded foreign observers of developments during the 1938 Czecho-Slovak crisis.

At Geneva the League of Nations sidestepped a dispute over Finnish-Swedish plans to re-fortify the Aaland islands in the Baltic sea by adjourning its 105th session without taking a stand.

Russia objected to the plans because the islands lie athwart her outlet to the Baltic sea and she won her point in having a decision of the thorny issue deferred until the September council session.

In the meantime Finland and Sweden were expected to negotiate directly with Moscow in an attempt to remove her objections.

As today's brief court drama was enacted, Governor Lloyd C. Stark, who fired O'Malley and has waged a bitter Democratic intra-party war on Pendergast, took steps intended to recover for the policyholders the 80 per cent of the impounded $9,500,000 awarded to the companies.

He asked Ray B. Lucas, state superintendent of insurance, to seek a contempt citation against Pendergast, O'Malley "and others" for the "admitted fraud."

"You will also take any and all other actions necessary to bring about a prompt return to the Missouri insurance policyholders of the approximately $8,000,000 taken from them by fraud and bribery or other improper methods," Stark requested.

After he fired O'Malley he succeeded in getting a parallel state court case, settled under the same conditions as the federally aproved "80-20" compromise, thrown out in favor of a 100 per cent return to the policyholders.

O'Malley, 65, was born in Leavenworth. Pendergast, 66, was born in nearby St. Joseph, Mo.

Henry Dillingham, United States marshal, was asked if Pendergast and O'Malley would go to Leavenworth together.

"They went down together," he said. "Maybe they'll go up together."

Charles H Herty and Francis P. Garvan.

The late Dr. Herty worked out the formula for making newsprint of yellow pine at his Savannah, Ga., laboratory and the late Dr. Garvan lent his aid as head of the chemical foundation.

Neither lived to see their work bear fruit, but when they died a short time ago their efforts had resulted in starting the project which is a month ahead of the construction schedule.

G. B. Dealey, publisher of the Dallas News, one of Texas' oldest institutions, delivered the dedication addresses and praised the memory of the two scientists. The widow of Dr. Garvan and his son and daughter of New York, were here to witness the unveiling of a plaque to the memory of Dr. Herty and Dr. Garvan.

The plaque was made by Miss Allie Virginia Tennant of Dallas, who unveiled it before the 200 publishers.

"From this lone mill a new industry will grow and expand until it covers the entire southland," Dealey said.

"We are making history today. We should rejoice in that. We are making the right kind of history—not history that has as its backbone war, death and destruction, but history that is bringing warmth and joy to human fireside, a fighting chance to many whom formerly opportunity passed by with averted face, a chance for honest toil and wet foreheads to those descendants of our pioneers who ask only the chance to bend their backs in worthy endeavor.

"We stand here in reverential spirit. Our gathering together marks the end of a long trail of disappointments and discouragements, of labor and travail. But we do not regret those years when all efforts to send these walls upward seemed destined to fail. The very darkness of the past makes brighter the joy of fulfillment. Nothing worthwhile is ever achieved without toil and trouble; nothing is adequately appreciated if it is too easily won."

Eulogizing Dr. Garvan, Dealey said: "He was a fighter and a patriot. To him all America owes a debt which can never be repaid. To him the newsprint industry most of all, acknowledges its undying gratitude. Had it not been for his vision, his tenacity and his untiring energy, we would not be today celebrating this epochal result of his genius."

Then Dealey extolled the work of Dr. Herty.

"As for the late Dr. Charles Holmes Herty, most modest of men, whom we all knew and loved—he was closer than Garvan because he lived and moved among us for so many years. A tireless devotion to many worthy causes marked the entire period of his long and useful life. No man had greater faith in the ultimate destiny of the south than Charles Holmes Herty. He believed that eventually the common yellow pine of the south would become the farmer's salvation. He almost lived to see the fruition of his dreams.

THIRD TERM TALK AGAIN IS HEARD

ing to say about 1940 candidates. Privately, the Democratic national chairman unquestionably pictured the consensus of state leaders he contacted as being that Mr. Roosevelt's active support, the 1940 honor would be of little value to any other Democrat.

Political observers noted with special interest that Governor Lloyd C. Stark of Missouri was among the state party chieftains who talked with Farley. There has been a notable increase in attention being given Stark as a possible important contender for a place on the 1940 Democratic ticket since his clash with Tom Pendergast, Kansas City Democratic boss, had as its denouement a jail sentence for the latter on a plea of guilty of violation of federal income tax laws.

Stark men from Missouri say President Roosevelt has indicated a favorable attitude toward the Missouri governor for a place on the national ticket next year. They are busy selling Stark in party councils as a man on whom pro and anti New Deal Democrats could compromise.

There is a disposition in some quarters to rate Governor Stark as a vice-presidential possibility if Mr. Roosevelt should seek and obtain a third nomination. An uncertain factor is the often discussed but never admitted hope of Senator Bennett Clark of Missouri for consideration in next year's party presidential ticket making. The two Missourians are friends of long standing, however, and friends of both are quoted as seeing no prospect of a breach between them over which is to be the state's favored son in 1940.

Belief that Farley brought back for the president and for other Democratic leaders in Washington a reflection of opinion among state leaders that Mr. Roosevelt would have little difficulty obtaining a third nomination was heightened by what Farley said publicly several times to party audiences on his trip. He insisted in Arizona and elsewhere that there was small profit in discussing any other 1940 candidacy until the president makes known his intentions.

Whatever those intentions are, the new upsurge of third term talk armed President Roosevelt with added leadership leverage in congress as the session draws toward a close. Observers saw some reflection of that in indication of a party harmony program on the tax revision issue. They also sensed among some party waverers in congress an increasing desire to avoid getting out far enough on any anti-administration limb not to be able to climb back into a Roosevelt band wagon next year—if it actually starts to roll toward a third nomination.

SENATE APPROVES RAIL COURT BILL

WASHINGTON, May 27—(AP)—The senate cleared its decks today of another piece of major railroad relief legislation, approving and sending to the house a bill to set up a special five-judge federal court to expedite the handling of bankruptcy and receivership cases.

The measure was passed on a voice vote that left the opposition unrecorded, but a group led by Senator Clark, Democrat, Missouri, fought against passage until the last.

The Missourian, contending that establishing the new court might have "disastrous and disgraceful results," told his colleagues that Thomas D Corcoran, youthful president adviser, would select the judges. The measure provides for their appointment by the president.

The senate's action left only one of a series of administration-sponsored railroad bills still on its calendar. It it a house-approved measure which would permit carriers in temporary financial difficulties to obtain voluntary agreements from stockholders for postponement of maturity dates on obligations.

CONTRACT GIVEN FOR LABORATORY

WASHINGTON, May 27—(AP)—The agriculture department today awarded an $843,000 contract to the A. J. Rife Construction company of Dallas, Tex., for construction of its southern regional research laboratory at New Orleans, La.

The construction company must complete within 400 calendar days the entire administration unit and chemical wing of the laboratory. Work must start within 10 days after the company has been formally notified of the contract award.

LIGHTNING SHOCKS BATON ROUGE MAN

BATON ROUGE, La., May 27—(AP)—Morris Cunningham, 39, of Port Allen, was struck by lightning today during thundershowers which flooded numerous buildings.

Cunningham, representative of the local utility company at Port Allen, across the Mississippi river from here, had repaired a light wire and returned to his truck when the bolt struck him. He was knocked unconscious, but his condition was called not serious at a hospital tonight. He was not burned.

Hundreds of automobiles were stalled, utility services failed and downtown streets were flooded with water during the [illegible]-minute storm. Eight tenths of an inch of rain fell.

while bore fruit today when the men going down 240 feet to the Squalus breathed it for the first time under life-and-death salvage conditions.

The navy said numerous divers using the new mixture had reached experimental depths approximating 200 feet and that two divers had exceeded 300 feet in the ocean near Portsmouth last summer.

The new helium combination permitted the divers to remain under the sea longer because, officials said, it was not so readily absorbed into the blood stream as is air under such heavy pressure.

Under the plan drafted here and approved in Washington, the Squalus will be raised in stages, first one end and then the other, through a delicate balance between the lifting power of air pumped into the sunken craft and the buoyancy of huge pentoons which first would be sunk 130 feet below the surface.

CHANGE SHOWN IN SENTIMENT

Some leaders continued to express skepticism. They saw a wide divergence between the president's economic views expressed in his address before the American Retail federation Monday and his reported assent later in the week to a tax revision program desired by "big business."

Wall Streeters do not regard the Morgenthau-Hanes tax revision program as a tax panacea by any means. They do not expect it to reduce taxes or expenses. They do, however, hope that it will tempt into the common stock financing market large sums of potential equity money now lying idle in bank accounts.

Chiefly by allowing losses to be balanced in with profits, it would make "risky" investment for wealthy men more attractive than it is today.

Estimates as to how much money might thus be brought in vary greatly, generally running between $2,000,000,000 and $5,000,000,000 in the next couple of years. Some think the long delay in obtaining a "blessing" for the program, which was originally conceived in terms designed not to conflict with administration economic policies, has tended to diminish the incentive to invest when such a program is adopted.

They also point out that the original plan called for concurrent moderate amendment of securities and exchange commission procedure, so that very wealthy men, or groups of wealthy men, could put large sums of money in the equity market without having their position made known.

While former SEC Chairman Douglas' acid rejection of first proposals to amend SEC regulations offered by the securities exchanges technically left the door open to more moderate suggestions, some Wall Streeters said there is little likelihood of the New York stock exchange "sticking its neck out again" in the near future.

To the layman, all this may seem more or less like an attempt to "fix things up" for big speculators. However, a number of industrial leaders have said repeatedly that when the equity market "opens up again" they will launch new common stock issues for the purpose of increasing plant—which would presumably create new jobs and stimulate heavy industry.

Again, six days after Germany absorbed Bohemia and Moravia, Russia sought British aid by suggesting an immediate conference to halt Nazi-Fascist expansion. Britain called the suggestion "premature."

Then British foreign policy took an abrupt turn, and Maisky became a key figure in the realignment of Europe's great powers.

Since the disappearance of the Czecho-Slovak republic, Britain has promised to fight for Poland, Rumania, Greece and Turkey and all the genius of British diplomacy has been directed toward getting the support of Soviet Russia.

But Ivan Maisky has been suspicious.

In diplomatic quarters it is said he remembers too well the series of rebuffs—the long fights in the Locarno room against Britain's "hands-off-Spain" policy, the polite rejections of Russia's attempts to enlist Britain's help, Chamberlain's incautious reference to Russia as that "half-oriental power."

Now an agreement finally is in sight, virtually on Russia's terms.

Moscow has new British proposals, designed to meet the main Russian objections to earlier terms suggested by London for Russia's addition to the British-French front, coupled with an invitation to War Commissar Marshal Klementi E. Voroshiloff to attend British army maneuvers this fall.

The new proposals, said to bear Polish and Rumanian approval, were understood to provide:

The joining of Britain, France and Russia immediately in common defense in event any of them should be a victim of European aggression. An attack on Russia in the far east would be excluded.

Cooperation of all three if any one of them were involved in war while fulfilling assurances to other European states—thus covering British and French guarantees to Poland and Rumania and possible Russian guarantees to her Baltic neighbors.

Consultation on common action in event of acts or threats of aggression.

A declaration that the agreement is defensive only and embodies the principles of the League of Nations covenant although mutual assistance would not be withheld pending a league verdict.

Meanwhile, Nazi officials who lavished entertainment upon the Italian delegation at last week's signing of the German-Italian military accord made ready to shower similar attention on Yugoslavia's regent, Prince Paul, who arrives in Berlin Thursday.

The Nazis also prepared a royal welcome for Spaniards en route to Germany with German legionnaires returning from service with the nationalists in Spain's civil war. Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, No. 2 Nazi, himself was delegated to extend the official glad hand.

For the moment Adolf Hitler appeared to be letting his quarrel with Poland over Danzig and the Polish corridor rest until the time is ripe to act. The Nazi technique reminded foreign observers of developments during the 1938 Czecho-Slovak crisis.

At Geneva the League of Nations sidestepped a dispute over Finnish-Swedish plans to re-fortify the Aaland islands in the Baltic sea by adjourning its 105th session without taking a stand.

Russia objected to the plans because the islands lie athwart her outlet to the Baltic sea and she won her point in having a decision of the thorny issue deferred until the September council session.

In the meantime Finland and Sweden were expected to negotiate directly with Moscow in an attempt to remove her objections.

As today's brief court drama was enacted, Governor Lloyd C. Stark, who fired O'Malley and has waged a bitter Democratic intra-party war on Pendergast, took steps intended to recover for the policyholders the 80 per cent of the impounded $9,500,000 awarded to the companies.

He asked Ray B. Lucas, state superintendent of insurance, to seek a contempt citation against Pendergast, O'Malley "and others" for the "admitted fraud."

"You will also take any and all other actions necessary to bring about a prompt return to the Missouri insurance policyholders of the approximately $8,000,000 taken from them by fraud and bribery or other improper methods," Stark requested.

After he fired O'Malley he succeeded in getting a parallel state court case, settled under the same conditions as the federally aproved "80-20" compromise, thrown out in favor of a 100 per cent return to the policyholders.

O'Malley, 65, was born in Leavenworth, Pendergast, 66, was born in nearby St. Joseph, Mo.

Henry Dillingham, United States marshal, was asked if Pendergast and O'Malley would go to Leavenworth together.

"They went down together," he said. "Maybe they'll go up together."

Charles H. Herty and Francis P. Garvan.

The late Dr. Herty worked out the formula for making newsprint of yellow pine at his Savannah, Ga., laboratory and the late Dr. Garvan lent his aid as head of the chemical foundation.

Neither lived to see their work bear fruit, but when they died a short time ago their efforts had resulted in starting the project which is a month ahead of the construction schedule.

G. B. Dealey, publisher of the Dallas News, one of Texas' oldest institutions, delivered the dedication addresses and praised the memory of the two scientists. The widow of Dr. Garvan and his son and daughter of New York, were here to witness the unveiling of a plaque to the memory of Dr. Herty and Dr. Garvan.

The plaque was made by Miss Allie Virginia Tennant of Dallas, who unveiled it before the 200 publishers.

"From this lone mill a new industry will grow and expand until it covers the entire southland," Dealey said.

"We are making history today. We should rejoice in that. We are making the right kind of history—not history that has as its backbone war, death and destruction, but history that is bringing warmth and joy to human fireside, a fighting chance to many whom formerly opportunity passed by with averted face, a chance for honest toil and wet foreheads to those descendants of our pioneers who ask only the chance to bend their backs in worthy endeavor.

"We stand here in reverential spirit. Our gathering together marks the end of a long trail of disappointments and discouragements, of labor and travail. But we do not regret those years when all efforts to send these walls upward seemed destined to fail. The very darkness of the past makes brighter the joy of fulfillment. Nothing worthwhile is ever achieved without toil and trouble; nothing is adequately appreciated if it is too easily won."

Eulogizing Dr. Garvan, Dealey said: "He was a fighter and a patriot. To him all America owes a debt which can never be repaid. To him the newsprint industry most of all, acknowledges its undying gratitude. Had it not been for his vision, his tenacity and his untiring energy, we would not be today celebrating this epochal result of his genius."

Then Dealey extolled the work of Dr. Herty.

"As for the late Dr. Charles Holmes Herty, most modest of men, whom we all knew and loved—he was closer than Garvan because he lived and moved among us for so many years. A tireless devotion to many worthy causes marked the entire period of his long and useful life. No man had greater faith in the ultimate destiny of the south than Charles Holmes Herty. He believed that eventually the common yellow pine of the south would become the farmer's salvation. He almost lived to see the fruition of his dreams.

THIRD TERM TALK AGAIN IS HEARD

ing to say about 1940 candidates. Privately, the Democratic national chairman unquestionably pictured the consensus of state leaders he contacted as being that Mr. Roosevelt's active support, the 1940 honor would be of little value to any other Democrat.

Political observers noted with special interest that Governor Lloyd C. Stark of Missouri was among the state party chieftains who talked with Farley. There has been a notable increase in attention being given Stark as a possible important contender for a place on the 1940 Democratic ticket since his clash with Tom Pendergast, Kansas City Democratic boss, had as its denouement a jail sentence for the latter on a plea of guilty of violation of federal income tax laws.

Stark men from Missouri say President Roosevelt has indicated a favorable attitude toward the Missouri governor for a place on the national ticket next year. They are busy selling Stark in party councils as a man on whom pro and anti New Deal Democrats could compromise.

There is a disposition in some quarters to rate Governor Stark as a vice-presidential possibility if Mr. Roosevelt should seek and obtain a third nomination. An uncertain factor is the often discussed but never admitted hope of Senator Bennett Clark of Missouri for consideration in next year's party presidential ticket making. The two Missourians are friends of long standing, however, and friends of both are quoted as seeing no prospect of a breach between them over which is to be the state's favored son in 1940.

Belief that Farley brought back for the president and for other Democratic leaders in Washington a reflection of opinion among state leaders that Mr. Roosevelt would have little difficulty obtaining a third nomination was heightened by what Farley said publicly several times to party audiences on his trip. He insisted in Arizona and elsewhere that there was small profit in discussing any other 1940 candidacy until the president makes known his intentions.

Whatever those intentions are, the new upsurge of third term talk armed President Roosevelt with added leadership leverage in congress as the session draws toward a close. Observers saw some reflection of that in indication of a party harmony program on the tax revision issue. They also sensed among some party waverers in congress an increasing desire to avoid getting out far enough on any anti-administration limb not to be able to climb back into a Roosevelt band wagon next year—if it actually starts to roll toward a third nomination.

SENATE APPROVES RAIL COURT BILL

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—The senate cleared its decks today of another piece of major railroad relief legislation, approving and sending to the house a bill to set up a special five-judge federal court to expedite the handling of bankruptcy and receivership cases.

The measure was passed on a voice vote that left the opposition unrecorded, but a group led by Senator Clark, Democrat, Missouri, fought against passage until the last.

The Missourian, contending that establishing the new court might have "disastrous and disgraceful results," told his colleagues that Thomas D. Corcoran, youthful president adviser, would select the judges. The measure provides for their appointment by the president.

The senate's action left only one of a series of administration-sponsored railroad bills still on its calendar. It it a house-approved measure which would permit carriers in temporary financial difficulties to obtain voluntary agreements from stockholders for postponement of maturity dates on obligations.

ARMS PROPOSAL OFFERED BY HULL

Suggests Prohibiting American Ships From Entering Combat Areas

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—Secretary Hull, asking first of all for repeal of the present law's provision for an embargo on shipment of arms to belligerents, submitted to congress tonight an administration program for revision of the neutrality act.

In letters to the chairman of the senate and house foreign relations committees, Mr. Hull outlined a six-point proposal for legislation which he said would "help to keep this country out of war."

He suggested enactment or re-enactment of these provisions:

1. "To prohibit American ships irrespective of what they may be carrying from entering combat areas.

2. "To restrict travel by American citizens in combat areas.

3. "To provide that the export of goods destined for belligerents shall be preceded by transfer of title to the foreign purchaser.

4. "To continue the existing legislation respecting loans and credits to nations at war.

5. "To regulate the solicitation and collection in this country of funds for belligerents.

6. "To continue the national munitions control board and the system of arms export and import licenses."

Provisions along these lines, the secretary of state wrote Chairman Pittman, Democrat, Nevada, of the senate committee and Acting Chairman Bloom, Democrat, New York, of the house group, would make easier our twofold task of keeping this country at peace and avoiding imposition of unnecessary and abnormal burdens upon our citizens."

Stamped with administration endorsement, the proposals were submitted after a series of recent conferences with Hull by the Democratic members of the committees. They were understood to have Mr. Roosevelt's approval.

Concurrent with Hull's statement, Bloom disclosed that his committee has a draft of a bill embodying the secretary's ideas on the subject and would give it early consideration.

"We will start hearings next Wednesday or Thursday," he said.

Under the present neutrality law the president must declare an embargo against shipment of arms to belligerents as soon as he recognizes that a state of war exists.

Congressional advocates of repealing this section have argued that it would be [illegible] for the United States in event of war in Europe to deny Great Britain and France freedom to buy arms here to defend themselves against heavily armed Germany and Italy.

Hull suggested that there was no sound basis for differentiating between arms and raw materials necessary to a country engaged in war.

"A nation at war," he said, "is no less anxious to keep cotton or petroleum, or [illegible] useful product from reaching an enemy nation than it is to keep guns and airplanes from reaching the enemy's armed forces.

"I doubt whether we can help ourselves to keep out of war by an attempt on our part to distinguish between categories of exports. Yet a complete embargo upon all exports would obviously be ruinous to our economic life.

"It therefore seems clear that we should have no general and automatic embargo inflexibly and rigidly imposed on any class or group of exports."

President Roosevelt, Hull noted, observed when signing the 1935 neutrality act, that the arms embargo provisions required "further and more complete consideration."

The president said then that "the inflexible provisions might drag us into war instead of keeping us out."

Mr. Roosevelt likewise criticized the neutrality act in his annual message to congress last January. He has refrained from a formal finding that China and Japan are at war, thus avoiding imposition of a ban on arms shipments to either nation.

QUEEN OF MALIBU IN BANKRUPTCY

Fails In Efforts To Defend Vast Estate With Guns And Law

LOS ANGELES, May 27.—(AP)—The empire of the "Queen of Malibu," indomitable, almost fabulous ruler of approximately 24,000 California acres, has crumbled in ruins at her feet.

The woman, tall, erect, gray-haired Mrs. Mary K. Rindge, who unsuccessfully defended her vast estate with firearms, law books and a fortune, only to be plunged into bankruptcy, suffered the final blow a few days ago.

"If we have any further trouble from you, you can expect to be sent to the county jail or fined for contempt of court," warned Superior Judge Ruben Schmidt after sheriff's deputies reported three years were required to serve the elusive Mrs. Rindge with a bench warrant for a court appearance to explained her refusal to pay a $4,680 judgment.

The 74-year-old woman had known what it was to be a virtual law unto herself, had headed her own private "army" of Mexican fence riders, keeping out all trespassers and blocking attempts to build highways.

The recent order of Federal Judge Leon Yankwich which called for dissolution in a bankruptcy reorganization of the "forbidden empire of the Malibu," meant defeat of Mrs. Rindge's vow to make the dream of her long dead husband, Fred H. Rindge, Sr., come true.

Rindge, a native of Marblehead, Mass., bought the extensive rancho—originally it was a Spanish land grant—in 1895. It extends 30 miles along the coast from the Los Angeles-Ventura county line southward and eastward.

Rindge saw in its vast acres the site for a watering place which would make the French Riviera and the famous resorts of Europe seem poor by comparison.

He died in 1905.

Today, wide highways cross the once "forbidden empire." Parts of it have been subdivided. But the estate's own private railroad, two now rusty streaks interrupted by broken and decayed trestles, serve to remind one of the empire that was.

Objects To Being Left At Home With Children When Mother Goes To Town

BARBOURVILLE, Ky., May 27.—(AP)—The bullet-marked bodies of 10-year-old Elsie Higgins and her brother, Joe, 4, were returned by an undertaker tonight to their parents' four-room mountain farm home.

Neighbors gathered to view the bodies, placed side by side in identical caskets, and then pondered the motive that drove Elsie to kill her brother and then fire two shots into her own breast. Coroner Clarence Mitchell returned a verdict of murder and suicide.

In a Barbourville hospital, before she died last night, Elsie rallied from her wounds, Sheriff R. C. Partin said, and told nurses:

"I told mother if she went to town and didn't take me with her I'd kill the other kids and burn down the house."

Partin said the girl had made a similar statement earlier to her mother, Mrs. Will Higgins.

"Elsie often told us that," the sheriff quoted the girl's mother as saying, "but we never took her seriously. I thought it was just a childish whim."

She said Elsie objected to being left at home to care for the other children—David, 8, Will, Jr., 3, and Joe.

Sheriff Partin reconstructed the tragedy this way:

Elsie renewed her threats when her mother told her she was coming to Barbourville yesterday. After Mrs. Higgins left, she seized a revolver and fired one shot at Joe, while he lay on a bed. She shot him again and then backed into a corner of the room and fired two shots into her body.

David said he witnessed the shooting and fled, seeking aid. The fourth child was not at home.

The girl was described by neighbors as of "normal mentality" and records of a nearby country school, where she was a pupil in the fourth grade, showed her marks were average.

Her father, an employe of a coal mine 50 miles distant, lived most of each week in the mining camp.

ARMS PROPOSAL OFFERED BY HULL

Suggests Prohibiting American Ships From Entering Combat Areas

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—Secretary Hull, asking first of all for repeal of the present law's provision for an embargo on shipment of arms to belligerents, submitted to congress tonight an administration program for revision of the neutrality act.

In letters to the chairman of the senate and house foreign relations committees, Mr. Hull outlined a six-point proposal for legislation which he said would "help to keep this country out of war."

He suggested enactment or re-enactment of these provisions:

1. "To prohibit American ships irrespective of what they may be carrying from entering combat areas.
2. "To restrict travel by American citizens in combat areas.
3. "To provide that the export of goods destined for belligerents shall be preceded by transfer of title to the foreign purchaser.
4. "To continue the existing legislation respecting loans and credits to nations at war.
5. "To regulate the solicitation and collection in this country of funds for belligerents.
6. "To continue the national munitions control board and the system of arms export and import licenses."

Provisions along these lines, the secretary of state wrote Chairman Pittman, Democrat, Nevada, of the senate committee and Acting Chairman Bloom, Democrat, New York, of the house group, "would make easier our two-fold task of keeping this country at peace and avoiding imposition of unnecessary and abnormal burdens upon our citizens."

Stamped with administration endorsement, the proposals were submitted after a series of recent conferences with Hull by the Democratic members of the committees. They were understood to have Mr. Roosevelt's approval.

Coincident with Hull's statement Bloom disclosed that his committee has a draft of a bill embodying the secretary's ideas on the subject and would give it early consideration.

"We will start hearings next Wednesday or Thursday," he said.

Under the present neutrality law, the president must declare an embargo against shipment of arms to belligerents as soon as he recognizes that a state of war exists.

Congressional advocates of repealing this section have argued that it would be "unneutral" for the United States, in event of war in Europe, to deny Great Britain and France freedom to buy arms here to defend themselves against heavily-armed Germany and Italy.

Hull suggested that there was no sound basis for differentiating between arms and raw materials necessary to a country engaged in war.

"A nation at war," he said, "is no less anxious to keep cotton or petroleum, or, indeed, any useful product, from reaching an enemy nation than it is to keep guns and airplanes from reaching the enemy's armed forces.

"I doubt whether we can help ourselves to keep out of war by an attempt on our part to distinguish between categories of exports. Yet a complete embargo upon all exports would obviously be ruinous to our economic life.

"It therefore seems clear that we should have no general and automatic embargo inflexibly and rigidly imposed on any class or group of exports."

President Roosevelt, Hull noted, observed when signing the 1935 neutrality act, that the arms embargo provisions required "further and more complete consideration."

The president said then that "the inflexible provisions might drag us into war instead of keeping us out."

Mr. Roosevelt likewise criticized the neutrality act in his annual message to congress last January. He has refrained from a formal finding that China and Japan are at war, thus avoiding imposition of a ban on arms shipments to either nation.

L. S. U. GRADUATION EXERCISES MONDAY

BATON ROUGE, May 26.—(AP)—Louisiana State university's 1939 commencement ceremonies will begin at 7 o'clock tomorrow evening when Dr. John Richard Sampey of Louisville, Ky., president of the Southern Baptist Theological seminary, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon.

Attorney General Frank Murphy will deliver the commencement address to the approximately 1,100 members of the graduating class Monday night. Both programs will be held in the university stadium to provide adequate seating capacity.

The annual meeting of the board of supervisors will be held Monday in the offices of Dr. James M. Smith, president of the university. This will be followed by a dinner given in honor of the United States attorney general.

Social events of the annual commencement season are three dances, the sophomore jamboree held last night, the junior prom held tonight and the senior ball to be held Monday night following the ceremonies. President Smith will entertain the members of the senior class at a breakfast Tuesday morning.

QUEEN OF MALIBU IN BANKRUPTCY

Fails In Efforts To Defend Vast Estate With Guns And Law

LOS ANGELES, May 27.—(AP)—The empire of the "Queen of Malibu," indomitable, almost fabulous ruler of approximately 24,000 California acres, has crumbled in ruins at her feet.

The woman—tall, erect, gray-haired Mrs. Mary K. Rindge—who unsuccessfully defended her vast estate with firearms, law books and a fortune, only to be plunged into bankruptcy, suffered the final blow a few days ago.

"If we have any further trouble from you, you can expect to be sent to the county jail or fined for contempt of court," warned Superior Judge Ruben Schmidt after sheriff's deputies reported three years were required to serve the elusive Mrs. Rindge with a bench warrant for a court appearance to explained her refusal to pay a $4,680 judgment.

The 74-year-old woman had known what it was to be a virtual law unto herself—had headed her own private "army" of Mexican fence riders, keeping out all trespassers and blocking attempts to build highways.

The recent order of Federal Judge Leon Yankwich, which called for dissolution in a bankruptcy reorganization of the "forbidden empire of the Malibu," meant defeat of Mrs. Rindge's vow to make the dream of her long dead husband, Fred H. Rindge, Sr., come true.

Rindge, a native of Marblehead, Mass., bought the extensive rancho—originally it was a Spanish land grant—in 1890. It extends 30 miles along the coast from the Los Angeles-Ventura county line southward and eastward.

Rindge saw in its vast acres the site for a watering place which would make the French Riviera and the famous resorts of Europe seem poor by comparison.

He died in 1905.

Today, wide highways cross the once "forbidden empire." Parts of it have been subdivided. But the estate's own private railroad—two now rusty streaks interrupted by broken and decayed trestles—serve to remind one of the empire that was.

Thirty-Three Saved

The nation will extend sympathy to those relatives and friends of the men who lost their lives in the submarine Squalus. The tragedy is brought closer home to us because the commander of the submarine was a Louisiana man.

However, in its sorrow that 26 brave men had to give their lives the nation will feel inexpressible pride that the United States navy was able to save the 33 men who remained alive after the submarine encountered disaster. The rescue, under the able direction of Admiral C. W. Cole, was a feat that tested the skill, endurance and valor of the navy's forces. Never before had men emerged alive from such a depth.

The sinking of the Squalus demonstrates once again the limitations of human ingenuity when there is involved the necessity of contending against the inexorable forces of nature.

Since 1904 over twenty submarines have gone down and each new tragedy has stimulated the efforts of naval engineers and architects to devise means of increasing the element of safety in connection with their normal peacetime operations.

Many ingenious devices and appliances have been produced, including escape compartments, telescoping rescue tubes and other contrivances designed to improve the chances of survival and also facilitate the raising of a sunken vessel. It is probable that life has been safeguarded through these improvements but the submarine, by reason of its very character, and the wartime tasks it is intended to perform, will always be attended by more than ordinary dangers.

It follows necessarily that the men who go down to the depth of the sea in submarines must possess a high order of courage and must be prepared to face death heroically. Unfailingly, they are men of this type.

Less than three months in service, the Squalus was believed to be the last word in undersea craft. And yet in a routine maneuver she comes to grief as so many of her more poorly-equipped 'predecessors already have done. What of the lessons learned from the S-4 disaster? Of what use the major safety contrivances when such an intrinsically trivial thing as a valve fails to function?

The discouraging thing is that the disaster could happen at all.

FAIR EXCHANGE

As invigorating as will be the cups of breakfast cheer in prospect for Italy comes the word from there that a sporting club is willing to trade one of its football stars to Brazil for some bags of coffee beans.

It appears Italy is short on coffee and long on a particular football player; while Brazil is long on coffee and short on soccer heroes. Recently the Italian government announced coffee would be scarce from now on because nations raising it wanted cash, but refused ordinary barter terms.

What could be a happier thought, and one more conducive to peace, than making this trade?

The football player desired by Brazil is a Uruguayan, by name Figliola, under contract with a club in Genoa. Pedro Noaves, president of the Vasco Da Gama Football club of Rio de Janeiro, made application for Figliola's release to play in South America. Back came the answer, in effect:

"One football player for a certain number of bags of coffee."

The deal is under consideration and one can not but hope it will go through. It may open the door for similar trades in other sporting fields. Until it is settled how many bags of coffee Figliola rates, it will be impossible, for instance, to settle how many tons of cotton would be demanded for a tennis star. Or how many lobsters Maine might give for New Jersey's Tony Galento.

CALL FOR GENGHIS

The Japanese, it is reported, are hatching a plan to seize the remains of Genghis Khan, which have lain for seven centuries in a silver casket at Etsinhoro, Suiyuan, and place them within their own conquered territory in China. The idea would be to win the allegiance of Mongol descendants of followers of the Great Khan who carried his conquests across Asia and half-way across Europe in the 13th century.

Well, it's not a bad idea. But it could be carried still farther. Why not seize the bones of the most ruthless and unscrupulous of all conquerors and carry them instead to Europe? Then the peaceful country of Switzerland could be overrun, the inhabitants bombed and butchered, and the bones of Genghis Khan enshrined atop the tallest Alp, in the midst of a desert.

That would be setting up an appropriate idol in the very midst of Europe which should inspire the armament race in all countries during the next 20 years until Genghis Khan's ideals are finally completely triumphant and civilization returns to the point where he dominated so much of it, back in the 13th century.

• BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—It is a queer mixture of fantasy and fact that the Dies committee is unearthing these days.

If it shows how anyone at all can set up shop as a dealer in scare-stories about the "Communist revolution," and can drive a flourishing business in wild and woolly propaganda, it also shows that he can find a market for his wares.

And if this material about the "Jewish plot" is childish, put out through transparent subterfuges, there is the sobering thought that if a Fascist-type of uprising ever does occur in this nation it will happen along just the lines that the committee has been uncovering.

The formula is simple. As the Dies committee has exposed it, it goes like this:

First Sell 'Ism' Threat

First sell people on the idea that the Communists (plus the Jews) are getting ready to seize the government. Persuade them that if something isn't done an alien "ism" will dominate the nation. Keep feeding them a steady stream of propaganda to convince them that these horrid radicals are either just about to strike or have made such headway that the fruit will fall in their lap without much further effort.

Then bring together a group of patriots who are willing to "uphold the constitution" by taking up arms to crush this alien menace. Emphasize that it takes force to meet force.

Stress the fact that you have only the loftiest and most patriotic of motives.

And then watch your time and wait for some storm cloud that will enable you to strike.

That, roughly, is the program as the congressional investigators drew it out of Dudley P. Gilbert and James Erwin Campbell.

Gilbert and Campbell never got a great way with their scheme, to be sure. Gilbert admitted that Campbell and his mailing list of "40 influential people" were all that was left of Gilbert's original grandiose idea for a nation-wide organization of 3,000,000 "American nationalists."

He said efforts to raise money for the venture had not been very successful, and ruefully confessed that they hadn't tried to collect initiation fees from the prospective 3,000,000—adding that if they had, things might have gone easier. He himself, he said, had put up the four or five thousand dollars spent on the venture to date; or, more exactly, his wife had, he himself not being in funds of late.

Frighten Public To Action

The idea of sending out all the scare stories about the leftist plot, said Gilbert, was to prepare people for the trouble. No, he didn't favor a private army; what he had in mind was getting people in the frame of mind so that they would "offer manpower" to the police, the army, and so on when the red uprising took place.

Much the same sort of idea was in Campbell's mind, as revealed in his testimony. The United States army, he felt, would be the ultimate salvation of the government. It would have to act when the reds went a little farther, and would probably have to seize power in the different states, turning things back to the civil authorities only when the last vestiges of radicalism had been stamped out.

All of this boils down to little enough. John Hamilton told the committee that he has a "nut file" for crank letters about subversive activities, and that Campbell's famous letter to him belonged in it. And the whole episode might well be added to it, except for one or two things.

Propaganda Still Dangerous

In the first place, the campaign of Gilbert, Campbell et al. did succeed in one thing: it planted some damaging anti-Semitic propaganda all around the country, and the echoes of that propaganda will still be going about long after this specific campaign has been forgotten.

For another thing, the whole crack-pot scheme did lay down a blueprint for revolt. There is an audience for this sort of stuff. If, some day, someone with genuine organizing ability, adequate financial backing and a trifle more inventiveness comes along, here is the way he will operate.

He will peddle his embryonic dictatorship as a means for preserving democracy, the constitution and American ideals generally . . . and although in this particular case little enough progress was made, there was just enough progress to make you shiver when you think of the potentialities.

JIMMIE FIDLER In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, May 27. — Among other mysteries beyond my understanding list the studio czars' apathy toward Dolores Del Rio. She should be the prize "property" on some lucky film factory's star roster; instead, she has made only one picture in two years.

More than a decade ago, when she skyrocketed to stardom as Charmaine in "What Price Glory?" her beauty was breathtaking. Today, at thirty-three, she is even more beautiful. By some magic formula of her own, she has gained the serenity, expression and poise that accompany maturity without making sacrifice to time. She has, moreover, gained a certain, indescribable magnetic quality that she lacked in her screen hey-dey. You would appreciate my meaning if you could see her in any social gathering. She is always quiet, reserved, dignified—and yet everyone there feels the force of her personality to such an extent that she, without making the slightest bid for the honor, is the center of everything. That kind of magnetism is the very essence of stardom.

To make Hollywood's neglect, in her case, still more insane, add the fact that every studio is bidding frantically for the goodwill of the Latin-American countries just now. Del Rio is still the screen star in Mexico and Central and South America—the one Hollywood personality with a large enough fan following to guarantee "big business" from Juarez to Buenos Aires. And she is the one Latin star available who can speak English perfectly.

List her assets and list Hollywood's needs—and I think you'll share my befuddlement.

Idol Chatter: If those scientific scoffers knew Martha Raye they wouldn't be so darned sure perpetual motion is impossible. Suicidal impulse: to applaud Eleanor Powell's dance numbers with an enthusiastic "Hips—Hips—Hooray!" Now that Errol Flynn and Joel McCrea have built the Union Pacific, how about giving Hugh Herbert a chance at the Toonerville Trolley? Positively touching, the masterly way Wayne Morris refers to his wife as "My Child Bride."

You can't call Bob Burns handsome—but his is a face that's launched a thousand quips. Peas in a pod: Marie Blake and Helen Troy. Best place to hunt star autographs this season will be Mexico City—all the stellar bodies who are anybodies are planning to be there. That constant noise you hear out this way is merely the assistant director—hollering for "Quiet on the set!"

Had lunch at Ruby Foo's and challenged Zelia Cowder, the famous Hollywood soothsayer, who's prognosticating there, to do her stuff. And—quick like a wink—she prophesied (1) that Joan Crawford will marry a wealthy South American soon and retire from the screen; (2) that July, August and September will see Hitler at the peak of his success and power; (3) that Dick Powell and Joan Blondell will break the Crosby record for stork visitations; (4) that Hedy Lamarr and Gene Markey will stay happily married but that Hedy will quit pictures, and (5) that important developments in television will be announced within five months by two Los Angeles inventors. Odd-Formation: Maybe I shouldn't tattle, but Leo Gorcey, toughest of those Dead-End brats, has taken up knitting. In amusing contrast to the unionization of all other studio workers is the complete failure of all attempts to "organize" Hollywood's Indian extras—the braves always refuse to patch up tribal feuds. That ring Irene Franklin wears so proudly once belonged to Empress Zita of Austria. According to official communiques from parents, 53 babies have been named in honor of Jeanette MacDonald. Casting incongruities: W. A. Beckley, playing a convict in "Each Dawn I Die," used to be a prison guard at the Minnesota penitentiary.

Ona Munson finds a chuckle in the flood of publicity put out by the David O. Selznick scribes after she had signed for the Belle Watling role in "Gone With the Wind." The stories credited Mr. Selznick with "discovering" her. "I was 'discovered' for musical comedy by Gus Edwards, 'discovered' for drama by Laura Hope Crews—both times with full benefit of publicity," Ona points out. "I undoubtedly am the most 'discovered' actress in all Hollywood. One of these days, perhaps, it will 'take.'"

Screen-debutante Alice Eden arrived a half-hour late on the "Career" set the other day and brushed aside Director Lee Jason's irate protests by explaining that she had detoured to follow a fire truck. "Mr. Jason," said she, very seriously, "I just can't help it. It sort of runs in our family to chase fires, I guess. We get it from grandpa. He was an hour late to his own wedding because he couldn't resist going to a fire!"

Human Side Of The News

By EDWIN C. HILL

(Copyright, 1939, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Most American work songs are now sung by people who never worked—that is, in the logging camps, railroad gangs, steamboats, windjammers, farms and red-iron pits where these songs were born. This catch-as-catch-can singer had assumed, mistakenly it would now appear, that work songs couldn't be geared to factories and conveyor belts and that, therefore, swing music, which nobody ever thought of associating with work, was becoming the national folk rhythm—for stepping out and never for work.

We are scored with an error. Here's swing being used for a work song and quite plausibly, you will agree, if you run off a few of the less hectic swing records. On the U. S. S. Northampton, as the sailors start loading 110-pound boxes of ammunition, the ship's orchestra is on the work deck, by order of the commander, piping up a swing tune. The rhythm paces the work, lessens fatigue, shades the danger of accident, with the precision of movement thus attained, and makes for better team work all around.

That has been the story of work songs from the chant of galley slaves on down the ages to the Volga boatman. Young swingsters turn up their noses at old songs, and no doubt will be shocked with the news that their liberated shag tunes, supposed to induce only double-jointed antics, are now being put to work.

Some swing music could be used as a work song only for scratching mosquito bites or fighting cops, but you'll be surprised how some of this music fits into the work rhythm. I don't know whether the sailors are using it, but 'Deep Purple' should be one of the best of these. Part of the efficacy of swing is the equivalent of understanding in literature. A slurred or omitted note somehow takes the listener into partnership, and impels him to do his stuff, perhaps ecstatically with a muscular reaction, and that might mean a strong heave-ho on the hawser.

If you will run off a batch of modern swing songs on the phonograph, I have an idea you will agree that the ones which have the longest and widest popular appeal are those which, both in sentiment and music, have not been wrenched too far out of the picture of our traditional regional, pioneer memory and work songs. 'Deep Purple' is definitely in that picture. Which suggests the perhaps trite observation that the clean break with the past is never so sharp and final as we think it is.

The achievements of Larry Clinton in bridging the gap between old and new music is a case in point. Mr. Clinton's most successful compositions have been adaptations of old tunes. One of the best of the current swing pieces is an adaptation of Tschaikowsky's "Romeo and Juliet." Maxine Sullivan can swing a bouquet of old songs, even "Lock Lomand" over into the modern garden of rhythm without losing a petal. "Bei Mir Bist du Schoen" may sound like a jitterbug inspiration, but it wells up from New York's lower East side from a deep well of ancient Jewish musical lore. As does "And the Angels Sing," another supposedly timely outgiving.

We've been looking over some swing songs. The basic ingredients, so far as the lyrics are concerned, haven't changed to the extent of even a small jigger of grenadine—you and I—moonlight—garden walls—mist of memories—the light in your eyes—breathe your name with a sigh. It's all there, dished in a different tempo; plaintive, amorous, pensive—the same "reaching for the stars," noted by one American singer as follows:

"Forever alive, forever forward they go, they go. I know not where they go, but I know that they go toward the best, toward something great."

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

There is just one word to say about rocking the baby. Don't. There is no reason under the sun for rocking him, and there are several good ones for not doing so.

Sleep is natural to the baby. He sleeps most of the time in the beginning, and as he grows older, shortens his sleeping hours. He lies quietly on his back and just closes his eyes and there he is asleep. That is the natural way for him to go to sleep. Why interfere with it?

Most babies enjoy being held in their mothers' arms. They enjoy being rocked there. The more they experience the delight of this sensation the more they want of it. At first a few rocks to and fro, a murmured song and the child sleeps. Very pleasant for mother and baby. But there is a catch in it.

Each time the baby is rocked he stays awake longer to enjoy it and falls asleep only when sleep overtakes him. By practice he becomes expert in dodging sleep and his mother is chained to him by the hour. No rocking, no sleep. Trying to undo this process is like picking grains of sand out of the sea. Why bring such a burden upon oneself?

There are few cradles and rockers handy these days, but there is the baby carriage. It has springs that bounce and sway, very good substitutes for the rockers on the cradles. When the baby has been fed his mother lays him in the carriage to sleep, usually in the open air. Fine. But she thinks, more often than not, that rocking the carriage will bring sleep sooner, so she rocks and bumps and swings the poor infant until his milk is forced out of his stomach and he returns it, a curdled mess.

"The poor child is sick. He can't keep his food in his stomach," says his anxious mother and hastens to call the doctor.

There is no need for this rocking. It does the child harm. It breeds bad habits, disturbs the child's digestion and makes sleep a matter of ritual, elaborated and annoying for the mother. Sleep should come as naturally, as easily, as breathing to the little child, and it will, if he is not trained to have it otherwise.

Some children drop the afternoon nap sooner than others. They refuse to sleep in the afternoon without a battle. I think that a nap is not worth a battle. If the child does not go to sleep until he is worn out with tears and sobs and fights, he does not need the nap. He needs to go to bed for the night early, on time without any talk about it, and certainly without rocking. He won't need rocking. Making children sleep in the afternoon when they fight against it rarely pays, and when one considers the wear and tear on the mothers who rock, scold, sing, slap and shake the protesting wideawake children, it surely does not pay.

Most of our little children do not get tired enough in the day to feel the need of sleep. Give them plenty of hard exercise in the open air so that they are weary when night comes and they won't need rocking. Anyway, don't rock them.

During the hot weather especially, children's food must be temptingly offered, as well as balanced. Send for Angelo Patri's booklet, "Eating," enclosing ten cents in coin. Address Angelo Patri, care Monroe Morning World, P. O. Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y.

X-RAY HELPS MANY CASES OF SINUS INFECTION

I have spoken before of the successful treatment of the catarrhal form of deafness described by Dr. F. W. O'Brien, Boston, in Radiology. The treatment of other forms of deafness by this method is not as yet reported.

That a disturbance of another portion of the nose, throat and ear combination, the sinuses, can be corrected by X-ray treatment is reported by Drs. Frank E. Butler and Ivan M. Woolley, University of Oregon, in Radiology. They observed the effects of X-rays in chronic sinus disease and have studied the results in experimental animals and over 1000 treatments.

The effect of the X-rays is to stimulate the usual reaction to infection and hasten repair. The patient usually notices an increase of his symptoms beginning a few days after the X-ray treatment and lasting for three or four days.

Best results have been obtained in patients who have had symptoms of chronic infection for months or years and whose X-ray films showed a thickened lining of the sinus, thus decreasing the air space. These patients usually respond to a single treatment and [illegible] in six or eight weeks with clear sinuses, no discharge, and no other symptoms due to sinus disturbance.

The effect upon the other symptoms so common in sinus infection—headache, nerve pains (neuritis), bronchitis—which have been traced to this sinus infection have, in almost every instance, cleared up even though the sinus condition itself was not entirely corrected.

Drs. Butler and Woolley report that the greatest number of failures occurred in patients who failed to gain relief following surgical operations on nose and sinuses. Large masses of scar tissue due to surgery prevented the X-rays being effective. Efforts to relieve the dry form of catarrh, which is one cause of bad breath, were likewise a failure.

Although it is true that other X-ray physicians have not obtained such good results in treating sinus infection, nevertheless before surgery is used, it would be well to remember that 'when skillfully applied, X-ray does no harm and causes no serious reactions and there is no loss of time for the patient.'

Even if X-ray fails to cure the condition, it in no way interferes with any surgical operation should it become desirable.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By Preston Grover

WASHINGTON—In congress there is something akin to a tax revolt, led by most of the senate finance committee and a part of the house ways and means committee, the two congressional tax committees.

There is little tax accord between President Roosevelt and the two revenue committees. Hints of it bob up in unguarded statements and off-the-record conferences. Treasury Secretary Morgenthau and his tax experts are reputedly sympathetic with desires of the senate committee and part of the house committee for tax revision to remove business deterrents.

At his press conference and at conferences with congressional tax people, President Roosevelt has indicated he is luke-cold to such revision.

Senator Harrison, chairman of the finance committee, has exchanged warm words with the president. That is not a secret.

Yet as it stands now, each is fairly well aware in what direction the other wishes to go. Within limits, each will have his way, as they are not headed in opposite directions.

Can't Be Put Aside

As observers on Capitol hill view it, the president would be happy to see taxation forgotten this session, believing that once the taxation question is opened the groups eager to remove business deterrents will go farther than he wishes.

But taxes cannot be forgotten. A host of small taxes expire June 30. Several important corporation taxes expire December 31. Tax legislation must start in the house, but because these taxes are expiring, the house committee cannot escape opening the question, even though Representative Doughton, ways and means chairman, sympathizes with the president's position.

For two years the senate and house committees, in conjunction with treasury tax experts, have been talking over tax revision. In the case of the senate committee and the treasury, the talk has been in harmony.

STAMP NEWS

By I. S. Klein

Atlantic Flying Begins After 20 Years' Trials

SYMBOL of a gallant, daring era is the new U. S. special Trans-Atlantic airmail stamp shown above, blue, slightly reduced. Twenty years after the first heavier-than-air flights across the Atlantic it is being used for official postage to inaugurate regular crossings between America and the old world. Thereby tags an epic story.

It is a story that begins in the twilight of a May evening in 1919, May 16 to be exact, when three powerful ships of the U. S. Navy rose from American waters to begin the first heavier-than-air flying of the Atlantic. They were headed for the Azores, 1200 miles distant, the same route followed by the pilots of Pan American Airways today. But fog and storm and disaster set in soon after the takeoff and only one ship, the NC-4, successfully completed the first leg. The others were forced down without loss of lives.

From the Azores the NC-4 took off again after a week's layover, and flew successfully to Lisbon, and from there later on to Plymouth, where the first flight officially ended amid high celebration, May 31, 1919.

So began Trans-Atlantic aviation, in an open cockpit, with comparatively crude instruments, but with great daring. And eight years later came unknown Charles Lindbergh to dramatize the possibilities of oceanic flying for all time. And after him came others, equally intrepid. Meantime, the great research laboratories of the nation were trained on the problem of aircraft development, safer flying, commercial operation. Now, 20 years after the first flight, regularly scheduled crossings from New York to Marseille, by way of the Azores and Lisbon, Portugal and return are underway. Aviation has soared to another conquest!

Thirty-Three Saved

The nation will extend sympathy to those relatives and friends of the men who lost their lives in the submarine Squalus. The tragedy is brought closer home to us because the commander of the submarine was a Louisiana man.

However, in its sorrow that 26 brave men had to give their lives the nation will feel inexpressible pride that the United States navy was able to save the 33 men who remained alive after the submarine encountered disaster. The rescue, under the able direction of Admiral C. W. Cole, was a feat that tested the skill, endurance and valor of the navy's forces. Never before had men emerged alive from such a depth.

The sinking of the Squalus demonstrates once again the limitations of human ingenuity when there is involved the necessity of contending against the inexorable forces of nature.

Since 1904 over twenty submarines have gone down and each new tragedy has stimulated the efforts of naval engineers and architects to devise means of increasing the element of safety in connection with their normal peacetime operations.

Many ingenious devices and appliances have been produced, including escape compartments, telescoping rescue tubes and other contrivances designed to improve the chances of survival and also facilitate the raising of a sunken vessel. It is probable that life has been safeguarded through these improvements but the submarine, by reason of its very character, and the wartime tasks it is intended to perform, will always be attended by more than ordinary dangers.

It follows necessarily that the men who go down to the depth of the sea in submarines must possess a high order of courage and must be prepared to face death heroically. Unfailingly, they are men of this type.

Less than three months in service, the Squalus was believed to be the last word in undersea craft. And yet in a routine maneuver she comes to grief as so many of her more poorly-equipped predecessors already have done. What of the lessons learned from the S-4 disaster? Of what use the major safety contrivances when such an intrinsically trivial thing as a valve fails to function?

The discouraging thing is that the disaster could happen at all.

FAIR EXCHANGE

As invigorating as will be the cups of breakfast cheer in prospect for Italy comes the word from there that a sporting club is willing to trade one of its football stars to Brazil for some bags of coffee beans.

It appears Italy is short on coffee and long on a particular football player; while Brazil is long on coffee and short on soccer heroes. Recently the Italian government announced coffee would be scarce from now on because nations raising it wanted cash, but refused ordinary barter terms.

What could be a happier thought, and one more conducive to peace, than making this trade?

The football player desired by Brazil is a Uruguayan, by name Figliola, under contract with a club in Genoa. Pedro Noaves, president of the Vasco Da Gama Football club of Rio de Janeiro, made application for Figliola's release to play in South America. Back came the answer, in effect:

"One football player for a certain number of bags of coffee."

The deal is under consideration and one can not but hope it will go through. It may open the door for similar trades in other sporting fields. Until it is settled how many bags of coffee Figliola rates, it will be impossible, for instance, to settle how many tons of cotton would be demanded for a tennis star. Or how many lobsters Maine might give for New Jersey's Tony Galento.

CALL FOR GENGHIS

The Japanese, it is reported, are hatching a plan to seize the remains of Genghis Khan, which have lain for seven centuries in a silver casket at Etsinhoro, Suiyuan, and place them within their own conquered territory in China. The idea would be to win the allegiance of Mongol descendants of followers of the Great Khan who carried his conquests across Asia and half-way across Europe in the 13th century.

Well, it's not a bad idea. But it could be carried still farther. Why not seize the bones of the most ruthless and unscrupulous of all conquerors and carry them instead to Europe? Then the peaceful country of Switzerland could be overrun, the inhabitants bombed and butchered, and the bones of Genghis Khan enshrined atop the tallest Alp, in the midst of a desert.

That would be setting up an appropriate idol in the very midst of Europe which should inspire the armament race in all countries during the next 20 years until Genghis Khan's ideals are finally completely triumphant and civilization returns to the point where he dominated so much of it, back in the 13th century.

• BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—It is a queer mixture of fantasy and fact that the Dies committee is unearthing these days.

If it shows how anyone at all can set up shop as a dealer in scare-stories about the "Communist revolution," and can drive a flourishing business in wild and woolly propaganda, it also shows that he can find a market for his wares.

And if this material about the "Jewish plot" is childish, put out through transparent subterfuges, there is the sobering thought that if a Fascist-type of uprising ever does occur in this nation it will happen along just the lines that the committee has been uncovering.

The formula is simple. As the Dies committee has exposed it, it goes like this:

First Sell 'Ism' Threat

First sell people on the idea that the Communists (plus the Jews) are getting ready to seize the government. Persuade them that if something isn't done an alien "ism" will dominate the nation. Keep feeding them a steady stream of propaganda to convince them that these horrid radicals are either just about to strike or have made such headway that the fruit will fall in their lap without much further effort.

Then bring together a group of patriots who are willing to "uphold the constitution" by taking up arms to crush this alien menace. Emphasize that it takes force to meet force.

Stress the fact that you have only the loftiest and most patriotic of motives.

And then watch your time and wait for some storm cloud that will enable you to strike.

That, roughly, is the program as the congressional investigators drew it out of Dudley P. Gilbert and James Erwin Campbell.

Gilbert and Campbell never got a great way with their scheme, to be sure. Gilbert admitted that Campbell and his mailing list of "40 influential people" were all that was left of Gilbert's original grandiose idea for a nation-wide organization of 3,000,000 "American nationalists."

He said efforts to raise money for the venture had not been very successful, and ruefully confessed that they hadn't tried to collect initiation fees from the prospective 3,000,000—adding that if they had, things might have gone easier. He himself, he said, had put up the four or five thousand dollars spent on the venture to date; or, more exactly, his wife had, he himself not being in funds of late.

Frighten Public To Action

The idea of sending out all the scare stories about the leftist plot, said Gilbert, was to prepare people for the trouble. No, he didn't favor a private army; what he had in mind was getting people in the frame of mind so that they would "offer manpower" to the police, the army, and so on when the red uprising took place.

Much the same sort of idea was in Campbell's mind, as revealed in his testimony. The United States army, he felt, would be the ultimate salvation of the government. It would have to act when the reds went a little farther, and would probably have to seize power in the different states, turning things back to the civil authorities only when the last vestiges of radicalism had been stamped out.

All of this boils down to little enough. John Hamilton told the committee that he has a "nut file" for crank letters about subversive activities, and that Campbell's famous letter to him belonged in it. And the whole episode might well be added to it, except for one or two things.

Propaganda Still Dangerous

In the first place, the campaign of Gilbert, Campbell et al. did succeed in one thing: it planted some damaging anti-Semitic propaganda all around the country, and the echoes of that propaganda will still be going about long after this specific campaign has been forgotten.

For another thing, the whole crack-pot scheme did lay down a blueprint for revolt. There is an audience for this sort of stuff. If, some day, someone with genuine organizing ability, adequate financial backing and a trifle more inventiveness comes along, here is the way he will operate.

He will peddle his embryonic dictatorship as a means for preserving democracy, the constitution and American ideals generally . . . and although in this particular case little enough progress was made, there was just enough progress to make you shiver when you think of the potentialities.

Odd-Formation: Maybe I shouldn't tattle, but Leo Gorcey, toughest of those Dead-End brats, has taken up knitting. In amusing contrast to the unionization of all other studio workers is the complete failure of all attempts to "organize" Hollywood's Indian extras—the braves always refuse to patch up tribal feuds. That ring Irene Franklin wears so proudly once belonged to Empress Zita of Austria. According to official communiques from parents, 53 babies have been named in honor of Jeanette MacDonald. Casting incongruities: W. A. Beckley, playing a convict in "Each Dawn I Die," used to be a prison guard at the Minnesota penitentiary.

Ona Munson finds a chuckle in the flood of publicity put out by the David O. Selznick scribes after she had signed for the Belle Watling role in "Gone With the Wind." The stories credited Mr. Selznick with "discovering" her. "I was 'discovered' for musical comedy by Gus Edwards, 'discovered' for drama by Laura Hope Crews—both times with full benefit of publicity," Ona points out. "I undoubtedly am the most 'discovered' actress in all Hollywood. One of these days, perhaps, it will 'take.'"

Screen-debutante Alice Eden arrived a half-hour late on the "Career" set the other day and brushed aside Director Lee Jason's irate protests by explaining that she had detoured to follow a fire truck. "Mr. Jason," said she, very seriously, "I just can't help it. It sort of runs in our family to chase fires, I guess. We get it from grandpa. He was an hour late to his own wedding because he couldn't resist going to a fire!"

Human Side Of The News

(Copyright, 1938, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Most American work songs are now sung by people who never worked—that is, in the logging camps, railroad gangs, steamboats, windjammers, farms and red-iron pits where these songs were born. This catch-as-catch-can singer had assumed, mistakenly it would now appear, that work songs couldn't be geared to factories and conveyor belts and that, therefore, swing music, which nobody ever thought of associating with work, was becoming the national folk rhythm—for stepping out and never for work.

We are scored with an error. Here's swing being used for a work song and quite plausibly, you will agree, if you run off a few of the less hectic swing records. On the U. S. S. Northampton, as the sailors start loading 110-pound boxes of ammunition, the ship's orchestra is on the work deck, by order of the commander, piping up a swing tune. The rhythm paces the work, lessens fatigue, shades the danger of accident, with the precision of movement thus attained, and makes for better team work all around.

That has been the story of work songs from the chant of galley slaves on down the ages to the Volga boatman. Young swingsters turn up their noses at old songs, and no doubt will be shocked with the news that their liberated shag tunes, supposed to induce only double-jointed antics, are now being put to work.

Some swing music could be used as a work song only for scratching mosquito bites or fighting cops, but you'll be surprised how some of this music fits into the work rhythm. I don't know whether the sailors are using it, but "Deep Purple" should be one of the best of these. Part of the efficacy of swing is the equivalent of understanding in literature. A slurred or omitted note somehow takes the listener into partnership, and impels him to do his stuff, perhaps ecstatically with a muscular reaction, and that might mean a strong heave-ho on the hawser.

If you will run off a batch of modern swing songs on the phonograph, I have an idea you will agree that the ones which have the longest and widest popular appeal are those which, both in sentiment and music, have not been wrenched too far out of the picture of our traditional regional, pioneer memory and work songs. "Deep Purple" is definitely in that picture. Which suggests the perhaps trite observation that the clean break with the past is never so sharp and final as we think it is.

The achievements of Larry Clinton in bridging the gap between old and new music is a case in point. Mr. Clinton's most successful compositions have been adaptations of old tunes. One of the best of the current swing pieces is an adaptation of Tschaikowsky's "Romeo and Juliet." Maxine Sullivan can swing a bouquet of old songs, even "Lock Lomand" over into the modern garden of rhythm without losing a petal. "Bei Mir Bist du Schoen" may sound like a jitterbug inspiration, but it wells up from New York's lower East side from a deep well of ancient Jewish musical lore. As does "And the Angels Sing," another supposedly timely outgiving.

We've been looking over some swing songs. The basic ingredients, so far as the lyrics are concerned, haven't changed to the extent of even a small jigger of grenadine—you and I—moonlight—garden walls—mist of memories—the light in your eyes—breathe your name with a sigh. It's all there, dished in a different tempo; plaintive, amorous, pensive—the same "reaching for the stars," noted by one American singer as follows:

"Forever alive, forever forward they go, they go, I know not where they go, but I know that they go toward the best, toward something great."

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

There is just one word to say about rocking the baby. Don't. There is no reason under the sun for rocking him, and there are several good ones for not doing so.

Sleep is natural to the baby. He sleeps most of the time in the beginning, and as he grows older, shortens his sleeping hours. He lies quietly on his back and just closes his eyes and there he is, asleep. That is the natural way for him to go to sleep. Why interfere with it?

Most babies enjoy being held in their mothers' arms. They enjoy being rocked there. The more they experience the delight of this sensation the more they want of it. At first a few rocks to and fro, a murmured song, and the child sleeps. Very pleasant for mother and baby. But there is a catch in it.

Each time the baby is rocked he stays awake longer to enjoy it and falls asleep only when sleep overtakes him. By practice he becomes expert in dodging sleep and his mother is chained to him by the hour. No rocking, no sleep. Trying to undo this process is like picking grains of sand out of the sea. Why bring such a burden upon oneself?

There are few cradles and rockers handy these days, but there is the baby carriage. It has springs that bounce and sway, very good substitutes for the rockers on the cradles. When the baby has been fed his mother lays him in the carriage to sleep, usually in the open air. Fine. But she thinks, more often than not, that rocking the carriage will bring sleep sooner, so she rocks and bumps and swings the poor infant until his milk is forced out of his stomach and he returns it, a curdled mess.

"The poor child is sick. He can't keep his food in his stomach," says his anxious mother and hastens to call the doctor.

There is no need for this rocking. It does the child harm. It breeds bad habits, disturbs the child's digestion and makes sleep a matter of ritual, elaborated and annoying for the mother. Sleep should come as naturally, as easily, as breathing to the little child, and it will, if he is not trained to have it otherwise.

Some children drop the afternoon nap sooner than others. They refuse to sleep in the afternoon without a battle. I think that a nap is not worth a battle. If the child does not go to sleep until he is worn out with tears and sobs and fights, he does not need the nap. He needs to go to bed for the night early, on time without any talk about it, and certainly without rocking. He won't need rocking. Making children sleep in the afternoon when they fight against it rarely pays, and when one considers the wear and tear on the mothers who rock, scold, sing, slap and shake the protesting wideawake children, it surely does not pay.

Most of our little children do not get tired enough in the day to feel the need of sleep. Give them plenty of hard exercise in the open air so that they are weary when night comes and they won't need rocking. Anyway, don't rock them.

During the hot weather especially, children's food must be temptingly offered, as well as balanced. Send for Angelo Patri's booklet, "Eating," enclosing ten cents in coin. Address Angelo Patri, care Monroe Morning World, P. O. Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y.

X-RAY HELPS MANY CASES OF SINUS INFECTION

I have spoken before of the successful treatment of the catarrhal form of deafness described by Dr. F. W. O'Brien, Boston, in Radiology. The treatment of other forms of deafness by this method is not as yet reported.

That a disturbance of another portion of the nose, throat and ear combination—the sinuses—can be corrected by X-ray treatment is reported by Drs. Frank E. Butler and Ivan M. Woolley, University of Oregon, in Radiology. They observed the effects of X-rays in chronic sinus disease and have studied the results in experimental animals and over 1,000 treatments.

The effect of the X-rays is to stimulate the usual reaction to infection and hasten repair. The patient usually notices an increase of his symptoms beginning a few days after the X-ray treatment and lasting for three or four days.

"Best results have been obtained in patients who have had symptoms of chronic infection for months or years and whose X-ray films showed a thickened lining of the sinus, thus lessening its air space. These patients usually respond to a single treatment and return in six or eight weeks with clear sinuses, no discharge, and no other symptoms due to sinus disturbance.

The effect upon the other symptoms so common in sinus infection—headache, nerve pains (neuritis), bronchitis—which have been traced to this sinus infection have, in almost every instance, cleared up even though the sinus condition itself was not entirely corrected.

Drs. Butler and Wooley report that the greatest number of failures occurred in patients who failed to gain relief following surgical operations on nose and sinuses. Large masses of scar tissue—due to surgery—prevented the X-rays being effective. Efforts to relieve the dry form of catarrh, which is one cause of bad breath, were likewise a failure.

Although it is true that other X-ray physicians have not obtained such good results in treating sinus infection, nevertheless before surgery is used, it would be well to remember that "when skillfully applied, X-ray does no harm and causes no serious reactions and there is no loss of time for the patient."

Even if X-ray fails to cure the condition, it in no way interferes with any surgical operation should it become desirable.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By Preston Grover

WASHINGTON—In congress there is something akin to a tax revolt, led by most of the senate finance committee and a part of the house ways and means committee, the two congressional tax committees.

There is little tax accord between President Roosevelt and the two revenue committees. Hints of it bob up in unguarded statements and off-the-record conferences. Treasury Secretary Morgenthau and his tax experts are reputedly sympathetic with desires of the senate committee and part of the house committee for tax revision to remove business deterrents.

At his press conference and at conferences with congressional tax people, President Roosevelt has indicated he is luke-cold to such revision.

Senator Harrison, chairman of the finance committee, has exchanged warm words with the president. That is not a secret.

Yet as it stands now, each is fairly well aware in what direction the other wishes to go. Within limits, each will have his way, as they are not headed in opposite directions.

Can't Be Put Aside

As observers on Capitol hill view it, the president would be happy to see taxation forgotten this session, believing that once the taxation question is opened, the groups eager to remove business deterrents will go farther than he wishes.

But taxation cannot be forgotten. A host of small taxes expire June 30. Several important corporation taxes expire December 31. Tax legislation must start in the house, but because these taxes are expiring, the house committee cannot escape opening the question, even though Representative Doughton, ways and means chairman, sympathizes with the president's position.

For two years the senate and house committees, in conjunction with treasury tax experts, have been talking over tax revision. In the case of the senate committee and the treasury, they are evidently in harmony.

And among the things they seemingly harmonize on are:

1. Big money individual investors, paying as much as 75 per cent federal tax on top bracket earnings, with state taxes in addition, won't speculate in common stock risks. Senatorial proposal: Trim the top bracket down, perhaps to 60 per cent, lower brackets proportionately. Hope: That speculators, with profits in sight, will speculate on new ventures and start new business.

2. Little corporations, earning less than $25,000 yearly, will continue to get special treatment of lower taxes, as now.

3. Big corporations, tax guinea pigs for three years, may be soothed with a variety of revisions. Troublesome excess profits tax and undistributed earnings tax may be repealed while the flat net earnings tax of 16 1-2 per cent is increased to 18 per cent as a replacement.

Harrison and others of the senate finance committee understand that the president does not cotton to all this catering to big business and big investors. But senate Democrats know that if anything is to be done to restore business before 1940 elections, it must be done now. Next year will be too late to bring results.

STAMP NEWS

Atlantic Flying Begins After 20 Years' Trials

SYMBOL of a gallant, daring era is the new U. S. special Trans-Atlantic airmail stamp shown above, blue, slightly reduced. Twenty years after the first heavier-than-air flights across the Atlantic it is being used for official postage to inaugurate regular crossings between America and the old world. Thereby tags an epic story.

It is a story that begins in the twilight of a May evening in 1919, May 16 to be exact, when three powerful ships of the U. S. Navy rose from American waters to begin the first heavier-than-air flying of the Atlantic. They were headed for the Azores, 1200 miles distant, the same route followed by the pilots of Pan American Airways today. But fog and storm and disaster set in soon after the takeoff and only one ship, the NC-4, successfully completed the first leg. The others were forced down without loss of lives.

From the Azores the NC-4 took off again after a week's layover and flew successfully to Lisbon, and from there later on to Plymouth, where the first flight officially ended amid high celebration May 31, 1919.

So began Trans-Atlantic aviation, in an open cockpit, with comparatively crude instruments, but with great daring. And eight years later came unknown Charles Lindbergh to dramatize the possibilities of oceanic flying for all time. And after him came others, equally intrepid. Meantime, the great research laboratories of the nation were trained on the problem of aircraft development, safer flying, commercial operation. Now, 20 years after the first flight, regularly scheduled crossings from New York to Marseille, by way of the Azores and Lisbon, Portugal and return are underway. Aviation has soared to another conquest!

MURDER, SUICIDE REPORT IS MADE

Note Left By Restaurant Owner Thanks Physicians For Recent Services

A coroner's jury investigating the double slaying of Miss Ruby Cupples and Peter Belbas early Friday morning made its report to Coroner Irving J. Wolff late yesterday, finding that Miss Cupples "met death of pistol shot wounds of arms, chest, back, abdomen and right inguinal region inflicted by one Pete Belbas" and that Belbas died of self-inflicted wound "of the skull, point of entrance just above the right ear."

The tragedy occurred at approximately 6:30 o'clock Friday morning in the room of Miss Cupples at 304 Olive street. Miss Maxine Cupples, a sister, witnessed the double slaying.

Coroner Wolff said Belbas left two notes, one addressed to relatives which the coroner has not opened, and the other a personal note addressed to him. Coroner Wolff said the note to him, which was unsigned, was written on two sheets of paper used to print menus at Belbas' cafe in West Monroe. He said it was typewritten and was entirely personal in its nature, no reference being made to the crime. He said Belbas thanked him and two other [illegible] for their services [illegible] Belbas' period of ill health recently.

The jury was composed of Deputy Sheriff [illegible], Police Captain F. S. P[illegible], [illegible] A. L. Peters, Jr., and M. L. Smith.

Coroner Wolff said he was notified of the shooting at 6:35 Friday morning [illegible] when he and Deputy Clive [illegible] and Captain Peters arrived, they found Miss Cupples dead. Belbas was still breathing, the coroner said, and he [illegible] to a hospital where he [illegible] later. Coroner Wolff said M. L. # MURDER, SUICIDE REPORT IS MADE

Note Left By Restaurant Owner Thanks Physicians For Recent Services

A coroner's jury investigating the double slaying of Miss Ruby Cupples and Peter Belbas early Friday morning made its report to Coroner Irving J. Wolff late yesterday, finding that Miss Cupples "met death of pistol shot wounds of arms, chest, back, abdomen and right inguinal region inflicted by one Pete Belbas" and that Belbas died of self-inflicted wound "of the skull, point of entrance just above the right ear."

The tragedy occurred at approximately 6:30 o'clock Friday morning in the room of Miss Cupples at 304 Olive street. Miss Maxine Cupples, a sister, witnessed the double slaying.

Coroner Wolff said Belbas left two notes, one addressed to relatives which the coroner has not opened, and the other a personal note addressed to him. Coroner Wolff said the note to him, which was unsigned, was written on two sheets of paper used to print menus at Belbas' cafe in West Monroe. He said it was typewritten and was entirely personal in its nature, no reference being made to the crime. He said Belbas thanked him and two other local physicians for their services during Belbas' period of ill health recently.

The jury was composed of Deputy Sheriff Frank Cline, Police Captain F. S. Pettit, Bailey Grant, A. L. Peters, Jr., and M. L. Smith.

Coroner Wolff said he was notified of the shooting at 6:35 Friday morning and when he and Deputy Cline and Captain Pettit arrived, they found Miss Cupples dead. Belbas was still breathing, the coroner said, and he was rushed to a hospital, where he died an hour later. Coroner Wolff said M. L. Smith was the first person to reach the house after the shooting, and the coroner was summoned by A. L. Peters, Jr., an employe of Peters Funeral home.

A PICTURE

Fate showed an eerie hand indeed when an envelope turned up in the News-Star—World candid camera department's Saturday morning mail bearing the signature, Ruby Cupples, 304 Olive street. Miss Cupples, killed in Friday morning's double tragedy, had evidently had her picture taken by the candid cameraman Thursday afternoon and had mailed the order card that evening.

When editors were searching for a picture of Miss Cupples Friday, one rested all the time still inside the candid camera, but because the mail had not yet been received no one was aware of the fact.

CHRISTIANS FEAR MOSLEMS' RULE

Support Arab Nationalist Movement Chiefly Because Of Pressure

JERUSALEM — (Correspondence of the Associated Press) — In the bitter issue between Jews and Arabs in Palestine, the interests of Christendom generally and of a minority of 110,000 Christians in the Holy Land sometimes are overshadowed.

About 90 per cent of Palestine's Christian population are natives who have a continuous history from the first century and who antedate the Moslem conquest.

These Christians speak Arabic and share Arab culture although in many respects their interests differ widely from those of the Moslem Arabs.

They have supported the Arab nationalist movement, financially rather than through active participation, and under pressure of the majority.

It is no secret, however, that these Christians dread a return to Moslem rule, which they had for 1,300 years before Palestine was mandated to Britain under the League of Nations.

(That, however, is their prospect under Britain's new policy for Palestine.

(The British plan, announced May 17, proposes a transition period of 10 years after which permanent Arab control of an independent Arab state is envisaged. Jewish immigration would be limited to 75,000—15,000 annually for five years.)

Palestine is a holy land for Islam, Judaism and Christianity alike and the Christian stake includes the great international shrines now in Christian hands. Among them are such holy places as the Holy Sepulchre, the Tomb of the Virgin, Gethsemane, the shrines along the Way of the Cross, the Room of the Last Supper and many others, all in or near Jerusalem. In addition, there are the Church of the Nativity in Bethlehem and the score of sacred rites at Nazareth and throughout Galilee.

Both the native Christians and the local Christian clergy, it is indicated, hope for a continuance of the British mandate. In this way, they feel, Christian interests would be best safeguarded for the future.

LOUISIANA NORMAL COMMENCEMENT HELD

NATCHITOCHES, La., May 27.—(AP)—A successful democracy depends on proper education, 248 graduates of Louisiana Normal college were told tonight in annual commencement exercises.

The speaker was Dr. C. L. Barrow of Baton Rouge, director of instruction and high school state supervisor in the state department of education.

"If democracy is to succeed ultimately, it must have the assistance of public education," declared Dr. Barrow.

"The school forces of Louisiana are making a critical analysis and appraisal of the school system in an attempt to adapt the educational program to the needs of the youth of today, for they realize that what the school is today democracy will be tomorrow and education is the ultimate guarantee of civil liberty."

THEIR NAME IS COURAGE

Three years ago beauteous Jessie Simpson, of Hackensack, N. J., was "Miss New Jersey" and the envy of all her friends. A railroad accident took both her legs, and since then, she has won fame for her courageous fight against the handicap. Fate dealt a similar hand to handsome six-foot-six Monte Stratton, promising White Sox pitcher. He lost a leg in a hunting accident, but is carrying on as coach of the team. They are pictured at the New Yorker hotel in New York, where, meeting for the first time recently, they found each one's courage had inspired the other.

Life Of Showboat Player's Daughter Full Of Interest

'Life Must Go On' Becomes Motto Of Mrs. Matthews Of Franklin Parish

By Edna Matthews Liggin

"The show must go on!"

That for many years has been the iron-clad law of showmen the world over. It was the motto of Jesse Chavers, an actor who traveled up and down the muddy Mississippi long ago aboard a showboat.

Today it is rather the law, "Life Must Go On," that keeps up the spirit of Mrs. Mary Chavers Matthews, daughter of Jesse Chavers, who celebrated her 90th birthday on May 21 at her home at Chase, near Winnsboro.

Known and beloved by that small community as "Aunt Mary," her most outstanding trait of character is the jolly and contented spirit she imparts to her friends in spite of the many sorrows life has brought her. She has seen eight of her ten children die. It has been years since she heard from some of her grandchildren. She has never had much more than the necessities of life and has suffered from many spells of bad health. Yet she smiles and says she refuses to worry about anything because at her age she's found it really isn't any use.

The romantic career of Jesse Chavers began when he was a small boy, fishing a long way upstream on the river. Along came a showboat and induced the boy aboard. Then its occupants refused to let him go, or maybe deep down in his heart he wanted to stay. Anyway he never saw his people again.

When he was grow into manhood the boat made a stop at historic Natches, then in all the prosperous glory of ante-bellum days. Here Jesse Chavers met and wooed pretty but unhappy and orphaned Eliza Chandler, who lived with a cruel aunt. On August 9, 1846, they were married and moved up the river in Louisiana on a big plantation where Jesse Chavers got a job as overseer over hundreds of negro slaves.

Five children came to bless this union, three girls and two boys. The family moved back to Mississippi and into their lives came the first tragedy. The oldest girl died at the age of four. Then only a few years later, in 1858, the mother passed away and Jesse Chavers had no wife. His home was broken up. Years later he married again.

For some reason he was unable to keep his children and work, so Joel Franklin, William Horace, Caroline and Mary Ann Chavers were sent to Natchez to enter the Protestant school there. They were very unhappy at first.

"Pa said we did nothing but cry when he came to see us," recalls Mary Chavers Matthews today.

When the children were in their early teens the war between the states was going on and the possessive Yanks came to Natchez. She recalled on her 90th birthday how the homes of Natchez were seized and pillaged and how useless resistance was.

Once they had a narrow escape. With other children they had been playing in the yard when something told them to get on the porch. Just then a cannon ball struck the tree under which they had been playing. They fled screaming in terror into the house.

"Aunt Mary" remembers that she was finished with school when eighteen. For the next eight years she served as a companion for an old lady, a Mrs. Booles of a prominent family in Natchez. Part of the time she visited with her sister, Caroline, who had married a widower, James Thornburg, and lived on a plantation below Natchez.

When she was 24 she was married to Samuel Harmon Matthews at Natchez and until the early 1900s they lived near Natchez on an old plantation, where she gave birth to ten children, four of them dying as infants.

Meantime her sister Caroline had lost both her husband and baby in four years of married life and moved to Natchez where she lived until her death a few years ago. Her home on Union street just south of the old Catholic church and school is occupied today by her step-daughter, Mrs. Minnie Winkler.

The two Chavers brothers both died in their early thirties, one of them never marrying.

"I didn't like Louisiana when we moved," recalled Mrs. Matthews on her birthday. "Winnsboro was nothing but a bog of mud with board walks. But your grandpa and the boys wouldn't go back to Mississippi."

In Franklin parish she has lived ever since. Five years ago her husband died and since then she has made her home with her oldest son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Matthews. Many branches of the family are scattered throughout the parish. The only other one of her children living is J. A. Matthews of Chase. The children dead are Mrs. Charlotte Smith, Mrs. Minnie Brown, Frank Matthews, C. M. Matthews and four infants. She has a number of grandchildren, and eight great-grandchildren were present for the birthday dinner Sunday.

She has lived through three war periods in which the United States was involved and her age and that of her oldest son total 132 years. Her philosophy of life is to want only the simplest and to be cheerful over that. Her greatest happiness lies in being with her family or descendants and to be grateful for the blessing of comparatively good health. Although not able to leave the house, she can walk to the table and can hear perfectly although her eyesight is bad.

No matter what happens, life goes on and she is determined to abide by that and make the best of everything.

OLD SWORD FOUND, MYSTERY REVIVED

NEW ORLEANS, May 27.—(AP)—Discovery of a gold and silver plated sword in the attic of the union station here has revived a 33-year-old disappearance mystery.

Embossed on its blade is "Presented to Lieutenant J. Hunter Jones, second U. S. V. I., by his railroad friends —1899."

W. D. Bee, special agent of the Illinois Central system, found the sword in the station attic.

It was recalled that Jones, born at Rossville, Tenn., in 1868, was ticket agent for the railroad here, volunteered in the war with Spain, and returned to his New Orleans job in 1899.

After completing his day's work October 18, 1906, he disappeared and has not been heard from since. A brother, Percy Jones, lives in Memphis.

17 IMPREGNATED ARTIFICIALLY

Made Without Physical Contact With Consent Of Wives And Husbands

CHICAGO, May 27.—(AP)—An experiment in which 17 women became pregnant by artificial insemination from one man has been reported to the American Medical association.

At the time the report was written, 13 of the pregnant women had delivered babies.

Dr. Frances I. Seymour of New York told in the association's journal the reasons for the experiment, which she said proved that an ordinary microscopic examination does not necessarily reveal whether a man is sterile.

The impregnations, without physical contact, were made with the consent of the wives and their husbands, who were sterile, Dr. Seymour related.

They followed her discovery that a professional man who seemed sterile actually had very motile or active spermatozoa, which has been regarded as a sign a man is not sterile.

With his wife's consent, 16 women were artificially cross inseminated with this man's spermatozoa, but no pregnancies resulted in a year and a half.

Later, Dr. Seymour reported, the same 16 women and the professional man's wife were artificially inseminated, using a donor whose fertility was known, and the 17 pregnancies followed.

"The importance of this series is principally that motility of spermatozoa does not necessarily indicate fertility," Dr. Seymour wrote.

"The fertility index of spermatozoa may not be judged by conformity of the count per cubic centimeter, by ascertainable motility or by any of the other physical factors diagnosable by ordinary microscopic examinations."

RESCUERS HEAR TRAPPED MINER

Shouted 'Hello' Sounds Through Ever Thinning Wall Of Rock

SHENANDOAH, Pa., May 27.—(AP)—Faint subterranean tappings and later the sound of a voice told rescuers today that Robert Galligan, 38-year-old miner, still lived in the deep mountainside coal hole where a rock slide imprisoned him yesterday morning.

The signals spurred them to new efforts as they tunneled into the side of rugged Locust mountain with a steam shovel, power drills and other implements.

The first tappings were heard 22 hours after the coal hole collapsed with a rumble while Galligan was 75 feet below the surface. His 80-year-old father, Patrick, sighed with relief and rested from an all-night vigil.

"I'm so happy, so happy," he kept repeating, tears of joy streaming down his weather-beaten face.

Later, the workers were able to hear the miner's voice.

"Hello, hello," he shouted through the ever thinning wall of rock.

Galligan was working with John Leahy and Michael Gilroy when the shaft caved in yesterday. Digging near the top of the pit, they managed to scramble to safety and summon aid.

Galligan was warned by a 30-second rumble over a wide area.

Galligan is married and has a 15-year-old daughter in Baltimore. He began digging in the shaft that trapped him after police warned that another coal hole he had been working was too close to pipe lines supplying water to Shenandoah.

STRANGE SUITCASE LOADED WITH GEMS

CHICAGO, Ill., May 27.—(AP)—Joseph L. Gill, municipal court clerk, discovered a strange suitcase in his luggage when he returned home from San Francisco. One of Gill's bags was missing. Just then the telephone rang.

"This is William B. Joyce, New York. I have your bag and I hope you have my suitcase. It has $35,000 worth of jewelry in it."

Gill looked in the bag and returned to the phone.

"Yes, it's here. I'll send it to you."

Support Arab Nationalist Movement Chiefly Because Of Pressure

JERUSALEM — (Correspondence of the Associated Press) — In the bitter issue between Jews and Arabs in Palestine, the interests of Christendom generally and of a minority of 110,000 Christians in the Holy Land sometimes are overshadowed.

About 90 per cent of Palestine's Christian population are natives who have a continuous history from the first century and who antedate the Moslem conquest.

These Christians speak Arabic and share Arab culture although in many respects their interests differ widely from those of the Moslem Arabs.

They have supported the Arab nationalist movement, financially rather than through active participation, and under pressure of the majority.

It is no secret, however, that these Christians dread a return to Moslem rule, which they had for 1,300 years before Palestine was mandated to Britain under the League of Nations.

(That, however, is their prospect under Britain's new policy for Palestine.

(The British plan, announced May 17, proposes a transition period of 10 years after which permanent Arab control of an independent Arab state is envisaged. Jewish immigration would be limited to 75,000—15,000 annually for five years.)

Palestine is a holy land for Islam, Judaism and Christianity alike and the Christian stake includes the great international shrines now in Christian hands. Among them are such holy places as the Holy Sepulchre, the Tomb of the Virgin, Gethsemane, the shrines along the Way of the Cross, the Room of the Last Supper and many others, all in or near Jerusalem. In addition, there are the Church of the Nativity in Bethlehem and the score of sacred rites at Nazareth and throughout Galilee.

Both the native Christians and the local Christian clergy, it is indicated, hope for a continuance of the British mandate. In this way, they feel, Christian interests would be best safeguarded for the future.

LOUISIANA NORMAL COMMENCEMENT HELD

NATCHITOCHES, La., May 27.—(AP)—A successful democracy depends on proper education, 248 graduates of Louisiana Normal college were told tonight in annual commencement exercises.

The speaker was Dr. C. L. Barrow of Baton Rouge, director of instruction and high school state supervisor in the state department of education.

"If democracy is to succeed ultimately, it must have the assistance of public education," declared Dr. Barrow.

"The school forces of Louisiana are making a critical analysis and appraisal of the school system in an attempt to adapt the educational program to the needs of the youth of today, for they realize that what the school is today democracy will be tomorrow and education is the ultimate guarantee of civil liberty."

The graduating class was the largest in the 55 years of the normal college. President Albert A. Fredericks presided.

Three years ago beauteous Jessie Simpson, of Hackensack, N. J., was "Miss New Jersey" and the envy of all her friends. A railroad accident took both her legs, and since then, she has won fame for her courageous fight against the handicap. Fate dealt a similar hand to handsome six-foot-six Monte Stratton, promising White Sox pitcher. He lost a leg in a hunting accident, but is carrying on as coach of the team. They are pictured at the New Yorker hotel in New York, where, meeting for the first time recently, they found each one's courage had inspired the other.

17 IMPREGNATED ARTIFICIALLY

Made Without Physical Contact With Consent Of Wives And Husbands

CHICAGO, May 27.—(AP)—An experiment in which 17 women became pregnant by artificial insemination from one man has been reported to the American Medical association.

At the time the report was written, 13 of the pregnant women had delivered babies.

Dr. Frances I. Seymour of New York told in the association's journal the reasons for the experiment, which she said proved that an ordinary microscopic examination does not necessarily reveal whether a man is sterile.

The impregnations, without physical contact, were made with the consent of the wives and their husbands, who were sterile, Dr. Seymour related.

They followed her discovery that a professional man who seemed sterile actually had very motile or active spermatozoa, which has been regarded as a sign a man is not sterile.

With his wife's consent, 16 women were artificially cross inseminated with this man's spermatozoa, but no pregnancies resulted in a year and a half.

Later, Dr. Seymour reported, the same 16 women and the professional man's wife were artificially inseminated, using a donor whose fertility was known, and the 17 pregnancies followed.

"The importance of this series is principally that motility of spermatozoa does not necessarily indicate fertility," Dr. Seymour wrote.

"The fertility index of spermatozoa may not be judged by conformity of the count per cubic centimeter, by ascertainable motility or by any of the other physical factors diagnosable by ordinary microscopic examinations."

Life Of Showboat Player's Daughter Full Of Interest

'Life Must Go On' Becomes Motto Of Mrs. Matthews Of Franklin Parish

By Edna Matthews Liggin

"The show must go on!"

That for many years has been the iron-clad law of showmen the world over. It was the motto of Jesse Chavers, an actor who traveled up and down the muddy Mississippi long ago aboard a showboat.

Today it is rather the law, "Life Must Go On," that keeps up the spirit of Mrs. Mary Chavers Matthews, daughter of Jesse Chavers, who celebrated her 90th birthday on May 21 at her home at Chase, near Winnsboro.

Known and beloved by that small community as "Aunt Mary," her most outstanding trait of character is the jolly and contented spirit she imparts to her friends in spite of the many sorrows life has brought her. She has seen eight of her ten children die. It has been years since she heard from some of her grandchildren. She has never had much more than the necessities of life and has suffered from many spells of bad health. Yet she smiles and says she refuses to worry about anything because at her age she's found it really isn't any use.

The romantic career of Jesse Chavers began when he was a small boy, fishing a long way upstream on the river. Along came a showboat and induced the boy aboard. Then its occupants refused to let him go, or maybe deep down in his heart he wanted to stay. Anyway he never saw his people again.

When he was grow into manhood the boat made a stop at historic Natches, then in all the prosperous glory of ante-bellum days. Here Jesse Chavers met and wooed pretty but unhappy and orphaned Eliza Chandler, who lived with a cruel aunt. On August 9, 1846, they were married and moved up the river in Louisiana on a big plantation where Jesse Chavers got a job as overseer over hundreds of negro slaves.

Five children came to bless this union, three girls and two boys. The family moved back to Mississippi and into their lives came the first tragedy. The oldest girl died at the age of four. Then only a few years later, in 1858, the mother passed away and Jesse Chavers had no wife. His home was broken up. Years later he married again.

For some reason he was unable to keep his children and work, so Joel Franklin, William Horace, Caroline and Mary Ann Chavers were sent to Natchez to enter the Protestant school there. They were very unhappy at first.

"Pa said we did nothing but cry when he came to see us," recalls Mary Chavers Matthews today.

When the children were in their early teens the war between the states was going on and the possessive Yanks came to Natchez. She recalled on her 90th birthday how the homes of Natchez were seized and pillaged and how useless resistance was.

Once they had a narrow escape. With other children they had been playing in the yard when something told them to get on the porch. Just then a cannon ball struck the tree under which they had been playing. They fled screaming in terror into the house.

"Aunt Mary" remembers that she was finished with school when eighteen. For the next eight years she served as a companion for an old lady, a Mrs. Booles of a prominent family in Natchez. Part of the time she visited with her sister, Caroline, who had married a widower, James Thornburg, and lived on a plantation below Natchez.

When she was 24 she was married to Samuel Harmon Matthews at Natchez and until the early 1900s they lived near Natchez on an old plantation, where she gave birth to ten children, four of them dying as infants.

Meantime her sister Caroline had lost both her husband and baby in four years of married life and moved to Natchez where she lived until her death a few years ago. Her home on Union street just south of the old Catholic church and school is occupied today by her step-daughter, Mrs. Minnie Winkler.

The two Chavers brothers both died in their early thirties, one of them never marrying.

"I didn't like Louisiana when we moved," recalled Mrs. Matthews on her birthday. "Winnsboro was nothing but a bog of mud with board walks. But your grandpa and the boys wouldn't go back to Mississippi."

In Franklin parish she has lived ever since. Five years ago her husband died and since then she has made her home with her oldest son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Matthews. Many branches of the family are scattered throughout the parish. The only other one of her children living is J. A. Matthews of Chase. The children dead are Mrs. Charlotte Smith, Mrs. Minnie Brown, Frank Matthews, C. M. Matthews and four infants. She has a number of grandchildren, and eight great-grandchildren were present for the birthday dinner Sunday.

She has lived through three war periods in which the United States was involved and her age and that of her oldest son total 152 years. Her philosophy of life is to want only the simplest and to be cheerful over that. Her greatest happiness lies in being with her family or descendants and to be grateful for the blessing of comparatively good health. Although not able to leave the house, she can walk to the table and can hear perfectly although her eyesight is bad.

No matter what happens, life goes on and she is determined to abide by that and make the best of everything.

OLD SWORD FOUND, MYSTERY REVIVED

NEW ORLEANS, May 27.—(AP)—Discovery of a gold and silver plated sword in the attic of the union station here has revived a 33-year-old disappearance mystery.

Embossed on its blade is "Presented to Lieutenant J. Hunter Jones, second U. S. V. I., by his railroad friends —1899."

W. D. Bee, special agent of the Illinois Central system, found the sword in the station attic.

It was recalled that Jones, born at Rossville, Tenn., in 1868, was ticket agent for the railroad here, volunteered in the war with Spain, and returned to his New Orleans job in 1899.

After completing his day's work October 18, 1906, he disappeared and has not been heard from since. A brother, Percy Jones, lives in Memphis.

RESCUERS HEAR TRAPPED MINER

Shouted 'Hello' Sounds Through Ever Thinning Wall Of Rock

SHENANDOAH, Pa., May 27.—(AP)—Faint subterranean tappings and later the sound of a voice told rescuers today that Robert Galligan, 38-year-old miner, still lived in the deep mountainside coal hole where a rock slide imprisoned him yesterday morning.

The signals spurred them to new efforts as they tunneled into the side of rugged Locust mountain with a steam shovel, power drills and other implements.

The first tappings were heard 22 hours after the coal hole collapsed with a rumble while Galligan was 75 feet below the surface. His 80-year-old father, Patrick, sighed with relief and rested from an all-night vigil.

"I'm so happy, so happy," he kept repeating, tears of joy streaming down his weather-beaten face.

Later, the workers were able to hear the miner's voice.

"Hello, hello," he shouted through the ever thinning wall of rock.

Galligan was working with John Leahy and Michael Gilroy when the shaft caved in yesterday. Digging near the top of the pit, they managed to scramble to safety and summon aid.

Galligan was warned by a 30-second rumble over a wide area.

Galligan is married and has a 15-year-old daughter in Baltimore. He began digging in the shaft that trapped him after police warned that another coal hole he had been working was too close to pipe lines supplying water to Shenandoah.

HASH FINISHES HEAD AHEAD OF PORTER'S MITE

Mrs. Payne Whitney's Colt Comes On In Stretch To Take Second Place

By Sid Feder

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP)—Johnstown came galloping back to the top of the three-year-old parade today.

Given a lightning fast track, Jamestown's big boy, winner of the Kentucky derby and then the major disappointment of the Preakness, waltzed home with the time-honored Withers mile by ten lengths before a crowd of 17,000 at Belmont park in record-equalling time.

From start to finish, there was nothing but William Woodward's whirlwind. He broke on top, was three lengths in front at the half mile and galloped on to the finish in 1 minute, 35 4-5 seconds, tieing the stake records Man o' War set in 1920. On the way to the wire, he clacked off six furlongs in 1:10, which equals Belmont's track record, although his clocking for this distance was not official.

Backed way down in the odds, the long-striding bay and his entry mate, Mrs. H. C. Phipps' Gilded Knight, returned the meager sum of $1 for each $8 bet on them to win this 64-year-old stake for three-year-olds. The entry was "out and out" for place and show.

With Johnstown making a show of the field of five, smallest in 12 years, after the first three furlongs, the biggest fight was for the place slot. Mrs. Payne Whitney's Hash, with his owner making an appearance at Belmont for the first time this season, came on in the stretch to take the No. 2 spot by a head from W. E. Boeing's Porter's Mite, which has always been partial to Belmont's speedy footing.

Disappointment of the race was Gilded Knight, which had been figured to give "Big John" a run for it. He broke well, but dropped right out of it to finish fourth. George D. Widener's Birch Rod came home just where everyone said he would—last by a city block.

For Johnstown and owner Woodward, the victory was worth $15,750, bringing the 1939 money winnings for Jamestown's tall son to $87,625, and his total racing earnings for his two-year career to $113,045.

Jockey Jimmy Stout, part of the 118 pounds aboard Johnstown (all colts carry the same load in the Withers) said later his "pet was just coasting."

"We'll win the Belmont next week easily," he added.

LAKE WILL BE USED FOR WATER SPORTS AT NORMAL

NATCHITOCHES, La., May 27.—(Special)—Chaplin's lake, bordering the Louisiana State Normal college campus on the east and north, will be utilized for water sports by the physical education department of the college this summer, Guy Nesom, new head of the department, announced today.

In addition to the regular course in boating offered women students of the college, a beach has been built on the lake for classes in swimming in both women's and men's divisions.

Facilities of the new beach include a rectangular pier which incloses a pool 100 feet by 75 feet, two diving boards and two life guard towers. The bank of the new beach has been terraced and sanded and dressing room accommodations have been erected. Life guard service is also provided.

UNEARNED RUN ENABLES SOX TO DEFEAT JUDGES

Jones Scores Winning Run When Throw Gets Through Thomas At First

Although held to six hits by Bud Abbitt, big Pine Bluff right-hander, the Monroe White Sox nosed out the Judges, 4 to 3, in Casino park here last night before a large crowd.

An unearned run gave the White Sox victory in the fourth inning after the score had been tied, 3 and 3. With Murrell Jones on second base and two out, Bob Hill grounded to Barney Lutz, but Clarence Thomas let the throw get through him at first and Jones scored.

The White Sox scored once in the second inning when Frank Hackney singled, went to third on Jones' single and tallied on a single into right field by Kelton Maxfield, the Monroe pitcher.

A SUGGESTION

Judge Emmet Harty of Greenville so far has made the Cotton States league an excellent president and there's every indication that he'll be a most successful executive as long as he agrees to hold the office. He was just that as Greenville's prexy. In our opinion, he's destined to go down in Cotton States annals as one of the outstanding presidents the circuit ever had.

Being president of a baseball league isn't any sinecure and it takes time to iron out all the angles that necessarily must be smoothed over before, an organization such as the Cotton States operates efficiently. And as Mr. Harty goes about the job of eradicating the rough spots, we'd like

SCHULTZ BOOKED FOR BATTLE WITH SCARLET TERROR

'Shadow' To Return Here For Bout With 'Flying Dutchman' Thursday Night

The scarlet-clad, black-masked "Shadow," one of the most colorful gladiators of the mat wars in the south, will be back in Monroe Thursday night for a main event battle against "The Flying Dutchman" at the Monroe Wrestling arena, 310 Walnut street, it was announced yesterday afternoon by Promoter Gus Kallio.

The fans hate—or think they hate—the villainous "Shadow," yet it was the fans who requested Promoter Kallio to bring an end to an elimination tournament launched last Thursday night to determine the next opponent of the scarlet-clad grappler in Monroe, so that the "Shadow" would speedily be returned here for an engagement in the squared circle.

Reasons for this was that the fans were impressed with the initial Monroe performance of "The Flying Dutchman," whose real name is Dutch Schultz, of Milwaukee, Wis., and prevailed upon Promoter Kallio to stop the elimination tournament. In other words, the fans decided last Thursday night, when they saw the Dutchman defeat Bob (Buck) Davidson of Terre Haute, Ind., in straight falls, that there was no need of further continuing the tournament, that if there is any grappler in the south capable of extending the "Shadow" in the ring, it is "The Flying Dutchman."

Schultz is a wrestler with a style similar to that of the "Shadow," which includes eye-gouging, punching, choking and taking every quarter possible and giving none. It will be two of a kind in the ring when the Dutchman and the scarlet-clad, incognito terror meet next Thursday night.

Kallio has booked the veteran Cyclone Mackey of El Paso, Tex., for the semi-final bout, and will pick a scientific grappler to oppose him. This bout, expected to be waged according to the rules, will be balanced against a main event in which the "Shadow" and Dutchman, if they follow their usual tactics, will toss away the rules.

Mackey, who knows all the tricks and all the answers, defeated Ned Taylor of Seattle, Wash., in straight falls at the local arena two weeks ago and last Thursday night defeated Indian Bill Cazzell of New Mexico in straight falls.

The program will begin promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

TWIN CITY QUALIFYING ROUNDS START TODAY

TOURNEY PROPER SLATED TO BEGIN COMING SATURDAY

Approximately 200 Golfers Expected To Participate In Big Event

Qualifying rounds for the third annual Twin City golf tournament for amateurs, which gets under way over the McGuire park golf course next Saturday, will begin this morning and continue through next Friday.

Approximately 200 golfers are expected to participate in the tournament, and Jim McKenzie, McGuire pro, is urging all golfers of this vicinity to qualify early so that the links will not be crowded when out-of-town entries begin arriving to play their qualifying rounds on Thursday and Friday.

The tournament, increasing in popularity each year, is the biggest annual golfing event in this section of the state and Louisiana's best amateurs will be attracted, including Henry Castillo, stellar L. S. U. golfer, and defending champion; Tommy Bolt, Shreveport star, and many other entries from Alexandria, New Orleans, Shreveport, Jonesboro, Tallulah, Hodge, Bastrop, Monroe and West Monroe. Several out-of-state entries are also expected from El Dorado, Pine Bluff and Little Rock, Ark., and Jackson and Vicksburg, Miss. Major Perry Cole, of the L. S. U. golf team, will bring his entire Tiger team here, according to a recent announcement.

First and second round matches of the tournament will be played Saturday. Semi-final and final rounds will take place next Sunday. Valuable prizes, to be awarded the winner, runner-up and consolation winner in each flight, have already been secured. A gold medal will be presented to the tourney medalist.

Luncheon will be served all tourney entrants at the McGuire clubhouse on Saturday and Sunday, and the big free barbecue, to be prepared under the direction of Ford Hines, is an annual feature of the tournament festivities. The barbecue will be given Saturday night.

Several changes, all for the betterment of the course and clubhouse, have been made since the last Twin City tourney. Most prominent of these changes is the additional locker space to the clubhouse and the extension of the distance to the No. 10 hole.

The increased locker space now provides for twice as many golfers as were formerly accommodated, and Pro McKenzie last night said facilities would be available to take care of every entry.

The No. 10 green, formerly 450 yards distant, has been increased to 525 yards. The old No. 14 green is now being played at No. 5.

The local favorite to win the tournament will probably be the winner of today's final club championship match between Ben Downing, Jr., and E. S "Shep" Girault.

Downing, recent winner of the state high school golf championship for the third consecutive time and also winner of the city golf title on the municipal course recently, is considered one of the outstanding prospects to keep the Twin City championship here for the first time.

Girault, however, is conceded a good chance to win. He was runner-up to A. L. "Tubby" Mailhes, of Shreveport, in the finals of the first annual Twin City tourney.

Girault and Downing will decide the McGuire club championship in a 36-hole match over the course today. M. C. McDonald was the consolation winner of the tournament as he defeated A. B. Sherrard in the consolation final, 1 up.

'APPROACH TO A GREEN ON M'GUIRE PARK COURSE

—Morning World Staff Photograph

With a setting of trees as a background, here is the approach to one of the smooth greens on the McGuire Park golf course, where the Twin City tournament will be played this week-end. Sand traps surround the green and the approach shot must be pitched over the hazards or rolled through the narrow opening to the green, as shown in the above photograph.

McGuire Park Golf Course One Of Best In Southwest

Enlargement Of Locker Room Of Clubhouse Most Recent Improvement

Although it is only four years old—young for a golf course—the McGuire Park club layout is conceded, by golfers who know, to be one of the best in the southwest.

Designed and constructed by Professional Jim McKenzie, an expert in golf course construction, the links was completed approximately four years ago and formally opened to the public on July 18, 1935. From the very start, the fairways and greens were in excellent condition and under Pro McKenzie's supervision, the course has been kept in top-notch shape through summer and winter.

The course, in a picturesque setting, provides a real test for any golfer, as many top-flight shotmakers have testified after playing it.

A number of improvements have been made at McGuire during the past four years, the most recent being the enlargement of the locker room of the clubhouse. Some 200 golfers are expected to participate in the approaching Twin City tournament sponsored by McGuire Park club, and Pro McKenzie says there will be room for all.

Constantly attended and improved, the club's course is beautiful to look at as well as wonderful to play on. It has been declared in the pink of condition for the forthcoming tournament.

The McGuire course, as far as is known, has the only fairway sprinkling system in Louisiana. The system was installed at a cost of approximately $2,000.

The No. 1 hole, which is 500 yards long and has a par 5, is an unusually good starting hole. With a slightly dog-leg fairway, the hole offers no difficulties if the player remains in the fairway, but a lake on the left and rough on the right present hazards that may easily spoil one's score.

No. 2 is 355 yards long and par 4. It requires a good drive and a very accurate iron shot. The green is well trapped.

No. 3 is a 445-yard hole and par is 4. It probably is the "softest" hole on the course and it is comparatively easy to par the hole consistently.

After parring No. 3, however, the average golfer will find No. 4 a harder nut to crack. It's 446 yards long and par is 5. The fairway dog-legs to the left and requires a very accurate drive and an even more accurate iron shot. Several hazards around the green don't help matters any.

No. 5 is 195 yards long and has a par three. It takes an accurate iron to avoid difficulties.

No. 6 is another par four hole, being 417 yards long. It dog-legs to the right and again the well-trapped green may make trouble.

Another par four hole is No. 7, which is 335 yards long. It takes a good drive and an accurate pitch to negotiate the hole in par figures.

No. 8 is the shortest hole on the course, 100 yards, but it also is the most interesting. The shot is over a wide water hazard, through the trees. It is the most beautiful hole of the entire layout. Par is three.

The ninth hole is 425 yards long and par is four. It not only takes some accurate shooting from the tee, but after the green is reached, the putting skill of any golfer is taxed. The rolling green makes it easy to three-putt and a number of players already have seen their scores soar after shooting the first eight holes in creditable figures.

The tenth hole is the longest on the course, 525 yards, and its par is five. Par is four on No. 11, which is 355 yards long, five on the 475-yard twelfth; four on the [illegible] yard thirteenth; three on the [illegible] yard fourteenth, four on the 417-yard fifteenth; four on the 325-yard sixteenth; three on the 133-yard seventeenth; and four on the 330-yard eighteenth.

Trojans Take I. C. 4-A Track Meet With Record Score

Mark-Shattering Performances Turned In Should Stand For Long Time

By Bill Boni

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP)—A smooth-working, high-geared piece of track and field machinery swept through the 63rd championships of the Intercollegiate A. A. A. A. today and turned in a set of record-shattering performances that should stand for years to come.

Before a crowd of 7,500 in Triborough stadium, the Trojans of Southern California piled up 71 1-2 points, highest in the meet's history, to win the team title for the second straight year and the ninth time since 1925.

Winning five individual events, sharing in two others and adding the mile relay championship as a crowning touch, the Trojans spread-eagled the field so badly that Pittsburgh, in second place, had only 26 points and none of the others got beyond 20.

Long John Woodruff of Pittsburgh did all that could be expected of a lone easterner standing up against this 20-man western invasion.

In his final I. C. 4-A. appearance, Woodruff won the 440-yard and 880-yard titles for the third straight year and made this finale the best of the three.

Forced to show fight to retain his quarter-mile honors in a four-man blanket finish which saw him equal the meet record of 47 seconds flat for the third time, he ran a front race in the half-mile an hour and 20 minutes later and set up a new I. C. 4-A. mark of 1 minute 51.2 seconds.

U. S. C.'s team score bettered its own mark of 62 3-4 points established in 1932 at Berkeley, Calif. Woodruff's 880, in which he won by ten yards over Curtis Giddings of New York U., who subsequently was disqualified for fouling on the turn, lopped seven-tenths of a second off Ben Eastman's seven-year-old standard.

In addition to Woodruff's performance, three new records were made and one meet record was equalled, all by U. S. C.'s representatives. Lou Zamperini, who ran the 5,000 meters on the 1936 United States Olympic team, brought the one-mile time down to 4:11.2 in his first I. C. 4-A. appearance.

Red-head Earl Vickery, who flew over the 220-yard low hurdles in 23.1 in yesterday's eliminations for a new record, hauled that down to 22.8 in the final.

And Bob Peoples' javelin throw of 225 feet 11 3-4 inches, which led the qualifiers yesterday, stood up as the best performance of the two days. U. S. C.'s Jim Humphrey tied the record of 14.4 seconds in winning the 120-yard high hurdles.

The Trojans also placed one-two in the discus, with Phil Gaspar and Art Wrotnowski, tied for first with Loring Day and took third with Irving Howe, in the pole vault; and put two men, Clarke Mallery and Jack Wilson, in a three-way tie for first place in the high jump.

The 440 was the most thrilling race of the day. Erwin Miller of U. S. C., coming out of second position at the start, led down the chute with Woodruff at his shoulder and Don Watts of California third. They held that order as they came into the straightaway with inches separating them and Long John almost pocketed.

Woodruff gave it all he had as they came into the last 30 yards. Literally, he fought his way up between the two westerners and literally, he won by pushing his chest into the tape bare inches ahead of U. S. C.'s Howard Upton, who came up like a streak on the outside.

Approximately 200 Golfers Expected To Participate In Big Event

Qualifying rounds for the third annual Twin City golf tournament for amateurs, which gets under way over the McGuire park golf course next Saturday, will begin this morning and continue through next Friday.

Approximately 200 golfers are expected to participate in the tournament, and Jim McKenzie, McGuire pro, is urging all golfers of this vicinity to qualify early so that the links will not be crowded when out-of-town entries begin arriving to play their qualifying rounds on Thursday and Friday.

The tournament, increasing in popularity each year, is the biggest annual golfing event in this section of the state and Louisiana's best amateurs will be attracted, including Henry Castillo, stellar L. S. U. golfer, and defending champion; Tommy Bolt, Shreveport star, and many other entries from Alexandria, New Orleans, Shreveport, Jonesboro, Tallulah, Hodge, Bastrop, Monroe and West Monroe. Several out-of-state entries are also expected from El Dorado, Pine Bluff and Little Rock, Ark., and Jackson and Vicksburg, Miss. Major Perry Cole, of the L. S. U. golf team, will bring his entire Tiger team here, according to a recent announcement.

First and second round matches of the tournament will be played Saturday. Semi-final and final rounds will take place next Sunday. Valuable prizes, to be awarded the winner, runner-up and consolation winner in each flight, have already been secured. A gold medal will be presented to the tourney medalist.

Luncheon will be served all tourney entrants at the McGuire clubhouse on Saturday and Sunday, and the big free barbecue, to be prepared under the direction of Ford Hines, is an annual feature of the tournament festivities. The barbecue will be given Saturday night.

Several changes, all for the betterment of the course and clubhouse, have been made since the last Twin City tourney. Most prominent of these changes is the additional locker space to the clubhouse and the extension of the distance to the No. 10 hole.

The increased locker space now provides for twice as many golfers as were formerly accommodated, and Pro McKenzie last night said facilities would be available to take care of every entry.

The No. 10 green, formerly 450 yards distant, has been increased to 525 yards. The old No. 14 green is now being played at No. 5.

The local favorite to win the tournament will probably be the winner of today's final club championship match between Ben Downing, Jr., and E. S. "Shep" Girault.

Downing, recent winner of the state high school golf championship for the third consecutive time and also winner of the city golf title on the municipal course recently, is considered one of the outstanding prospects to keep the Twin City championship here for the first time.

Girault, however, is conceded a good chance to win. He was runner-up to A. L. "Tubby" Mailhes, of Shreveport, in the finals of the first annual Twin City tourney.

Girault and Downing will decide the McGuire club championship in a 36-hole match over the course today. M. C. McDonald was the consolation winner of the tournament as he defeated A. B. Sherrard in the consolation final, 1 up.

With a setting of trees as a background, here is the approach to one of the smooth greens on the McGuire Park golf course, where the Twin City tournament will be played this week-end. Sand traps surround the green and the approach shot must be pitched over the hazards or rolled through the narrow opening to the green, as shown in the above photograph.

McGuire Park Golf Course One Of Best In Southwest

Enlargement Of Locker Room Of Clubhouse Most Recent Improvement

Although it is only four years old—young for a golf course—the McGuire Park club layout is conceded, by golfers who know, to be one of the best in the southwest.

Designed and constructed by Professional Jim McKenzie, an expert in golf course construction, the links was completed approximately four years ago and formally opened to the public on July 18, 1935. From the very start, the fairways and greens were in excellent condition and under Pro McKenzie's supervision, the course has been kept in top-notch shape through summer and winter.

The course, in a picturesque setting, provides a real test for any golfer, as many top-flight shotmakers have testified after playing it.

A number of improvements have been made at McGuire during the past four years, the most recent being the enlargement of the locker room of the clubhouse. Some 200 golfers are expected to participate in the approaching Twin City tournament sponsored by McGuire Park club, and Pro McKenzie says there will be room for all.

Constantly attended and improved, the club's course is beautiful to look at as well as wonderful to play on. It has been declared in the pink of condition for the forthcoming tournament.

The McGuire course, as far as is known, has the only fairway sprinkling system in Louisiana. The system was installed at a cost of approximately $2,000.

The No. 1 hole, which is 500 yards long and has a par 5, is an unusually good starting hole. With a slightly dog-leg fairway, the hole offers no difficulties if the player remains in the fairway, but a lake on the left and rough on the right present hazards that may easily spoil one's score.

No. 2 is 355 yards long and par 4. It requires a good drive and a very accurate iron shot. The green is well trapped.

No. 3 is a 445-yard hole and par is 4. It probably is the "softest" hole on the course and it is comparatively easy to par the hole consistently.

After parring No. 3, however, the average golfer will find No. 4 a harder nut to crack. It's 446 yards long and par is 5. The fairway dog-legs to the left and requires a very accurate drive and an even more accurate iron shot. Several hazards around the green don't help matters any.

No. 5 is 195 yards long and has a par three. It takes an accurate iron to avoid difficulties.

No. 6 is another par four hole, being 417 yards long. It dog-legs to the right and again the well-trapped green may make trouble.

Another par four hole is No. 7, which is 335 yards long. It takes a good drive and an accurate pitch to negotiate the hole in par figures.

No. 8 is the shortest hole on the course, 100 yards, but it also is the most interesting. The shot is over a wide water hazard, through the trees. It is the most beautiful hole of the entire layout. Par is three.

The ninth hole is 425 yards long and par is four. It not only takes some accurate shooting from the tee, but after the green is reached, the putting skill of any golfer is taxed. The rolling green makes it easy to three-putt and a number of players already have seen their scores soar after shooting the first eight holes in creditable figures.

The tenth hole is the longest on the course, 525 yards, and its par is five. Par is four on No. 11, which is 355 yards long; five on the 475-yard twelfth; four on the 405-yard thirteenth; three on the 165-yard fourteenth; four on the 417-yard fifteenth; four on the 335-yard sixteenth; three on the 133-yard seventeenth; and four on the 390-yard eighteenth.

Trojans Take I. C. 4-A Track Meet With Record Score

Cloudburst Breaks Up Game In Ninth Between Top Clubs Of National

ST. LOUIS, May 27.—(AP)—The rampaging Cincinnati Reds showed their heels to the St. Louis Cardinals again today, dusting them off, 3 to 2, before a cloudburst broke up the game after eight innings.

Play could not be resumed after a thirty minute delay and the Redlegs racked up their twelfth successive victory, and increased their grip on first place in the spirited National league race to nearly two full games over the Cardinals.

It was a tense, thrilling struggle and a homer on the pavilion roof by Lonnie Frey in the seventh inning turned out to be the run that brought home the bacon. It was his fourth of the season, and Cincinnati's 33rd in 33 games.

Lee Grissom, Ray Davis and Lloyd Moore held the Cardinals to four hits, two of them doubles by Jimmy Brown and Pepper Martin to account for the opening Card run in the first inning.

After tying the score in the fifth on a walk, and a pair of singles, Cincinnati moved ahead in the sixth when young Morton Cooper, 1938 strikeout king of the Texas league, uncorked a wild pitch to score Harry Craft from third base.

The second Card score came in the eighth when Jimmy Brown hit the right field foul line pole for a triple to score Lynn King, who had batted for Cooper.

Clyde Shoun hurled the last two innings for the Cards, and although he and Cooper gave up 10 hits, they struck out the same number of batters.

A ladies' day crowd of 11,677 including 6,022 paid customers, saw the contest.

The Cardinals now face the very difficult task of taking both remaining games of the series, a Sunday double header, in order to regain first place.

GIANTS SMOTHER PHILLIES

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—(AP)—The New York Giants plastered four Phillies pitchers for 14 hits today to end a three-game losing streak with a 10 to 1 victory.

Led by Zeke Bonura with four hits, including his third home run of the season, the Giants bunched nine of their runs in the first three frames.

Hal Schumacher went the route for the Giants on eight scattered hits. He lost a shutout in the third inning when Gene Schott, making his first appearance as a Philadelphia pitcher, tripled and came home on Del Young's single.

Tony Lazzeri, former Yankee star and later with the Chicago Cubs and Brooklyn Dodgers, made his debut at third base for the Giants.

World Champion Yankees Take Two From Athletics

NEW YORK WINS DOUBLE HEADER, 8 TO 2, 11 TO 9

Collapse Of Philadelphia Pitchers Gives Games To Opponents

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP)—The world champion Yankees ran their newest winning streak to four today with a double victory over the Philadelphia Athletics 8 to 2 and 11 to 9.

Collapse of the Athletics' pitchers gave New York each game, although for the sixth consecutive contest the opposition made more hits.

The Yankees pushed across six runs in the first inning of the first game on two singles, both by Frank Crosetti, a hit batter and five passes from Leroy Parmelee and Bill Beckman. They scored their other two runs in the second inning on Charley Keller's homer with a runner on base.

But thereafter Beckman pitched six innings on two hits to make the Yankee total five. Lefty Gomez, in winning his second of the season, gave six safeties. The A's scored in the second on a walk, a single and a sacrifice fly and in the third on an error, a walk and a double by Frank Hayes.

The nightcap was a free hitting affair in which both starting pitchers, Monte Pearson and Bob Joyce, were chased. The Athletics took a five run lead in the first on a hit batsman, three singles and Earl Brucker's homer into the right field stands.

Although the champions kept punching [illegible], the Athletics remained in front until the seventh, when Chubby Dean, second of Philadelphia's three pitchers, walked five of the first six batters to face him and a sacrifice, a single and an error finished the rout against Nelson Potter.

George Selkirk hit his sixth and seventh homers and Tommy Henrich his fifth, but the brightest of the Yankees' ten hits for [illegible] of the champions was a pinch double by Joe DiMaggio with the bases loaded in the fourth. It was the young slugger's first appearance since injuring a leg April 27.

INDIANS SHADE CHISOX

CLEVELAND, May 27.—(AP)—Righthander Johnny Humphries of the Cleveland Indians retired three men in order in the ninth inning against the Chicago White Sox today, shutting off a two-run rally and giving the Indians a 7 to 6 victory.

Indian First Baseman Hal Trosky's left shoulder was injured in a third base-line mixup in the seventh. He was removed from the contest and immediately placed under a physician's care.

BIG SIX LEAGUE TO MEET MONDAY

RUSTON, La., May 27.—(Special)—A meeting of team managers and league officials of the Big Six baseball league will be held here Monday night at 7:30 o'clock in the office of the mayor, it was announced by Larry J. Fox, league president.

Team managers at this time will be called upon to present their league rosters, containing at least six high school players, it was stated. League umpires should also attend the meeting, President Fox said, as Coach Ray Davis, of Louisiana Tech, will give a talk on the fine points of calling games.

It was also announced that a movement to increase the league membership to eight teams would be discussed at the Monday meeting. It is possible that teams from Sterlington and Dubach will be given franchises.

Cloudburst Breaks Up Game In Ninth Between Top Clubs Of National

ST. LOUIS, May 27.—(AP)—The rampaging Cincinnati Reds showed their heels to the St. Louis Cardinals again today, dusting them off, 3 to 2, before a cloudburst broke up the game after eight innings.

Play could not be resumed after a thirty minute delay and the Redlegs racked up their twelfth successive victory, and increased their grip on first place in the spirited National league race to nearly two full games over the Cardinals.

It was a tense, thrilling struggle and a homer on the pavilion roof by Lonnie Frey in the seventh inning turned out to be the run that brought home the bacon. It was his fourth of the season, and Cincinnati's 33rd in 33 games.

Lee Grissom, Ray Davis and Lloyd Moore held the Cardinals to four hits, two of them doubles by Jimmy Brown and Pepper Martin to account for the opening Card run in the first inning.

After tying the score in the fifth on a walk, and a pair of singles, Cincinnati moved ahead in the sixth when young Morton Cooper, 1938 strikeout king of the Texas league, uncorked a wild pitch to score Harry Craft from third base.

The second Card score came in the eighth, when Jimmy Brown hit the right field foul line pole for a triple to score Lynn King, who had batted for Cooper.

Clyde Shoun hurled the last two innings for the Cards, and although he and Cooper gave up 10 hits, they struck out the same number of batters.

A ladies' day crowd of 15,657 including 6,022 paid customers, saw the contest.

The Cardinals now face the very difficult task of taking both remaining games of the series, a Sunday double header, in order to regain first place.

GIANTS SMOTHER PHILLIES

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—(AP)—The New York Giants plastered four Phillies pitchers for 14 hits today to end a three-game losing streak with a 10 to 1 victory.

Led by Zeke Bonura with four hits, including his third home run of the season, the Giants bunched nine of their runs in the first three frames.

Hal Schumacher went the route for the Giants on eight scattered hits. He lost a shutout in the third inning when Gene Schott, making his first appearance as a Philadelphia pitcher, tripled and came home on Del Young's single.

Tony Lazzeri, former Yankee star and later with the Chicago Cubs and Brooklyn Dodgers, made his debut at third base for the Giants.

INDIANS SHADE CHISOX

CLEVELAND, May 27.—(AP)—Righthander Johnny Humphries of the Cleveland Indians retired three men in order in the ninth inning against the Chicago White Sox today, shutting off a two-run rally and giving the Indians a 7 to 6 victory.

Indian First Baseman Hal Trosky's left shoulder was injured in a third base-line mixup in the seventh. He was removed from the contest and immediately placed under a physician's care.

BIG SIX LEAGUE TO MEET MONDAY

RUSTON, La., May 27.—(Special)—A meeting of team managers and league officials of the Big Six baseball league will be held here Monday night at 7:30 o'clock in the office of the mayor, it was announced by Larry J. Fox, league president.

Team managers at this time will be called upon to present their league rosters, containing at least six high school players, it was stated. League umpires should also attend the meeting, President Fox said, as Coach Ray Davis, of Louisiana Tech, will give a talk on the fine points of calling games.

It was also announced that a movement to increase the league membership to eight teams would be discussed at the Monday meeting. It is possible that teams from Sterlington and Dubach will be given franchises.

HARGROVE TOPS LEADING WHITE SOX HITTERS

John Yelovic Up Among Ranking Pitchers; Monroe Second In Club Batting

First Cotton States league averages released this season show the Monroe White Sox running in second place in club hitting and third place in fielding, but the Clarksdale Red Sox are tops in both phases of the game. Clarksdale leads the team batting with an average of .311, and is tied with Greenville's Buckshots in team fielding with .952.

Clarence Benton, Clarksdale outfielder, and Freddie Yazell, the Red Sox third baseman, top the league in individual slugging. Benton hitting .438 and Yazell batting .407. Ernest Spense, the El Dorado catcher, who has been at bat more than twice as many times as Benton and nearly double Yazell's number of times at the plate, is hitting .404.

Monroe's top hitters, according to the release, are Frank Hargrove, Hank Taylor, Johnny Conway and Bill Cooper, all with averages over .300. Hargrove's average is .365; Taylor boasts a .352; Conway is hitting .342; and Cooper is hitting .320, according to the tabulation released from the league president's office at Greenville, Miss.

The pitchers this early in the season have not won or lost enough games to determine their effectiveness, but John Yelovic, of Monroe, and Heflin, of Clarksdale, have won five games against only two defeats each. Crow and Roberson, Greenville, hurlers, have each won five games and lost only one.

NEGRO CHAMPION FACES LOSS OF HIS RING CROWN

Light-Heavy Title Will Be Declared Vacant If John Henry Doesn't Pass

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—The National Boxing association today ordered John Henry Lewis to submit to a medical examination and told him that if he failed to pass it the association would declare his light heavyweight title vacant.

Earlier this year Michigan boxing authorities refused Lewis permission to enter a bout at Detroit on the ground that the sight of one eye was damaged. Lewis then went to England for a bout and encountered a similar refusal there.

Charles F. Reynolds, present of the N. B. A., sent the order to Gus Greenlee, Lewis' manager, after a meeting of the executive board. He said that a physical examination by three Pittsburgh doctors selected by Commissioner Harvey Boyle of Pennsylvania would be satisfactory to the association.

"In making this decision," Reynolds said, "we are trying to be fair to boxing as a sport, to the public that supports it, to John Henry Lewis in the interests of his own health and to the leading contenders for his title.

Should Lewis fail to pass the examination, the association said, it would recognize as a world's championship contest a bout between Melio Bettina, Beacon, N. Y., and any of the following: Gus Lesnevich, Cliffside N. J.; Dave Clark of Detroit; Don Richards of Australia; Billy Conn of Pittsburgh.

The executive board refused to recognize as a title match a forthcoming bout between Len Harvey and Jock McAvoy, approved by the British boxing board of control, but said it would recognize a bout between the winner and Bettina. Both Harvey and McAvoy have been defeated by Lewis.

Reynolds also announced he had written the British board that if it recognized as "official" the retirement of Peter Kane as flyweight champion of Great Britain the N. B. A. would recognize as a world championship contest a bout between Little Dado of Manila and San Francisco and any contender named by the British board.

ALEX KYLE WINS BRITISH TOURNEY

Succeeds Charley Yates As Amateur Golf Champion Of Britain

HOYLAKE, England, May 27.—(AP)—Alex Kyle, a free-swinging fastidious Scotsman, came from behind on the last round today to beat soldier Tony Duncan of Wales, 2 and 1, for the British amateur golf championship.

Two down after 18 holes and even after 33, Kyle won the 34th and 35th to take the title back to Scotland for the first time since Hector Thomson won it in 1936. Ironically, Duncan, a superb putter, lost it on the green. At the 34th he was only 18 feet from the cup in three but then his putter failed him and he needed three putts to get down.

The soldier lost his chance to send the match to the final hole by hitting his second out of bounds at the 35th and ending up with a six, two over par, while Kyle played safe with a five. Duncan actually put himself in a tough spot by hitting balls out of bounds at the 19th and 21st holes to lose the two-hole advantage he gained through the first 18 holes.

Kyle succeeds America's Charley Yates, who was eliminated during the early rounds.

GREENVILLE SHORTSTOP SUFFERS SKULL FRACTURE

GREENVILLE, Miss., May 27.—(AP)—Bobby Cummings, Greenville shortstop in the Cotton States league, hit by a pitched ball last night at Clarksdale, suffered a slight skull fracture.

Physicians said his injury was not considered serious but that he would be out of the game for a week.

HARGROVE TOPS LEADING WHITE SOX HITTERS

John Yelovic Up Among Ranking Pitchers; Monroe Second In Club Batting

First Cotton States league averages released this season show the Monroe White Sox running in second place in club hitting and third place in fielding, but the Clarksdale Red Sox are tops in both phases of the game. Clarksdale leads the team batting with an average of .311, and is tied with Greenville's Buckshots in team fielding with .952.

Clarence Benton, Clarksdale outfielder, and Freddie Yazell, the Red Sox third baseman, top the league in individual slugging, Benton hitting .438 and Yazell batting .407. Ernest Spense, the El Dorado catcher, who has been at bat more than twice as many times as Benton and nearly double Yazell's number of times at the plate, is hitting .404.

Monroe's top hitters, according to the release, are Frank Hargrove, Hank Taylor, Johnny Conway and Bill Cooper, all with averages over .300. Hargrove's average is .365; Taylor boasts a .352; Conway is hitting .342; and Cooper is hitting .320, according to the tabulation released from the league president's office at Greenville, Miss.

The pitchers this early in the season have not won or lost enough games to determine their effectiveness, but John Yelovic, of Monroe, and Heflin, of Clarksdale, have won five games against only two defeats each. Crow and Roberson, Greenville, hurlers, have each won five games and lost only one.

Lewis Is Ordered To Submit To Medical Examination

NEGRO CHAMPION FACES LOSS OF HIS RING CROWN

Light-Heavy Title Will Be Declared Vacant If John Henry Doesn't Pass

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—The National Boxing association today ordered John Henry Lewis to submit to a medical examination and told him that if he failed to pass it the association would declare his light heavyweight title vacant.

Earlier this year Michigan boxing authorities refused Lewis permission to enter a bout at Detroit on the ground that the sight of one eye was damaged. Lewis then went to England for a bout and encountered a similar refusal there.

Charles F. Reynolds, present of the N. B. A., sent the order to Gus Greenlee, Lewis' manager, after a meeting of the executive board. He said that a physical examination by three Pittsburgh doctors selected by Commissioner Harvey Boyle of Pennsylvania would be satisfactory to the association.

"In making this decision," Reynolds said, "we are trying to be fair to boxing as a sport, to the public that supports it, to John Henry Lewis in the interests of his own health and to the leading contenders for his title.

Should Lewis fail to pass the examination, the association said, it would recognize as a world's championship contest a bout between Melio Bettina, Beacon, N. Y., and any of the following: Gus Lesnevich, Cliffside N. J.; Dave Clark of Detroit; Don Richards of Australia; Billy Conn of Pittsburgh.

The executive board refused to recognize as a title match a forthcoming bout between Len Harvey and Jock McAvoy, approved by the British boxing board of control, but said it would recognize a bout between the winner and Bettina. Both Harvey and McAvoy have been defeated by Lewis.

Reynolds also announced he had written the British board that if it recognized as "official" the retirement of Peter Kane as flyweight champion of Great Britain the N. B. A. would recognize as a world championship contest a bout between Little Dado of Manila and San Francisco and any contender named by the British board.

ALEX KYLE WINS BRITISH TOURNEY

HOYLAKE, England, May 27.—(AP)—Alex Kyle, a free-swinging fastidious Scotsman, came from behind on the last round today to beat soldier Tony Duncan of Wales, 2 and 1, for the British amateur golf championship.

Two down after 18 holes and even after 33, Kyle won the 34th and 35th to take the title back to Scotland for the first time since Hector Thomson won it in 1936. Ironically, Duncan, a superb putter, lost it on the green. At the 34th he was only 18 feet from the cup in three but then his putter failed him and he needed three putts to get down.

The soldier lost his chance to send the match to the final hole by hitting his second out of bounds at the 35th and ending up with a six, two over par, while Kyle played safe with a five. Duncan actually put himself in a tough spot by hitting balls out of bounds at the 19th and 21st holes to lose the two-hole advantage he gained through the first 18 holes.

Kyle succeeds America's Charley Yates, who was eliminated during the early rounds.

GREENVILLE SHORTSTOP SUFFERS SKULL FRACTURE

GREENVILLE, Miss., May 27.—(AP)—Bobby Cummings, Greenville shortstop in the Cotton States league, hit by a pitched ball last night at Clarksdale, suffered a slight skull fracture.

Physicians said his injury was not considered serious but that he would be out of the game for a week.

FOUR MORE QUALIFY FOR MEMORIAL DAY RACE

NUMBER TO START HAS REACHED 27; OTHERS EXPECTED

Seems Virtually Certain Full Field Of 33 Auto Drivers Will Compete

By Harold Harrison

INDIANAPOLIS, May 27.—(AP)—Qualification of four more drivers today for the Memorial day 500 mile motor speedway race brought the number of starters to 27 and made it seem virtually certain a full field of 33 speeders would start in the annual classic. The only likely threat is the possibility of a steady rain that might wash out the remaining qualifying trials.

A check at the garages showed approximately a dozen speedsters ready to fight it out for the remaining six places. If more than 33 cars qualify the ones making the slowest qualifying speed will be eliminated.

Russell Snowberger of Detroit, Tony Gulotta of Kansas City, Tony Willman of Milwaukee, and Kelly Petillo of Los Angeles, were today's qualifiers. Petillo's speed was 122.660 miles an hour, Snowberger's, 122.199 miles an hour, Willman's, 122.771 and Gulotta's, 121.749.

Petillo's effort provided all of the drama of the day. Twice before he had started but failed to finish and this was his last attempt. He ran a half dozen practice laps then came in, changed all four tires, took on gas and made his run. He won in 1935.

Waving his arms and talking a mixture of Italian and English to his father and speedway officials, Petillo jumped from his car, grabbed Louis Schwitzer, a technical committee member, lifted him high in the air and then swung him around.

The final trials will be held tomorrow from 9:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. Experts [illegible] it would take at least [illegible] miles to get in the race. Thus far [illegible] car that has qualified has exceeded [illegible].

The 27 qualifiers to date have an average of slightly better than 121 miles an hour.

[illegible] Snyder, the former Chicago [illegible]man, has the pole position in the front row. His qualifying speed a week ago was 130.[illegible] miles an hour.

Drivers who are expected to make their runs tomorrow include Louis Webb of K[illegible], Tony [illegible] H[illegible] of Van Nuys, Cal.; Duke Nalon of Chicago, Louis Tomei of Portland, Ore., Deacon Litz of Du Bois, Pa., Al Putnam and Al Miller both of Detroit, Henry Banks of Royal Oak, Mich., Zeke Meyer of Philadelphia and Merrill Williams of Franklin, Ind.

Meyer, driving a rear-motored Miller, went into a spin on the south turn in practice today but escaped unharmed and the car was not damaged. Another of the Millers already has qualified and a third one was destroyed [illegible] last week.

Thousands of race goers began arriving in the city tonight to get a glimpse of the cars in the qualifying [illegible].

It also seemed likely that the speed [illegible] run of luck on the weather would continue. The weather bureau [illegible] appeared now as if race day would be fair.

BROTHER OF JOE GOING GREAT IN LOWER CIRCUIT

Former Boston Bee Has Blasted Out 16 Homers For Kansas City

By Harold Claassen

KANSAS CITY, May 27.—(AP)—It broke his heart when the Boston Bees sent him back to the minors, crowned major league strike-out king. But Vince DiMaggio is breaking many a pitcher's heart with his bat on the climb back.

Papa and Mama gave him that name Vince. But pitchers in the American association pronounced it "Wince." The outfielder who whiffed 134 times last year with Boston already has earned the title "most damaging slugger in organized baseball" this spring.

He's hammered out 16 home runs in 36 games for the Kansas City Blues of the American association. He has developed a new swing as smooth as whipped cream.

Manager Bill Meyer of the New York Yankee's fledglings here aided DiMaggio in acquiring a new batting stance, one which permitted him to keep his eye on the ball all the way to the plate. Last season Vince turned so far around at the start of his cut he saw the ball with only one eye for a time.

"That was the reason for the jerk in his swing and [illegible] pitchers were [illegible] him," Meyer [illegible] as [illegible] to the [illegible] he has been the most damaging hitter in any league. And [illegible].

BROWN TO PLAY LORECOS TODAY

Proceeds Of Game To Go Toward Hospital Expenses Of 'Blackie' Craig

The Brown Independents and the Loreco Boosters of Bossier City will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock at Brown park in a benefit baseball game for Arthur "Blackie" Craig, Independent player who suffered a fractured leg in a game at Hutt[illegible], Ark., two weeks ago.

An advance ticket sale, conducted by Manager Jack Bagwell of the Independents, has already assured the teams of a large crowd. All proceeds of the game will be used to defray hospital and medical expenses of the injured Brown star.

A special arrangement is being made in Brown park to allow Craig, despite his injured leg, to attend the game.

The Loreco aggregation, composed of several well-known baseball players of this area, will be after revenge, having lost a close 9-to-8 battle to the Independents at Bossier City last Sunday.

Stars of the Loreco team are the Copeland twins, especially Hays Copeland, a former hurler for the Houston Buffs of the Texas league. Mays Copeland, however, is a power at bat for the Bossier City club. Jack Rossette, former Cotton States player, will be in center field for the visitors and "Red" Harvel, former manager of the Monroe White Sox, is also expected to be in the Loreco outfield. Frank Courtney, formerly with Swartz in the Ouachita Valley league, and Crawford Womack, former Bastrop player, are others in the Loreco lineup.

The starting Brown lineup has been announced as Buck Norman, second base; Vincent Grant, left field; "Rags" Wilkerson, center field; Jack Bagwell, right field; Woodrow Duncan, catcher; Earl Duncan, first base, LeRoy Elliott, third base, Victor Downes, shortstop, and Truman Mayes or Roy "Lefty" Counts, pitcher.

The umpires will be J. B. Swanson, Walter Veach, Ralph Fields and Udell Price.

NUMBER TO START HAS REACHED 27; OTHERS EXPECTED

Seems Virtually Certain Full Field Of 33 Auto Drivers Will Compete

By Harold Harrison

INDIANAPOLIS, May 27.—(AP)—Qualification of four more drivers today for the Memorial day 500 mile motor speedway race brought the number of starters to 27 and made it seem virtually certain a full field of 33 speeders would start in the annual classic. The only likely threat is the possibility of a steady rain that might wash out the remaining qualifying trials.

A check at the garages showed approximately a dozen speedsters ready to fight it out for the remaining six places. If more than 33 cars qualify the ones making the slowest qualifying speed will be eliminated.

Russell Snowberger of Detroit, Tony Gulotta of Kansas City, Tony Willman of Milwaukee, and Kelly Petillo of Los Angeles, were today's qualifiers. Petillo's speed was 123.660 miles an hour; Snowberger's, 123.199 miles an hour; Willman's, 1.22.771 and Gulotta's, 121.749.

Petillo's effort provided all of the drama of the day. Twice before he had started but failed to finish and this was his last attempt. He ran a half dozen practice laps then came in, changed all four tires, took on gas and made his run. He won in 1935.

Waving his arms and talking a mixture of Italian and English to his father and speedway officials, Petillo jumped from his car, grabbed Louis Schwitzer, a technical committee member, lifted him high in the air and then swung him around.

The final trials will be held tomorrow from 10:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. Experts believed it would take at least 120 miles to get in the race. Thus far every car that has qualified has exceeded that speed.

The 27 qualifiers to date have an average of slightly better than 124 miles an hour.

Drivers who are expected to make their runs tomorrow include Louis Webb of Knoxville, Tenn.; Ronney Householder of Van Nuys, Calif.; Duke Nalon of Chicago; Louis Tomei of Portland, Ore.; Deacon Litz off DuBois, Pa.; Al Putnam and Al Miller both of Detroit; Henry Banks of Royal Oak, Mich.; Zeke Meyer of Philadelphia and Merrill Williams of Franklin, Ind.

Meyer, driving a rear-motored Miller, went into a spin on the south turn in practice today but escaped unharmed and the car was not damaged. Another of the Miller's already has qualified and a third one was destroyed by fire last week.

Thousands of race-goers began arriving in the city tonight to get a glimpse of the cars in the qualifying trials.

It also seemed likely that the speedway's run of luck on the weather would continue. The weather bureau said it appeared now as if race day would be fair.

BROTHER OF JOE GOING GREAT IN LOWER CIRCUIT

Former Boston Bee Has Blasted Out 16 Homers For Kansas City

By Harold Claassen

KANSAS CITY, May 27.—(AP)—It broke his heart when the Boston Bees sent him back to the minors, crowned major league strike-out king. But Vince DiMaggio is breaking many a pitcher's heart with his bat on the climb back.

Papa and Mama gave him that name Vince. But pitchers in the American association pronounced it "Wince." The outfielder who whiffed 134 times last year with Boston already has earned the title "most damaging slugger in organized baseball" this spring.

He's hammered out 16 home runs in 36 games for the Kansas City Blues of the American association. He has developed a new swing as smooth as whipped cream.

Manager Bill Meyer of the New York Yankee's fledglings here aided DiMaggio in acquiring a new batting stance, one which permitted him to keep his eye on the ball all the way to the plate. Last season Vince turned so far around at the start of his cut he saw the ball with only one eye for a time.

"That was the reason for the jerk in his swing and why pitchers were throwing the fast inside pitch by him," Meyer said. "Right now, according to the records, he has been the most damaging batter in any league. And they said he couldn't hit."

Tex Carleton, erstwhile Chicago Cub, told association pitchers DiMaggio couldn't master that fast, inside pitch. But one of the Milwaukee hurler's tosses of that type landed 400 feet away.

"Bless their hearts," said Meyer when rival hurlers started concentrating on that offering, "that's swell. I will pay them a dividend if they throw it to him all season. I will shake their hands with pleasure. I will hug them."

DiMaggio's anaemic .228 batting average of 1938 has flowered into .317 this spring. He has driven 42 mates across the plate, compared with the 61 he counted in 150 games last season. One of his round-trippers traveled 480 feet and his thirteenth broke up a 13-inning contest.

There never was anything wrong with his fielding. Baseball experts rank him at least on a par with his famous brother Joe on the defensive.

TECH DIAMONDMEN WILL GET AWARDS FOR FINE SEASON

Athletic Department To Reward Efforts Of Baseball Team For First Time

RUSTON, La., May 27.—(Special)—Recognizing the accomplishments of one of Louisiana Tech's most successful baseball teams, the college athletic department will present awards to the diamondmen for the first time. Baseball awards previously have been provided for the players through other sources.

An order has been placed for seven gold basebells and seven gold "T's" and if the emblems do not arrive in time for presentation before the present semester closes they will be mailed to the recipients, according to Athletic Director Eddie McLane.

There is no difference in the significance of the two types of awards, it was pointed out. Those who have received gold baseballs before will be given the gold letter emblems and the others will get the gold baseballs. Those to get awards are as follows:

The baseball team manager, Robert Phillips of Clinton, Ind., and Head Coach Ray E. Davis also will be presented gold baseballs.

The Bulldog baseball players wound up their season with a record-breaking total of 291 runs, averaging better than 11 scores in 26 contests played. Four engagements were cancelled because of rain.

Of the 26 games, the Techmen won 19, tied two and lost five. Southwestern Louisiana institute nosed out the local nine, 7-6, in the Bulldogs' only S. I. A. A. loss. Tech three times defeated the Lafayette diamondmen, however, to gain the edge in a four-game series. As a result, the Techmen claim a mythical conference championship along with their high-scoring honors.

But the Judges scored three times in the first half of the fourth to tie the score, a pair of White Sox errors figuring in the scoring. Dale Englehorn singled into center field. Athos Sada flied out to Hill. Cantrell grounded to Maxfield, who threw wild to Johnny Conway at second in an attempt to catch Englehorn, and Englehorn went on to third on the bad throw. Barney Lutz hit a hot liner to Maxfield, who made a bare-handed stop of the ball, but his throw to first was wild, allowing Englehorn to score and sending Cantrell to third and Lutz on to second. Cantrell scored on an outfield sacrifice fly by Frank Graves, and Lutz scored on a single over second base by Manager Andy Cohen.

Monroe cam back, however, to win on a single, a fielder's choice and sacrifice and an error. Bobby Schang, catching his first game of the season for the Sox, singled but was forced at second by Murrell Jones. Maxfield sacrificed Jones to second, and the error in handling Hill's drive to third allowed Jones to score.

The White Sox got all their hits in the second, third and fourth innings. Abbitt hurled stellar ball during the Sox' last four turns at bat, giving up no hits and retiring all batters in one-two-three order.

Kelton Maxfield, local left-hander, pitched good ball in allowing the Judges only eight hits, all singles. He walked only one batter.

Johnny Conway and Frank Hackney turned in good fielding performances for the locals, each figuring in nine fielding plays. Each handled seven assists and made two put outs and on a couple of occasions stopped hard hit balls that would have usually gone for hits.

Bob Engle and Barney Lutz both of Pine Bluff, led the hitting with three singles each in four times at bat, while Frank Hackney stood out at bat for the locals with a single and double in four times at bat.

SOX PLAY EL DORADO

The White Sox invade El Dorado this afternoon for a double header with Manager Frank O'Rourke's Lions in Rowland field, the first game being scheduled to get under way at 2:30 o'clock. John Yelovic and Floyd Speer, both right-handers, are slated to pitch for the Sox.

Manager Doug Taitt and club officials last night settled speculations by fans in regard to what the Sox were going to do with Beauford Rhea back on their hands and the over-supply of outfielders.

"Leave well enough alone," is the opinion of the White Sox pilot. "It's a bad policy to change any part of a lineup that is winning games and leading the league, and it might prove fatal to start tampering with a winning lineup."

Bob Hill, now in center field, was bought outright by the local club to strengthen the center field position and, in order to keep Hill, some class pitchers had to be released. Then Bill Cooper joined the locals, and Rhea was turned back on them. Bobby Schang came back from Fort Worth to give the Sox a good catching staff, and that meant somebody else would have to go in order to keep within the player limit. So Rhea isn't being put on the squad, and Cooper is being turned loose. It is unfortunate to have to make such decisions, club officials said, but they just can't see their way clear to chance messing up a top-flight combination.

TIGERS WALLOP BROWNS

DETROIT, May 27.—(AP)—Led by Charley Gehringer who hit a single, double, triple and home run in that order, the Detroit Tigers whipped the St. Louis Browns 12 to 5 in the first game of a scheduled double bill here today and climbed into sixth place in the American league. A severe rainstorm washed out the nightcap in the fourth inning with Detroit leading, 4 to 3.

Vernon Kennedy, obtained from Detroit in the recent 10-player trade, started for the Browns and was clubbed for 11 hits and eight runs before he was replaced by Bill Trotter in the fifth. Gehringer batted home five of the Detroit runs.

RED SOX WIN PAIR

BOSTON, May 27—(AP)—Five home runs swept the Boston Red Sox to twin victories over their ancient nemesis, Washington, today.

Lefty Grove, aided by Jimmy Foxx' sixth homer in the first inning and Joe Vosmik's round-tripper in the eighth with two on, outpointed Jimmy DeShong to win the opener, 11 to 4, for his fourth victory of the season against one defeat.

Jack Wilson was credited with the second game when Vosmik, first batter up against relief pitcher Pete Appleton in the ninth, homered against the left center field screen with the count two and two to give the Sox a 7 to 6 decision.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Eddie Brietz

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP)—While New York fight managers were busy outsmarting each other, John Roxborough signed and sealed Buddy Moore, sensational amateur heavyweight who is a ringer for Joe Louis in and out of the ring. . . . Insiders say the Lou Gehrig retirement is permanent, rain or shine. . . . Now that the Detroit front office has denied Hank Greenberg will manage the Tigers, New York writers are trying to root Charlie Gehringer into the job.

Cliff "stood in bed"

The other day when Bill Terry told the Giants to forget the curfew and go out and have themselves a time, all hands gave three cheers except Cliff Melton. . . . It turned out Cliff knew of only one spot where every third drink is on the house and that was in Baltimore. . . . The Giants were in Cincinnati.

Minneapolis writers are far too conservative. They say "Gophers show promise of real grid title class." Tell that to Sweeney. . . . There is a "Lou Gehrig tavern" in Astoria and a "Bill Terry's Heights Hotel" just out of Gulfport, Miss. . . . Henri [illegible], the bike race czar, will be the major domo in Tony Galento's camp at Asbury Park. The joint will feature the longest bar ever set up in a fight camp. . . . If Banks McFadden of Clemson and George Cafego of Tennessee aren't the best backs in the south this year, you can sue us for the old homestead.

Today's guest star

Dave Tillinghast, Greenville (S. C.) Piedmont: "I am wondering if figuring out how long the Louis-Galento fight will go isn't a form of second-guessing before the fight." . . . It are, Dave.

TECH DIAMONDMEN WILL GET AWARDS FOR FINE SEASON

Athletic Department To Reward Efforts Of Baseball Team For First Time

RUSTON, La., May 27.—(Special)—Recognizing the accomplishments of one of Louisiana Tech's most successful baseball teams, the college athletic department will present awards to the diamondmen for the first time. Baseball awards previously have been provided for the players through other sources.

An order has been placed for seven gold baseballs and seven gold "T's" and if the emblems do not arrive in time for presentation before the present semester closes they will be mailed to the recipients, according to Athletic Director Eddie McLane.

There is no difference in the significance of the two types of awards, it was pointed out. Those who have received gold baseballs before will be given the gold letter emblems and the others will get the gold baseballs. Those to get awards are as follows:

The baseball team manager, Robert Phillips of Clinton, Ind., and Head Coach Ray E. Davis also will be presented gold baseballs.

The Bulldog baseball players wound up their season with a record-breaking total of 291 runs, averaging better than 11 scores in 26 contests played. Four engagements were cancelled because of rain.

Of the 26 games, the Techmen won 19, tied two and lost five. Southwestern Louisiana institute nosed out the local nine, 7-6, in the Bulldogs' only S. I. A. A. loss. Tech three times defeated the Lafayette diamondmen, however, to gain the edge in a four-game series. As a result, the Techmen claim a mythical conference championship along with their high-scoring honors.

ANOTHER TEST FOR THE GOLFER AT M'GUIRE CLUB

—Morning World Staff Photograph

Here's another hole at the McGuire Park Golf club that will test the skill of players who compete in the Twin City tournament this week-end. Hit the ball too hard and it rolls into the lake, seen behind the green. Sand traps on both sides form another hazard. The trees and water form a beautiful background.

UNEARNED RUN WINS FOR SOX

But the Judges scored three times in the first half of the fourth to tie the score, a pair of White Sox errors figuring in the scoring. Dale Englehorn singled into center field. Athos Sada flied out to Hill. Cantrell grounded to Maxfield, who threw wild to Johnny Conway at second in an attempt to catch Englehorn, and Englehorn went on to third on the bad throw. Barney Lutz hit a hot liner to Maxfield, who made a barehanded stop of the ball, but his throw to first was wild, allowing Englehorn to score and sending Cantrell to third and Lutz on to second. Cantrell scored on an outfield sacrifice fly by Frank Graves, and Lutz scored on a single over second base by Manager Andy Cohen.

Monroe cam back, however, to win on a single, a fielder's choice and sacrifice and an error. Bobby Schang, catching his first game of the season for the Sox, singled but was forced at second by Murrell Jones. Maxfield sacrificed Jones to second, and the error in handling Hill's drive to third allowed Jones to score.

The White Sox got all their hits in the second, third and fourth innings. Abbitt hurled stellar ball during the Sox' last four turns at bat, giving up no hits and retiring all batters in one-two-three order.

Kelton Maxfield, local left-hander, pitched good ball in allowing the Judges only eight hits, all singles. He walked only one batter.

Johnny Conway and Frank Hackney turned in good fielding performances for the locals, each figuring in nine fielding plays. Each handled seven assists and made two put outs and on a couple of occasions stopped hard hit balls that would have usually gone for hits.

Bob Engle and Barney Lutz, both of Pine Bluff, led the hitting with three singles each in four times at bat, while Frank Hackney stood out at bat for the locals with a single and double in four times at bat.

SOX PLAY EL DORADO

The White Sox invade El Dorado this afternoon for a double header with Manager Frank O'Rourke's Lions in Rowland field, the first game being scheduled to get under way at 2:30 o'clock. John Yelovic and Floyd Speer, both right-handers, are slated to pitch for the Sox.

Manager Doug Taitt and club officials last night settled speculations by fans in regard to what the Sox were going to do with Beauford Rhea back on their hands and the over-supply of outfielders.

"Leave well enough alone," is the opinion of the White Sox pilot. "It's a bad policy to change any part of a lineup that is winning games and leading the league, and it might prove fatal to start tampering with a winning lineup."

Bob Hill, now in center field, was bought outright by the local club to strengthen the center field position and, in order to keep Hill, some class pitchers had to be released. Then Bill Cooper joined the locals, and Rhea was turned back on them. Bobby Schang came back from Fort Worth to give the Sox a good catching staff, and that meant somebody else would have to go in order to keep within the player limit. So Rhea isn't being put on the squad, and Cooper is being turned loose. It is unfortunate to have to make such decisions, club officials said, but they just can't see their way clear to chance messing up a top-flight combination.

TIGERS WALLOP BROWNS

DETROIT, May 27.—(AP)—Led by Charley Gehringer who hit a single, double, triple and home run in that order, the Detroit Tigers whipped the St. Louis Browns 12 to 5 in the first game of a scheduled double bill here today and climbed into sixth place in the American league. A severe rainstorm washed out the nightcap in the fourth inning with Detroit leading, 4 to 3.

Vernon Kennedy, obtained from Detroit in the recent 10-player trade, started for the Browns and was clubbed for 11 hits and eight runs before he was replaced by Bill Trotter in the fifth. Gehringer batted home five of the Detroit runs.

RED SOX WIN PAIR

BOSTON, May 27.—(AP)—Six home runs swept the Boston Red Sox to twin victories over their ancient nemesis, Washington, today.

Lefty Grove, aided by Jimmy Foxx' sixth homer in the first inning and Joe Vosmik's round-tripper in the eighth with two on, outpointed Jimmy Deshong to win the opener, 11 to 4, for his fourth victory of the season against one defeat.

Jack Wilson was credited with the second game when Vosmik, first batter up against relief pitcher Pete Appleton in the ninth, homered against the left center field screen with the count two and two to give the Sox a 7 to 6 decision.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Eddie Brietz

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP)—While New York fight managers were busy outsmarting each other, John Roxborough signed and sealed Buddy Moore, sensational amateur heavyweight who is a ringer for Joe Louis in and out of the ring. . . . Insiders say the Lou Gehrig retirement is permanent, rain or shine. . . . Now that the Detroit front office has denied Hank Greenberg will manage the Tigers, New York writers are trying to root Charlie Gehringer into the job.

Cliff "stood in bed."

The other day when Bill Terry told the Giants to forget the curfew and go out and have themselves a time, all hands gave three cheers except Cliff Melton. . . . It turned out Cliff knew of only one joint where every third drink is on the house and that was in Baltimore. . . . The Giants were in Cincinnati.

Minneapolis writers are far too conservative. They say: "Gophers show promise if not grid title class." Tell that to Sweeney. . . . There is a "Lou Gehrig tavern" in Astoria and a "Bill Terry's Heigh Ho club" just outside Gulfport, Miss. . . . Henry Mendel, the bike race czar, will be the major domo in Tony Galento's camp at Asbury Park. The joint will feature the longest bar ever set up in a fight camp. . . . If Banks McFadden of Clemson and George Cafego of Tennessee aren't the best backs in the south this year, you can sue us for the old homestead.

Today's guest star:

Dave Tillinghast, Greenville (S. C.) Piedmont: "I am wondering if figuring out how long the Louis-Galento fight will go isn't a form of second-guessing before the fight." . . . It are, Dave.

M'QUINN, MARTIN LEADING HITTERS OF BIG LEAGUES

Looks Like Chicago And St. Louis Players Freezing Out Others

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP)—With George McQuinn of the Browns and Pepper Martin of the Cardinals pacing the major league batters today, it begins to look like the Chicago and St. Louis players are working a freezeout against stars of other clubs.

Last week the leaders were Joe Kuhel of the Chicago White Sox and Augie Galan of the Cubs while the week before it was St. Louis in front in the persons of the Browns' Mel Mazzera and the Cardinals' Joe Medwick.

Including yesterday's games Martin had a percentage of .382 at the top of the National league and McQuinn had .369 in the American. Both these figures represented big drops over the previous highs.

Kuhel had a .413 mark last week but dropped to third in this week's rating on .359. However, the ten batters composing the junior circuit's upper strata showed only two changes, Ken Keltner and Hal Trosky of the Cleveland Indians replacing Joe Vosmik of the Boston Red Sox and Gee Walker of the White Sox.

There was more shuffling in the National league contingent. Besides Galan dropping to sixth place when his average tumbled from .408 to .344, four others dropped out of sight.

They were Leo Durocher of Brooklyn, Lonnie Frey of Cincinnati, Debs Garms of Boston and Merrill May of the Phillies and their places were taken by Rookie Fern Bell and little Lee Handley of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Ernie Lombardi of the Reds, last year's batting champion, and Martin.

Pepper, like Outfielder Bell, had an impressive average a week ago but did not qualify for the first ten compilation because he had appeared in an insufficient number of games.

Today's ranking first ten batters in each league:

BAER AND NOVA NEARING END OF TRAINING GRIND

Fight Thursday Night Looks Close; Maxie Installed As Favorite

By Sid Feder

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP)—Madcap Maxie Baer, who used to be a playboy, and serious Lou Nova, who never was, neared the end of their training grind today, but even at this late date their fight Thursday night still looked as close as ham and eggs.

These two family men from California are due to tangle 15 rounds or less (for the wives and kiddies) in Yankee Stadium, for the right to take on the winner of the June 28 Joe Louis-Tony Galento get-together in September.

Up to now, Madcap Maxie, who swears he's given up the pastimes of elbow-bending and whoopie-manufacturing for the home-like habit of rocking the cradle, has been installed as a slight favorite to take the young ex-college clouter. You can get $5 for $1 if you think the former heavyweight king will kayo the blond blaster, or he's favored at something like 2 to 3 to win the decision.

But Maxie has looked so woeful in training, has been belted around so consistently by sparmates, while Lou has shown such improvement, that there are any number of short-enders along Bash boulevard these days. Then, too, Maxie is about as unpredictable as the weather when he climbs into the ring.

For what it's worth, this corner likes Nova to take Baer apart over the full route, with the chance that he may also rock Maxie into dreamland.

Undoubtedly there will be plenty of empty seats when they climb into the ring, sometime around 9 p.m. (eastern standard time) for the folks around and about have given indication that they can take this fight or leave it alone. But Promoter Mike Jacobs probably will count about $100,000 in the till by the time the waltz starts, which, as they say along Jacobs' beach, will put plenty of herring in the pantry.

In addition to their mutual ambition to collect some $50,000 or so for a September title brawl, these two fellows have a lot in common right now. Each has shouted that he's out to produce so that the youngster'll be proud of daddy.

Maxie, of course, is 30, has been around a long time, and, while he has an advantage in experience, isn't as frisky as when you first heard him hollering about himself from the west. He hasn't fought since March of 1938, when he outpointed Tommy Farr in a return match, after losing to the game Welshman a year previously in London. He still talks a great fight, but you can't tell whether he or his legs believe it, although no one can deny that when he connects with that right hand swing, you might as well pick up the marbles.

Up at his menagerie-training camp at Nyack, N. Y., he has had the advantage of training almost daily with Jimmy Braddock, the man who took the heavyweight crown from Baer in '35, and who has particularly impressed on the ex-footballer the necessity of not letting Maxie twist him off balance.

TIGERS TO PLAY ALL-STARS TODAY

Negro Clubs To Clash This Afternoon At 3 O'clock In Casino Park

The Dubission Tigers, strong negro baseball club of Little Rock, Ark., and the Twin City All-Stars, negro aggregation composed of outstanding players on the Monroe All-Star and Brown Bombers' teams, will clash here this afternoon at 3 o'clock in Casino park.

The Little Rock aggregation has won seven games and lost only two thus far this season, while the All-Stars have won six and lost four.

The combined strength of the Bombers and Monroe All-Stars gives the Twin City team a fast combination and an equal chance to win from the highly touted Dubission club.

James "Lefty" Gordon, a southpaw, will start on the mound for the All-Stars while "Slim" Cunningham is slated to pitch for the Tigers.

Negro fans in West Monroe will be given free transportation to the local park, it was announced. West Monroe negroes expecting to attend the game are requested by Managers Hunter and Richardson to meet at Mary Cox store at 2 p.m.

Looks Like Chicago And St. Louis Players Freezing Out Others

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP)—With George McQuinn of the Browns and Pepper Martin of the Cardinals pacing the major league batters today, it begins to look like the Chicago and St. Louis players are working a freezeout against stars of other clubs.

Last week the leaders were Joe Kuhel of the Chicago White Sox and Augie Galan of the Cubs while the week before it was St. Louis in front in the persons of the Browns' Mel Mazzera and the Cardinals' Joe Medwick.

Including yesterday's games Martin had a percentage of .382 at the top of the National league and McQuinn had .369 in the American. Both these figures represented big drops over the previous highs.

Kuhel had a .413 mark last week but dropped to third in this week's rating on .359. However, the ten batters composing the junior circuit's upper strata showed only two changes. Ken Keltner and Hal Trosky of the Cleveland Indians replacing Joe Vosmik of the Boston Red Sox and Gee Walker of the White Sox.

There was more shuffling in the National league contingent. Besides Galan dropping to sixth place when his average tumbled from .408 to .344, four others dropped out of sight.

They were Leo Durocher of Brooklyn, Lonnie Frey of Cincinnati, Debs Garms of Boston and Merrill May of the Phillies and their places were taken by Rookie Fern Bell and little Lee Handley of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Ernie Lombardi of the Reds, last year's batting champion, and Martin.

Pepper, like Outfielder Bell, had an impressive average a week ago but did not qualify for the first ten compilation because he had appeared in an insufficient number of games.

Today's ranking first ten batters in each league:

SPORTS Chatter

BY GEO. H. LOFTON

to suggest a change that would help. Let's move our umpires about more often.

Umpires Welsh and Thomason have been here for a week, working three series. And that's too long for two umpires to work in cities the size of those in the Cotton States. It detracts from the game. You hear the fans downtown complaining about the same umpires being on the job continually. It creates familiarity between fans and the umpires, and familiarity breeds contempt, we're told.

The umpires who worked here the past week are as popular as any arbiters in the loop and their work has been good as a whole. But that has nothing to do with it. Bringing in new faces creates interest among the fans, and that's one objective in baseball. We hope President Harty can arrange his schedule in the future to move his umpires along after one or two series. We think the fans in every city in the league will approve.

THEY LOOK SET

With the reinforcements obtained during the past couple of weeks Monroe's White Sox appear set to give a good account of themselves in the current Cotton States league chase. In fact, the Sox appear as strong as any entry we've seen. We make that statement despite the apparent fact that the teams will be more evenly balanced this season than in several years and the race should be much closer than usual.

The addition of Leslie Dunkle gives Monroe a pitching staff that should be most effective. Dunkle and Maxfield are the southpaws, and both have shown plenty of stuff. The righthanders who should be consistent winners are John Yelovic, Ray Hoffman and Floyd Speer. Each rates a paragraph or two in his own right, and any club in the circuit would jump at the chance to grab off any one of the five.

The addition of Bobby Schang gives Monroe a catching staff that is tops. With Bobby and Hank Taylor dividing the work, and Taylor filling in in the outfield and thus bringing his potent stickwork into play, there's no doubt of the efficiency of this department.

The infield is generally conceded to be the best in the league; even many Greenville fans, despite the recent acquisition of Bobby Cummings, agree to that statement. Greenville, you know, usually reserves the right to claim the best inner defense in the circuit.

The Sox outfield, although not the best in the league, should stack up well enough. Bob Hill has started hitting again, and there's no question about his defensive value. Frank Hargrove also is hitting well and his work afield has improved greatly. And Doug Taitt can hold down his end of the bargain any time. As we pointed out Taylor is valuable timber to have on hand to substitute in the outer gardens.

Again, the club owners are to be congratulated on their initiative in filling the gaps as they appear. They haven't waited for any "parent club" to send them the needed material. They've wisely shopped for talent here and there and again have come up with a combination that appears a sure bet to finish well up in the first division.

SHORT TAKES

Oscar Vitt, heap big chief of the Indians, is squawking because the Yankees won't give him some ball layers so he can beat the Yankees.

This sore arm business is still a mystery. Dizzy Dean comes back strong, while "Schoolboy" Rowe and Carl Hubbell are effective one day and batted out of the box the next.

In the kindliest fashion may we suggest Monroe club owners call a directors' meeting and make up their minds when they want to start their ball games? Max Moses, one of the owners, seconds the motion.

The News-Star—World will again participate in the poll to select an all-star football squad to play the pro champions next fall.

Monroe, Clarksdale, Greenville and Hot Springs and El Dorado fighting it out for the fourth spot is our size-up of the Cotton States finish this year. Based, of course, on an early season glimpse.

Slightly more than five thousand fans turned out to see the Cards and the Reds open their series in St. Louis with first place at stake. The game would have drawn more customers in Monroe.

THE SMOOTH SURFACE AT NO. 8 GREEN AT M'GUIRE

—Morning World Staff Photograph

Number eight green at McGuire Park Golf club, where the Twin City tournament will be played this week-end, is shown in the above photograph. It's as "smooth as silk," as can be seen, with the small lake behind it forming a beautiful natural hazard.

Precautions now being taken to reduce the likelihood of blindness include the putting of nitrate of silver in a baby's eyes at birth, wearing of goggles in hazardous occupations, and use of non-shatterable glass for spectacles.

The Bible has been reprinted more than any other book. Each of the early printers inaugurated his career by running off a few copies of the Bible, as if to insure success in his future publications.

The
Major McGuire Park Golf Course

Is one of the important recreational facilities dedicated to the welfare of the people of West Monroe and Monroe.

Sponsored by the City of West Monroe, this institution provides healthful and wholesome outdoor recreation for the business and professional men and women of the two cities.

Its value in encouraging fellowships conducive to a finer and better understanding between citizens of both communities can not be overestimated.

The Golf Course serves to bring before the public at large and the people throughout this entire region the opportunities afforded in this area for outdoor activities which are highly essential to properly rounded out community life and endeavor.

This enterprise is of the same order as the organized work among the citizens designed to stimulate a higher social and cultural life. The encouragement given to wholesome recreation, the reading of good books, instruction in music amongst children and maintenance of a high standard of personal hygiene, all have their reaction conducive to a higher type of citizenship.

DODGERS WHIP BEES

BROOKLYN, May 27.—(AP)—Luke Hamlin, the veteran right-hander who won his first three games this season and then lost the next three he worked, held the Boston Bees to five hits today as the Brooklyn Dodgers punched out a 4 to 2 victory.

The contest was touch and go until the last of the fifth when the Dodgers chased Lou Fette and Dick Errickson, forcing Milt Shoffner to finish.

BUCS TRAMPLE CUBS

CHICAGO, May 27.—(AP)—Truett (Rip) Sewell held the Chicago Cubs to five hits today while the Pittsburgh Pirates whipped the National league champions again, 9 to 1, giving the invaders two one-sided victories in a row.

The defeat, the third straight for the Cubs, slid them into fourth place and put Pittsburgh third in the standings.

Sewell was never in serious trouble, walking only one man as he registered his fifth triumph.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 27.—(AP)—The wheat market ran into another burst of profit taking at the opening today and although prices were lowered fractionally the selling was easily absorbed.

Overnight rains in the spring wheat belt encouraged selling after yesterday's sharp advance to new highs for the season.

Wheat opened unchanged to 5-8 lower, July 78 3-4 to 1-2, September 78 1-2 to 1-4, and corn was 1-8 to 1-2 lower, July 51 3-8 to 1-4, Sept. 52 7-8 to 5-8.

Although rallying slightly from the day's low, wheat closed 1-2 to 7-8 lower than yesterday, July and September 78 to 78 1-8. Corn 5-8 to 1 1-8 down, July 51 to 50 3-4, September 52 3-8 to 1-4, oats 5-8 to 3-4 lower.

The Willamette meteorite, weighing 15 1-2 tons, actually was stolen in 1903, and moved almost a mile from the spot where it originally rested.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP)—With steels well out in front, the stocks market today put on a selective forward push that boosted favorites fractions to a point or so.

Encouraging to the brokerage fraternity was a pickup in volume as compared with recent sluggish Saturdays. Transfers for the two hours approximated 350,000 shares.

While boardrooms were far from crowded—many traders left for a lengthy holiday in view of the closing of the exchange Tuesday for the observance of Memorial day—those who appeared seemed much more cheerful than in the past several weeks.

Important foreign markets were on recess today and will remain shut down Monday for the Whitsuntide celebration.

Continuance of hopes for business tax revision were said to have been the principal market tonic. Inspiration was derived from the testimony of Treasury Secretary Morgenthau before the house ways and means committee in the forenoon in which he cited the undistributed profits levy as a tax irritant and suggested study of a number of other federal imports with the possibility of amendments beneficial to industry.

Steels were buoyed by indications next week's mill operations would enjoy another upswing. Larger production, it was suggested, might go a long way to offset the earnings effects of price cutting.

Motors managed to post modest improvement although this group had to contend with the Briggs Manufacturing strike at Detroit which has thrown some 70,000 employes out of work in companies that obtain accessories from this concern.

Utilities were narrow, as were aircrafts, oils, coppers and rubbers.

A little backward were United States Rubber, American Smelting, United States Gypsum, Johns-Manville and General Electric.

A notch higher in the curb market were Lockheed, American Gas and Electric, Standard Steel Spring and Pantepec Oil.

Oil And Gas News

NEW ORLEANS, May 27.—(AP)—An active summer was indicated for the Louisiana oil industry today with 107 drilling permits issued during the past three weeks by the minerals division of the department of conservation, 63 of them for operations in the coastal area.

Since some of the deep wells in both north and south Louisiana require three or four months to complete, some of the operations for which permits have already been granted will run into the early fall.

During the past week the weekly report of the department showed 43 permits were issued, of which 30 were for operations in coastal territory. Reflecting an intensive drilling campaign in the Ville Platte field in Evangeline parish, Continental Oil company obtained six permits for that area; four permits were issued for the university field in East Baton Rouge parish as production was obtained north of a dry hole that had pegged the field in that direction, and another permit was granted for a wildcat well in the same parish.

Other south Louisiana permits were distributed through twelve parishes.

Six of the 13 permits issued for north Louisiana were in Caddo parish, making a three-week total of 20 permits for the Caddo field. Permits were also issued for new operations in Bienville, Grant, Catahoula and Ouachita parishes.

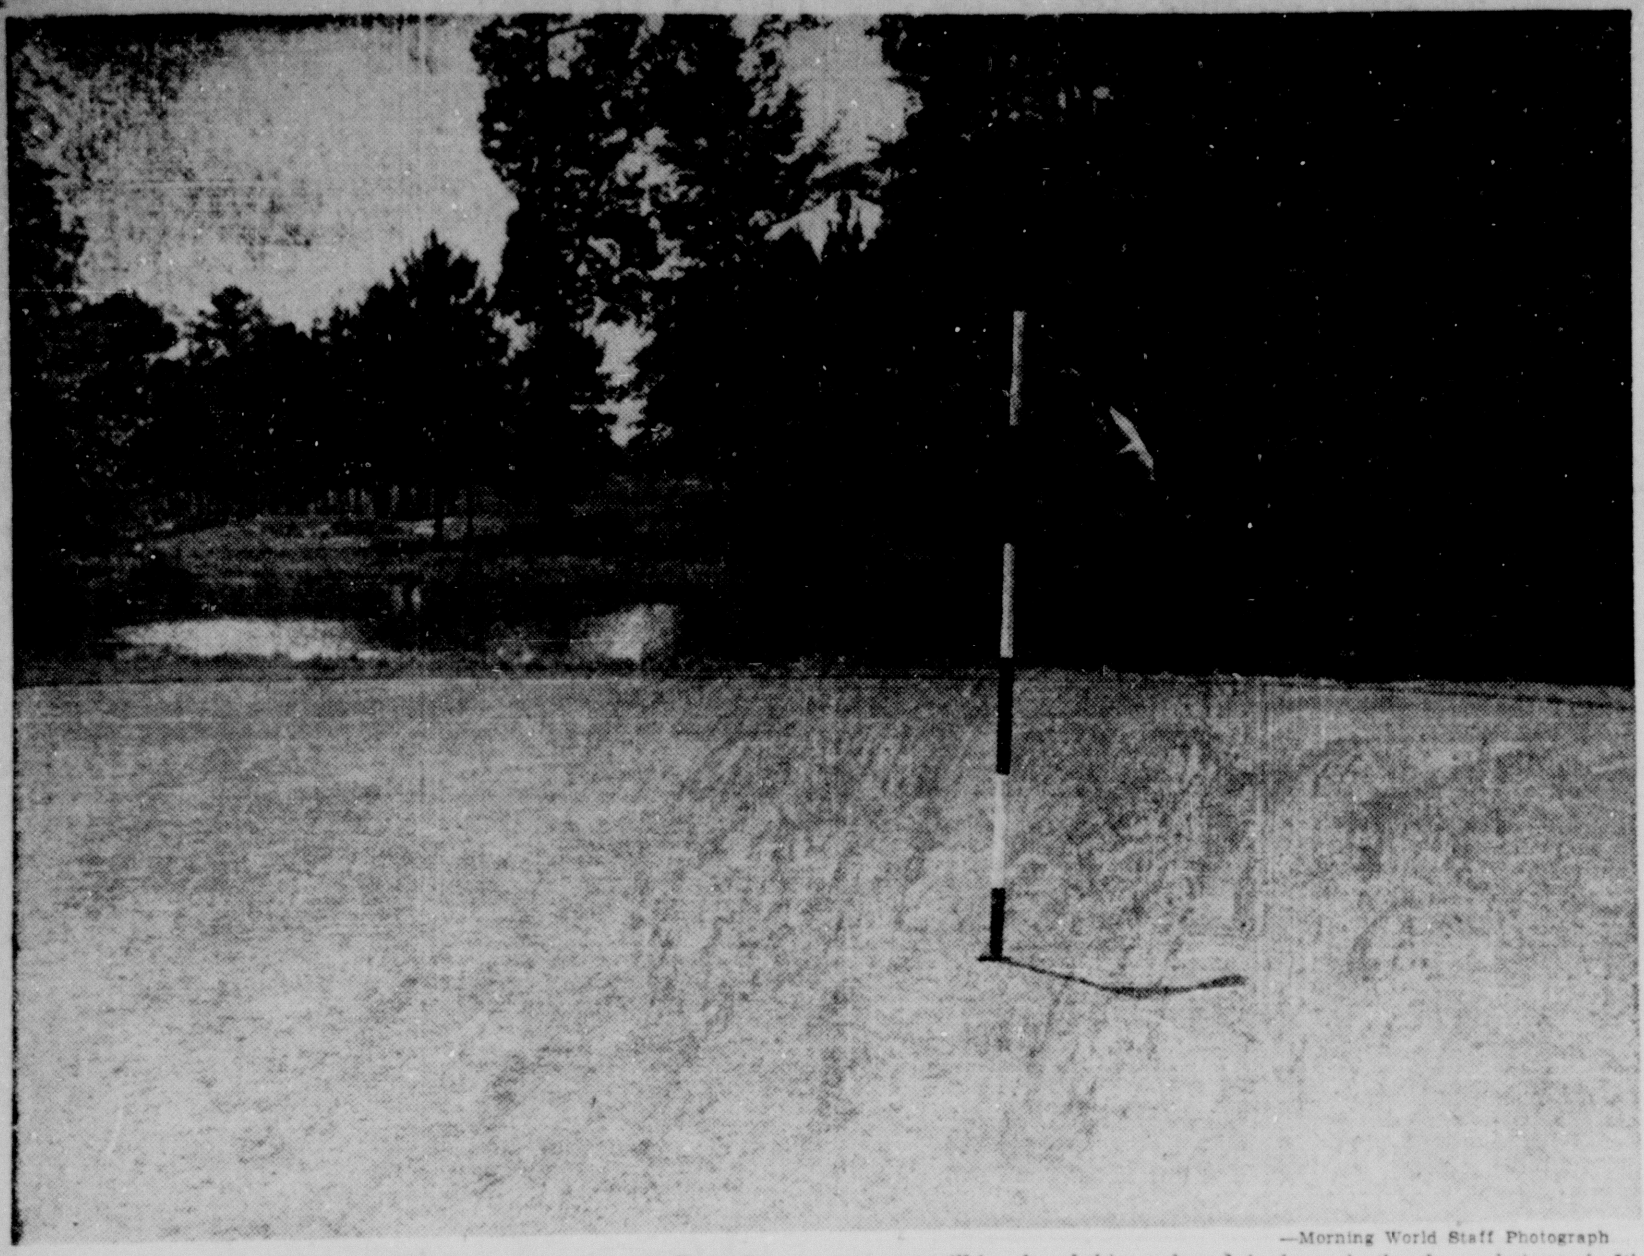
THE SMOOTH SURFACE AT NO. 8 GREEN AT M'GUIRE



—Morning World Staff Photograph

Number eight green at McGuire Park Golf club, where the Twin City tournament will be played this week-end, is shown in the above photograph. It's as "smooth as silk," as can be seen, with the small lake behind it forming a beautiful natural hazard.

Precautions now being taken to reduce the likelihood of blindness include the putting of nitrate of silver in a baby's eyes at birth, wearing of goggles in hazardous occupations, and use of non-shatterable glass for spectacles.

The Bible has been reprinted more than any other book. Each of the early printers inaugurated his career by running off a few copies of the Bible, as if to insure success in his future publications.

The

Major McGuire Park Golf Course

Is one of the important recreational facilities dedicated to the welfare of the people of West Monroe and Monroe.

Sponsored by the City of West Monroe, this institution provides healthful and wholesome outdoor recreation for the business and professional men and women of the two cities.

Its value in encouraging fellowships conducive to a finer and better understanding between citizens of both communities can not be overestimated.

The Golf Course serves to bring before the public at large and the people throughout this entire region the opportunities afforded in this area for outdoor activities which are highly essential to properly rounded out community life and endeavor.

This enterprise is of the same order as the organized work among the citizens designed to stimulate a higher social and cultural life. The encouragement given to wholesome recreation, the reading of good books, instruction in music amongst children and maintenance of a high standard of personal hygiene, all have their reaction conducive to a higher type of citizenship.

DODGERS WHIP BEES

BROOKLYN, May 27.—(AP)—Luke Hamlin, the veteran right-hander who won his first three games this season and then lost the next three he worked, held the Boston Bees to five hits today as the Brooklyn Dodgers punched out a 4 to 2 victory.

The contest was touch and go until the last of the fifth when the Dodgers chased Lou Fette and Dick Errickson, forcing Milt Shoffner to finish.

BUCS TRAMPLE CUBS

CHICAGO, May 27.—(AP)—Truett (Rip) Sewell held the Chicago Cubs to five hits today while the Pittsburgh Pirates whipped the National league champions again, 9 to 1, giving the invaders two one-sided victories in a row.

The defeat, the third straight for the Cubs, slid them into fourth place and put Pittsburgh third in the standings.

Sewell was never in serious trouble, walking only one man as he registered his fifth triumph.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP)—With steels well out in front, the stocks market today put on a selective forward push that boosted favorites fractions to a point or so.

Encouraging to the brokerage fraternity was a pickup in volume as compared with recent sluggish Saturdays. Transfers for the two hours approximated 350,000 shares.

While boardrooms were far from crowded—many traders left for a lengthy holiday in view of the closing of the exchange Tuesday for the observance of Memorial day—those who appeared seemed much more cheerful than in the past several weeks.

Important foreign markets were on recess today and will remain shut down Monday for the Whitsuntide celebration.

Continuance of hopes for business tax revision were said to have been the principal market tonic. Inspiration was derived from the testimony of Treasury Secretary Morgenthau before the house ways and means committee in the forenoon in which he cited the undistributed profits levy as a tax irritant and suggested study of a number of other federal imports with the possibility of amendments beneficial to industry.

Steels were buoyed by indications next week's mill operations would enjoy another upswing. Larger production, it was suggested, might go a long way to offset the earnings effects of price cutting.

Motors managed to post modest improvement, although this group had to contend with the Briggs Manufacturing strike at Detroit which has thrown some 70,000 employes out of work in companies that obtain accessories from this concern.

Utilities were narrow, as were aircrafts, oils, coppers and rubbers.

A trifle backward were United States Rubber, American Smelting, United States Gypsum, Johns-Manville and General Electric.

A notch higher in the curb market were Lockhead, American Gas and Electric, Standard Steel Spring and Pantepec Oil.

Oil And Gas News

NEW ORLEANS, May 27.—(AP)—An active summer was indicated for the Louisiana oil industry today with 107 drilling permits issued during the past three weeks by the minerals division of the department of conservation, 63 of them for operations in the coastal area.

Since some of the deep wells in both north and south Louisiana require three or four months to complete, some of the operations for which permits have already been granted will run into the early fall.

During the past week the weekly report of the department showed 43 permits were issued, of which 30 were for operations in coastal territory. Reflecting an intensive drilling campaign in the Ville Platte field in Evangeline parish, Continental Oil company obtained six permits for that area, four permits were issued for the university field in East Baton Rouge parish as production was obtained north of a dry hole that had pegged the field in that direction, and another permit was granted for a wildcat well in the same parish.

Other south Louisiana permits were distributed through twelve parishes.

Six of the 13 permits issued for north Louisiana were in Caddo parish, making a three weeks total of 30 permits for the Caddo fields. Permits were also issued for new operations in Bienville, Grant, Catahoula, Ouachita, Union and Webster parishes.

Twelve new wells in Louisiana oil fields, with total initial daily production of 4,549 barrels were listed. Ten of the producers were in south Louisiana.

New producers with date of completion ranging from April 26 to May 22, were:

Eola, Avoyelles parish, Sid W. Richardson, No. 4 Haas, 584 barrels.

Jennings, Acadia parish, Shell Oil company, Inc., No. 6 Conover community, 241 barrels; Burton-Noble-Baker, No. 7 Robira et-al, 613 barrels.

Zwolle, Sabine parish, the Hunter company, No. 9 Bowman-Hicks, 66 barrels.

Permits issued for operations in south Louisiana were:

East Baton Rouge parish—W. V. Bowles, No. 1 Richard community, 2330 feet north and 160 feet east of the southwest corner of section 4S-7S-1E; George H. Echols, No. 1 Duplantier, 330 feet north and 300 feet west at right angles from the southeast corner of the Duplantier 10-acre tract in section 70, both in township 7S-1W; William Helis et-al, No. D-1 Duplantier, 1,475.3 feet at North 81 degrees 48 minutes, in section 66-7S-1E; Zachary Oil of Louisiana, Inc., No. 1 Ratcliff, beginning at northeast corner of section 19, thence 220 feet southeasterly and 210 feet southwesterly at right angles, in section 45-4S-1E.

Evangeline parish-Continental Oil company, No. 1 August Attalas; No. 2 A. M. Fontenot; No. 3 Martha Haas; No. 3 Mrs. N. H. Hirsch; No. 2 Opelousas-St. Landry-DeRouen and No. 2 J. E. Vidrine, trustee No. 2.

Iberia parish-Canal Oil company, Inc., No. 12 Bernard; William Helis, No. 8 Bolivar, and No. 7 Schwing.

KING, QUEEN LEAVE GUARDS, MINGLE WITH CROWD

Northeast Junior College Students Are Making Good

The success of "pre-med" students of Northeast Junior college has been such as to please their instructor, Dr. Kathryn M. Wolfe, who Saturday discussed some of the former students of the institution.

She spoke of early days when Dr. Harold Wilenzick was a freshman "pre-med" and who later on graduated from the University of Tennessee medical school and is now a well established Monroe dentist.

J. W. Cunningham, another student, passed the state board examination October 15, 1936, and is now a registered pharmacist at a DeSiard street drug store.

Byron Bayne graduated from the Gradwohl School of Laboratory Technique in St. Louis in 1936, and is now X-ray and laboratory technician at a Monroe clinic.

Dr. Max Fink graduated from the Southern College of Optometry at Memphis this year and is now an optometrist in Lafayette. Roland Fink will be a candidate for graduation from the state institution later this year.

Paul Colvin, of the Northeast Center class of 1935, is graduating from the United States Naval academy at Annapolis, Md., June 1. Dr. Wood Scott, now house physician at St. Francis, graduated from Louisiana State medical school in 1937 and interned at Charity hospital, New Orleans. Dr. Scott will be located with Drs. Jones and Jones of Monroe when he has completed his year at St. Francis.

Charles Mosely, Jr., receives the M. D. degree from L. S. U. medical school this June. He will be interned at Charity hospital in New Orleans. Recently he took an interesting trip on the Caribbean sea.

Walter Culpepper, Jr., is a junior in Tulane medical school. Burdett Trichel will be a junior in L. S. U. medical school the coming year. Theron Willis and Faheam Cannon have completed their freshman year at L. S. U. medical school.

LAKE A. BARBER IS HONORED AT DINNER

A farewell supper was held by the Ouachita lodge of Odd Fellows in the W. O. W. hall Friday night to do honor to Lake A. Barber, noble grand, who is removing to Dallas, Tex., at once.

Through the efforts and foresight of Mr. Barber, the local lodge has made unusual strides, having grown from 17 charter members 13 months ago to a total membership now of 85.

J. Norman Coon acted as master-of-ceremonies and after the meal had been served, presentation was made from the lodge of a handsome silver coffee serving set.

A class of four was given the third degree.

COMMENCEMENT HELD AT L. T. I.

Class Of Three Boys Receive High School Diplomas Friday Night

With impressive exercises the second annual high school commencement was held at the Louisiana Training institute Friday night when a class of three received diplomas. They were Perry McCrory, Leo Dupuis and James Kent. The speaker of the evening was President A. A. Fredericks of Louisiana State Normal college, Natchitoches, who delivered an inspiring talk.

The Leche gymnasium, scene of the exercises, was made beautiful with a profusion of sweet peas, hydrangeas, gladioli, ferns and roses.

Mr. Fredericks stated that three men were engaged in work on an edifice and each was asked successively what he was doing. The first man declared he was making a living, the second man said he was carrying bricks; while the third said he was building a cathedral.

"You boys in the Louisiana Training institute are building a cathedral, the cathedral of good character if you are building aright," he said. "You are moulding character that is to endure. In my observation it appears that the youth of today are more serious-minded than in years past. They are facing the future with earnestness and with a desire to make good in a majority of cases."

The speaker then told the well known story embodied in "Acres of Diamonds," in which he said that a man, owner of a good piece of property, sold it for a song and invested the proceeds in an evidently worthless piece of land under the misguided belief that it was underlaid with diamonds. But there were never diamonds found and he died in poverty. But the original property he owned in actuality did yield diamonds and made the man who then owned it become exceedingly wealthy. He drew an application of the story in which he urged that the resources that one possesses be utilized rather than to ever be looking for sudden fame and fortune off at some distant place.

"What is success? Were an artist seeking to paint a picture to typify success, where would he go for a subject? Would he pick out the wealthiest man or woman? Would he seek the one whose name appears most often in newspaper headlines? I think not. He would find real success lower down in the ranks among those who are building character and unfolding their innate resources day by day as life moves onward. Do not regard that with a diploma that you have learned it all. Life has only just begun; you must ever continue to learn and to develop character."

He paid a compliment to the progress of the institute, to Dr. Dillon, to School Principal John Jones and to G. W. Trisler, leader of the band, for the excellence of their work.

Diplomas were given by Principal Jones, who told the boys that their diplomas may mean that they can thereby enter college and secure positions but that they still will ever have to fight life's battle and that he hoped that they would ever prove a credit to the Louisiana Training institute.

The invocation was by Dr. A. E. Prince, pastor of the West Monroe First Baptist church.

Perry McCrory rendered an oration, "What Graduation Means to Us," and there was a baritone solo, "Old Folks at Home," by Leo Dupuis.

A clarinet solo, "Comin' Through the Rye," was rendered by Mr. McCrory.

"Bells Across the Meadows," by the Louisiana Training institute band, and the benediction concluded the program.

COLORED HIGH INVITES PUBLIC

Baccalaureate Exercises, Exhibits, Featured Sunday

The Monroe Colored High school class of 1939 will have its baccalaureate exercises in the school auditorium this afternoon at 3 o'clock. A class of 53 members, the largest in the school's history, will receive diplomas at the commencement later in the week.

One of the features of the baccalaureate exercises will be a showing of exhibits of the past school year. Work performed by students of the school will be displayed, such as drawing, cookery, mechanical work and a variety of other lines will be on display in the school building and the public, both colored and white, will be asked to make careful inspection.

It is believed that commendation of the work will lead to a greater effort on the part of students to even exceed next year the very creditable showing that is now on exhibition.

The seventh grade of the school will graduate a class of 34 who will enter the high school department in the fall. The seventh grade commencement will be held on the night of May 31.

Northeast Junior College Students Are Making Good

The success of "pre-med" students of Northeast Junior college has been such as to please their instructor, Dr. Kathryn M. Wolfe, who Saturday discussed some of the former students of the institution.

She spoke of early days when Dr. Harold Wilenzick was a freshman "pre-med" and who later on graduated from the University of Tennessee medical school and is now a well established Monroe dentist.

J. W. Cunningham, another student, passed the state board examination October 15, 1936, and is now a registered pharmacist at a DeSiard street drug store.

Byron Bayne graduated from the Gradwohl School of Laboratory Technique in St. Louis in 1936, and is now X-ray and laboratory technician at a Monroe clinic.

Dr. Max Fink graduated from the Southern College of Optometry at Memphis this year and is now an optometrist in Lafayette. Roland Fink will be a candidate for graduation from the state institution later this year.

Paul Colvin, of the Northeast Center class of 1935, is graduating from the United States Naval academy at Annapolis, Md., June 1. Dr. Wood Scott, now house physician at St. Francis, graduated from Louisiana State medical school in 1937 and interned at Charity hospital, New Orleans. Dr. Scott will be located with Drs. Jones and Jones of Monroe when he has completed his year at St. Francis.

Charles Mosely, Jr., receives the M. D. degree from L. S. U. medical school this June. He will be interned at Charity hospital in New Orleans. Recently he took an interesting trip on the Caribbean sea.

Walter Culpepper, Jr., is a junior in Tulane medical school. Burdett Trichel will be a junior in L. S. U. medical school the coming year. Theron Willis and Faheam Cannon have completed their freshman year at L. S. U. medical school.

LAKE A. BARBER IS HONORED AT DINNER

A farewell supper was held by the Ouachita lodge of Odd Fellows in the W. O. W. hall Friday night to do honor to Lake A. Barber, noble grand, who is removing to Dallas, Tex., at once.

Through the efforts and foresight of Mr. Barber, the local lodge has made unusual strides, having grown from 17 charter members 13 months ago to a total membership now of 85.

J. Norman Coon acted as master-of-ceremonies and after the meal had been served, presentation was made from the lodge of a handsome silver coffee serving set.

COMMENCEMENT HELD AT L. T. I.

Class Of Three Boys Receive High School Diplomas Friday Night

With impressive exercises the second annual high school commencement was held at the Louisiana Training institute Friday night when a class of three received diplomas. They were Perry McCrory, Leo Dupuis and James Kent. The speaker of the evening was President A. A. Fredericks of Louisiana State Normal college, Natchitoches, who delivered an inspiring talk.

The Leche gymnasium, scene of the exercises, was made beautiful with a profusion of sweet peas, hydrangeas, gladioli, ferns and roses.

Mr. Fredericks stated that three men were engaged in work on an edifice and each was asked successively what he was doing. The first man declared he was making a living; the second man said he was carrying bricks; while the third said he was building a cathedral.

"You boys in the Louisiana Training institute are building a cathedral, the cathedral of good character if you are building aright," he said. "You are moulding character that is to endure. In my observation it appears that the youth of today are more serious-minded than in years past. They are facing the future with earnestness and with a desire to make good in a majority of cases."

The speaker then told the well known story embodied in "Acres of Diamonds," in which he said that a man, owner of a good piece of property, sold it for a song and invested the proceeds in an evidently worthless piece of land under the misguided belief that it was underlaid with diamonds. But there were never diamonds found and he died in poverty. But the original property he owned in actuality did yield diamonds and made the man who then owned it become exceedingly wealthy. He drew an application of the story in which he urged that the resources that one possesses be utilized rather than to ever be looking for sudden fame and fortune off at some distant place.

"What is success? Were an artist seeking to paint a picture to typify success, where would he go for a subject? Would he pick out the wealthiest man or woman? Would he seek the one whose name appears most often in newspaper headlines? I think not. He would find real success lower down in the ranks among those who are building character and unfolding their innate resources day by day as life moves onward. Do not regard that with a diploma that you have learned it all. Life has only just begun; you must ever continue to learn and to develop character."

He paid a compliment to the progress of the institute, to Dr. Dillon, to School Principal John Jones, and to G. W. Trisler, leader of the band, for the excellence of their work.

Diplomas were given by Principal Jones, who told the boys that their diplomas may mean that they can thereby enter college and secure positions but that they still will ever have to fight life's battle and that he hoped that they would ever prove a credit to the Louisiana Training institute.

The invocation was by Dr. A. E. Prince, pastor of the West Monroe First Baptist church.

Perry McCrory rendered an oration, "What Graduation Means to Us," and there was a baritone solo, "Old Folks at Home," by Leo Dupuis.

A clarinet solo, "Comin' Through the Rye," was rendered by Mr. McCrory.

"Bells Across the Meadows," by the Louisiana Training institute band, and the benediction concluded the program.

George Summerlin, Formerly Of Rayville, Will Have Hands Full Soon Entertaining Royalty

When women jerk off their little jackets and sit around limp and wilted, then you know that the dread hot weather has arrived. We know too, that summer has begun when business women commence to look around for vacation togs and study maps and time tables.

Vacations are not always the happy periods we anticipate. Very often we return home as mad as Donald Duck, and determine to stick to the home fireside at any cost. Travel is what you make it and if you would make it the most pleasant and broadening experience in life, check over your mental as well as your actual baggage before you start. When you make that trip this summer leave your worries behind. Say to yourself, "I'm out to enjoy myself and I don't give a hang whether I need a shave, whether my nose is shiny, or whether the water is cold or hot." Pack up with your mental baggage the conviction that one of the great benefits of travel is pleasure and enjoyment, and whether you travel for business, culture, education, or any one of a score of other reasons, keep that conviction throughout your journey.

Bessie Biedenharn and son, Henry, Jr., like so many others, are Mexico City minded these days. For their information and for many others who are planning an overland trip to Mexico, the information imparted by those who have recently returned will be most helpful. In the first place the Mexican consulate at the border issues a tourist card. It costs $1. It permits you to enter and enables you to leave. The card, however is issued only to pleasure travelers. You can take into Mexico 1,000 cigarettes, 100 cigars or a pound of tobacco. Take your camera along, by all means, is the advice offered. Wear walking shoes that will be comfortable—there are many inviting and interesting spots that are reached only afoot.

For clothes one is advised to take the same kind of garments as worn here in the early spring. In Mexico City proper it is usually cool, and a man wearing a white suit is stared at in the street, or pitied for not having clothes sufficient to keep warm in. Americans are warned against drinking water in small towns. Instead, some travelers advise drinking Mexican beer or Garci-Crespo water, a light mineral water with good thirst-quenching properties. For the good of your stomach you should go slow on Mexican food. There are plenty of high class places, however, where Americans can obtain food suited to their Anglo-Saxon taste. Although Mexican food is most delicious, one is advised against eating more than one meal a day and that one at noon rather than in the evening.

Travis and Kitty Oliver, Sara Cole Morrison and Frances Smelser, returning home Tuesday from Mexico City, will bring back many interesting stories. They found the Thieves' Market one of the most fascinating places. In the market can be found almost anything one desires—gorgeous glassware, silver and jewelry. Most of the goods are stolen but the business is legitimate and tourists pick up many valuables at astonishingly low prices. They visited the pyramids, the cathedrals and many places off the beaten trail. One of these out-of-the-way places is the Valley of Malinalco, southwest of Mexico City. Here centuries ago early people built a shrine and stronghold. Excavators have discovered important sculpture and hidden chambers among the ruins.

One of the busiest men in Washington today, a man known to many Monroe people, is George Summerlin, brother of Colonel John Summerlin of Rayville. As chief of the state department's division of protocol, he is in charge of one of the fullest calendars that ever confronted the nation's official receptionist. Mr. Summerlin has a thousand details to attend to in preparation for the visit of their Britannic majesties, King George and Queen Elizabeth, who will arrive in Washington early in June. Responsibility for the reception and welfare of these distinguished visitors rests on the shoulders of Mr. Summerlin. For each entourage, a program of split second accuracy must be worked out. When the big day comes there must be no fumbling, no mishaps and above all, no "incidents." Mr. Summerlin will be in charge from the moment the border is crossed. The state department has a small force of special agents, men whose names never appear in print, assigned to guard the royal couple. One problem that confronts Mr. Summerlin is that of housing their majesties' entourage—the ladies-in-waiting, the gentlemen of the bed chamber, the knights-at-arms, the supernummeries and the valets and ladies' maids. Obviously they can't all be taken care of in the White House.

Mr. Summerlin is planning a visit to Monroe and Rayville later in the summer.

Ruth Rasbury will be off for California this week with a busy summer awaiting her as assistant to Madame Belle Cutler of Chicago, who maintains a studio during the summer in Los Angeles. Ruth studied under Madame Cutler for four years and when the time came for her to seek an assistant she immediately contacted her former pupil. Ruth's party, motoring westward, will include her daughter, Marietta, who possesses a gorgeous voice and will study this summer, and two pupils, Donald Stewart and Dorothy Steen.

Ho, hum—what a small place is this little world of ours after all. Visiting in Mexico City last week, Sara Cole Morrison met a young Canadian, Elliott Langley. Following introductions, a tour of the night clubs was enjoyed, and during the course of the evening it was discovered that Mr. Langley was a nephew of H. H. Brinsmade of this city. He was in Mexico City in the interest of his father's importing business, in Toronto and Vancouver.

Monroe is continually entertaining angels unaware. Like ships that pass in the night, real personages come and go before one realizes the important work they are doing and the enviable niche they have carved for themselves in the field of art, literature and otherwise. George Baker of New York City, for instance, visited his mother, Mrs. H. B. Warden, of Delhi, and was gone before friends realized he had been in their midst. Mr. Baker is a commercial artist of distinction and note. His work appears regularly in the leading magazines of the country and especially the Red Book. He studied painting under Jean Paul Lorenz, Paris, France, for five years and make such remarkable progress his work was accepted for exhibition at the Paris salon, the Royal academy, the National academy and the American Artists' salon in Chicago. Mr. Baker has led a most interesting life—a strange mixture of adventure, romance and culture. As the grandson of a lower Mississippi steamboat captain, Captain William Baker, who distinguished himself during the War Between the State, he often made river trips with him to St. Louis and New Orleans.

Mrs. Ruth Rasbury Presents Recital

The highlight of Mrs. Ruth Rasbury's recital at the Central Grammar school auditorium was her rendition of Verdi's "Ah Fors' e Lui." She was a charming figure in black chiffon draperies and sang this dramatic number with ease and assurance. Her voice, highly cultivated and possessing dramatic qualities, was particularly suited to this particular number.

Mrs. Rasbury's pupils, presented in this ambitious recital, have acquired the self-assurance stressed in all her teachings. A series of recitals during the past year has placed these youthful voice students on firm ground. Each number was delightfully rendered, especially noteworthy being Don Stewart's singing of Mendelssohn's "It Is Enough." He received an ovation from a most enthusiastic audience and responded with an equally enjoyable encore.

The entire recital was delightfully received by an appreciative audience that packed the auditorium.

Current Literature Book Club Meets

The Current Literature Book club held its final meeting of the club year at the home of Mrs. J. E. Peters Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. G. D. Holland, president, presided over the meeting. Final reports were made by the retiring officers and chairmen of standing committees.

Mrs. G. M. Heidenreich reviewed in the most interesting manner "Disputed Passage," by Lloyd C. Douglas.

She said: "It began that first day of John Wesley Beaver's medical course. He was a first year man. Dr. Milton Forrester, called Tubby, was the great surgeon addressing his new class at the start of his anatomy lectures. The two strong men clashed, and for years Jack Beaver bore, as best as he could, the dislike, the personal antagonism of his professional superior. From his own disputed passage Jack Beaver learned great lessons—lessons of patience and fortitude, of devotion to his profession and humility."

Mrs. R. L. Conway conducted the club "Art Hobby show." Rugs, glassware, bedspreads and many more articles were displayed by the versatile club members.

Mrs. Holland introduced the president for next year, Mrs. F. T. Harkness. After her response Mrs. Harkness introduced the officers for the year of 1939-40 as follows: Vice-president, Mrs. J. E. Peters; secretary, Mrs. William Whitfield; treasurer, Mrs. R. F. Seiler; historian, Mrs. Mike John, Jr.; reporter, Mrs. G. W. Guerriero, and parliamentarian, Mrs. J. E. Kersh.

A delicious assortment of homemade confections was served to the following members: Mmes. R. L. Conway, Jr., V. S. Garnett, G. W. Guerriero, F. T. Harkness, G. M. Heidenreich, G. D. Holland, Mike John, Jr., J. C. Kramer, Jr., J. M. Menefee, Louis Peters, Raymond John, R. F. Seiler, J. C. Best and William Whitfield.

Girl Reserve Ring Ceremonial Held

Ouachita Parish High school Girl Reserves met at 12.30 in the auditorium Friday, May 26, for a Girl Reserve ring ceremonial.

Four girls, Elaine Burford, Katheryn Kugler, Nan Drew and Novice Raye were the girls chosen to receive the rings. These girls were chosen for the growth they had made in their attitudes and in their spiritual life; in their ability in developing their talents and using them to the good of the groups and the community.

Any girl who receives and wears a ring attempts to live up to the code of the Girl Reserves.

The ceremonial was impressive. Three Girl Reserves interpreted what the symbols means. They were Mattie Jo Armstrong and Jean Endem.

The three advisers, Miss Katheryn McClain, Mrs. Mabel Hendrix and Miss Evelyn Moore, presented the rings to the girls in the groups of which they were advisers. Miss Ivo Wilson, the Y. W. C. A. general executive, presented the ring to Nan Drew. The Girl Reserve song "Follow the Gleam," was sung as an impressive closing.

Monroe Poetry Club Meets

Mrs. George Wesley Smith placed orchid and blue hydrangeas in tall cut glass vases at vantage points in the living room of her home when she entertained the Monroe Poetry society Thursday afternoon.

This group of women banded together for the purpose of writing poetry comprises Mrs. J. R. White, Mrs. James Russell, Mrs. Nell Gregory, Mrs. Warren Gregory, Mrs. George Wesley Smith, Mrs. H. J. Fernandez and Mrs. L. V. Tarver.

The club will review Anne Hamilton's "How To Revise Your Own Poems," and do free-lance writing during the summer. This is one club whose members continue their work throughout the summer. However, they will meet only once a month. The first meeting will be with Mrs. L. V. Tarver Wednesday, June 28.

After serving delicious canapes and other [illegible] Mrs. Smith presented Mrs. Tarver with a set of [illegible] gift. The club presented Mrs. Tarver with a beautiful volume "Understanding Poetry" by Brooke and Warren.

Although poems of the club members have been published in several leading magazines during the past year, they consider they are still in the [illegible] stage.

George Summerlin, Formerly Of Rayville, Will Have Hands Full Soon Entertaining Royalty

When women jerk off their little jackets and sit around limp and wilted, then you know that the dread hot weather has arrived. We know too, that summer has begun when business women commence to look around for vacation togs and study maps and time tables.

Vacations are not always the happy periods we anticipate. Very often we return home as mad as Donald Duck, and determine to stick to the home fireside at any cost. Travel is what you make it and if you would make it the most pleasant and broadening experience in life, check over your mental as well as your actual baggage before you start. When you make that trip this summer leave your worries behind. Say to yourself, "I'm out to enjoy myself and I don't give a hang whether I need a shave, whether my nose is shiny, or whether the water is cold or hot." Pack up with your mental baggage the conviction that one of the great benefits of travel is pleasure and enjoyment, and whether you travel for business, culture, education, or any one of a score of other reasons, keep that conviction throughout your journey.

Bessie Biedenharn and son, Henry, Jr., like so many others, are Mexico City minded these days. For their information and for many others who are planning an overland trip to Mexico, the information imparted by those who have recently returned will be most helpful. In the first place the Mexican consulate at the border issues a tourist card. It costs $1. It permits you to enter and enables you to leave. The card, however is issued only to pleasure travelers. You can take into Mexico 1,000 cigarettes, 100 cigars or a pound of tobacco. Take your camera along, by all means, is the advice offered. Wear walking shoes that will be comfortable—there are many inviting and interesting spots that are reached only afoot.

For clothes one is advised to take the same kind of garments as worn here in the early spring. In Mexico City proper it is usually cool, and a man wearing a white suit is stared at in the street, or pitied for not having clothes sufficient to keep warm in. Americans are warned against drinking water in small towns. Instead, some travelers advise drinking Mexican beer or Garci-Crespo water, a light mineral water with good thirst-quenching properties. For the good of your stomach you should go slow on Mexican food. There are plenty of high class places, however, where Americans can obtain food suited to their Anglo-Saxon taste. Although Mexican food is most delicious, one is advised against eating more than one meal a day and that one at noon rather than in the evening.

Travis and Kitty Oliver, Sara Cole Morrison and Frances Smelser, returning home Tuesday from Mexico City, will bring back many interesting stories. They found the Thieves' Market one of the most fascinating places. In the market can be found almost anything one desires—gorgeous glassware, silver and jewelry. Most of the goods are stolen but the business is legitimate and tourists pick up many valuables at astonishingly low prices. They visited the pyramids, the cathedrals and many places off the beaten trail. One of these out-of-the-way places is the Valley of Malinalco, southwest of Mexico City. Here centuries ago early people built a shrine and stronghold. Excavators have discovered important sculpture and hidden chambers among the ruins.

One of the busiest men in Washington today, a man known to many Monroe people, is George Summerlin, brother of Colonel John Summerlin of Rayville. As chief of the state department's division of protocol, he is in charge of one of the fullest calendars that ever confronted the nation's official receptionist. Mr. Summerlin has a thousand details to attend to in preparation for the visit of their Britannic majesties, King George and Queen Elizabeth, who will arrive in Washington early in June. Responsibility for the reception and welfare of these distinguished visitors rests on the shoulders of Mr. Summerlin. For each entourage, a program of split second accuracy must be worked out. When the big day comes there must be no fumbling, no mishaps and above all, no "incidents." Mr. Summerlin will be in charge from the moment the border is crossed. The state department has a small force of special agents, men whose names never appear in print, assigned to guard the royal couple. One problem that confronts Mr. Summerlin is that of housing their majesties' entourage—the ladies-in-waiting, the gentlemen of the bed chamber, the knights-at-arms, the supernummeries and the valets and ladies' maids. Obviously they can't all be taken care of in the White House.

Mr. Summerlin is planning a visit to Monroe and Rayville later in the summer.

Ruth Rasbury will be off for California this week with a busy summer awaiting her as assistant to Madame Belle Cutler of Chicago, who maintains a studio during the summer in Los Angeles. Ruth studied under Madame Cutler for four years and when the time came for her to seek an assistant she immediately contacted her former pupil. Ruth's party, motoring westward, will include her daughter, Marietta, who possesses a gorgeous voice and will study this summer, and two pupils, Donald Stewart and Dorothy Steen.

Ho, hum—what a small place is this little world of ours after all. Visiting in Mexico City last week, Sara Cole Morrison met a young Canadian, Elliott Langley. Following introductions, a tour of the night clubs was enjoyed, and during the course of the evening it was discovered that Mr. Langley was a nephew of H. H. Brinsmade of this city. He was in Mexico City in the interest of his father's importing business, in Toronto and Vancouver.

Monroe is continually entertaining angels unaware. Like ships that pass in the night, real personages come and go before one realizes the important work they are doing and the enviable niche they have carved for themselves in the field of art, literature and otherwise. George Baker of New York City, for instance, visited his mother, Mrs. H. B. Warden, of Delhi, and was gone before friends realized he had been in their midst. Mr. Baker is a commercial artist of distinction and note. His work appears regularly in the leading magazines of the country and especially the Red Book. # Annual Neville High School Alumni Banquet Held On Hotel Virginia Roof

Seniors Guests Of Honor Of Occasion

Joe Kern Serves As Chairman Of Arrangements; Superintendent Neville Makes Talk

A memorable event and one that will linger in memory for all time to come was the banquet honoring the members of the senior class of the Neville High school on the roof garden of the Virginia hotel, Friday night.

Hosts on this occasion were members of the alumni association of which Mr. Joe Kern was chairman for this year's banquet and in a measure responsible for the interesting program.

The roof, an idyllic spot, was thronging with beautiful girls in summery gowns and young men in immaculate white linens. They reveled in the courtesies extended them as members of the senior class. Miss Adelaide Parker, president of this year's class, a lovely figure in white organza and with flowers in her hair, responded to the introduction by the toastmaster, Mr. Briscoe Trousdale, with characteristic charm.

The tables, set in the midst of beautiful flowers arranged with unusual artistry, were banked high with summer blossoms and illuminated with myriad tapers burning in hurricane shades.

Mr. Warren Taylor, member of the school board, gave the welcoming address, paying a tribute to the class of 1939. Mr. Trousdale introduced the members of the senior class individually and the two sponsors, Mr. D. W. Griffith and Mrs. Algernon Flournoy.

Superintendent F. L. Neville, beloved by every student graduating from the city high school, spoke with great depth of feeling when introduced.

Mrs. Monita Melgren took this opportunity to laud a departed member of the alumni association, Mrs. Rose Haas. She was always a guiding spirit in all alumni activities and was missed by young and old on this occasion.

Others who were introduced during the dinner hour were Mrs. Milling Bernstein, president of the alumni association, Mrs. A. N. Robbins, who was elected president for the ensuing year, and popular member of the Neville High school faculty. Mr. Paul Neal, another popular member of the faculty, was also introduced.

Mayor Harvey Benoit was called upon for a few remarks and responded in genial manner.

The highlight of the evening was the introduction of the fathers and mothers, members of the alumni association, whose sons and daughters are graduating this year. They were Mr. and Mrs. Ben Downing, Mrs. Carrie Masur Hyman, Mrs. Jessie Goldman, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Vaughan, Mrs. Annie Mae Gatts and Mrs. Dallas [illegible].

Mr. J. M. Cobb, member of the school board, was called upon for the invocation.

The serving of the delicious four-course dinner was punctuated with several musical numbers, including a piano number by Miss Hermione Driskell and a vocal duet by Sue McBride and Marietta Roberts.

Long after the school song, [illegible], led by Ben Downing Jr., was sung, the guests lingered on the roof enjoying the beauty of a perfect night in May. The roof garden, one of the beauty spots of this city, is truly a flowery little kingdom, especially beautiful at night with stars overhead and a cool breeze blowing in from the river.

Miss Jarvis Weds James Richard Bell

A marriage of interest to friends is that of Miss Doris Jarvis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Jarvis, and Mr. James Richard Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Bell of West Monroe, [illegible] on Monday, May 15, at the residence of Rev. C. B. Gates, pastor of the Temple Baptist church, who performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of a few members of the families and intimate friends.

The young couple will be at home with the bride's parents until June 1, when Mr. Bell will leave for San Diego, Calif., where he is stationed with the United States navy. Mrs. Bell will join him at a later date.

Readers Clique Holds Meeting

Mrs. H. B. Staples was hostess to members of the Readers Clique Wednesday afternoon, with Mrs. X. Holt, president, presiding.

Bowls of sweet peas and other garden flowers were placed at vantage points throughout the living room.

Mrs. G. L. Morgan, study leader, gave a most interesting talk on "Fabrics for Formal and Informal Rooms."

She said in part: "Chintzes and linens of formal design, mohairs of formal weave, moires, striped failles and the like are some of the fabrics used in a formal room. The degree of formality of your room will tell you whether you can use the very formal damasks or brocades and silks, or whether in the case of a moderately formal room, which most of us have, the reps mohairs, wool rayon and cotton woven fabrics are the better choice. Figured fabrics, like chintzes, linens and cretonnes, come in formal and informal patterns and the design must suit the character of your room. As suggested for formal rooms, a simple method for the amateur to pick her fabric colors is to choose a nicely colored figured fabric. For instance a living room in blue and yellow makes a nice assembling of fabrics. A figured fabric in a deep blue cretonne with a design of yellow larkspur could be used for curtains and slip covers on two or three pieces of furniture. A yellow shell pattern wool fabric could then be used on another chair or two or a sofa. This picks up the yellow of the design in the cretonne. Deep moire with a golden yellow stripe could be used on small pieces such as side chairs.

"Fabrics for informal rooms should be exactly what the name suggests, informal in character. Informal may mean quaint and old-fashioned or gay and colorful, so choose your fabrics to create the atmosphere you want. Patterns are generally small or medium in scale and upholstery fabrics should be simple in weave. Cottons, rough dull-finish rayons, and mohairs are good types. Silks and shiny fabrics do not belong in an informal room. In informal period types of rooms, such as Early American Provincial, the design in figured fabrics should be in the character of the period. Informal conventionalized floral designs are good in any informal type of room, and here is where you can get your gay, colorful effects. Curtains in an informal room should be simple in style. Valances, if used, should be of the simple shaped type or shirred. A valance tends to cut down the height of your room and very often ceilings are low in an informal home and therefore valances are not desirable. Glass curtains should be of marquisettes, voiles, dotted Swiss, cotton nets and similar fabrics. Trimmings should be confined to simple types, contrasting bindings, pleated edgings, ball fringe or cotton and wool moss fringes."

During the customary social hour Mrs. J. Leon Dennis presented companion pieces of lovely framed floral prints to Mrs. Staples, whose departure from this city is genuinely regretted.

Members present were Mrs. R. M. Cook, Mrs. W. F. Hensler, Mrs. X. Holt, Mrs. Bud Hollis, Mrs. J. Leon Dennis, Mrs. G. L. Morgan, Mrs. Clay Oden, Mrs. H. B. Staples, Mrs. R. C. Kuster, Mrs. Clyde Burchard, Mrs. Harry Taylor, Mrs. Cecil Blanchard and Mrs. John L. Whitfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Seymour entertained fifty or more guests at a barbecue supper in the garden of their home on Park avenue, Sunday night.

Tables covered with gayly colored linens and serviced with bright colored pottery were grouped in the rear gardens for the delectable supper.

WILL WED TODAY

Miss Mary Lucille Prince, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Prince of West Monroe, who will become the bride today of Mr. Edwin F. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Moore of Brownwood, Tex. The wedding will take place at the First Baptist church, West Monroe, at 4 o'clock.

Miss Mary Prince Is Guest Of Honor

Home Of Mrs. P. A. Colvin Scene Of Entertainment For Girl Who Will Wed Today

A charming event characterized by beauty of detail was the coffee hour in the suburban home of Mrs. P. A. Colvin Thursday morning complimentary to Miss Mary Prince, whose wedding will be an interesting event of today.

Hostesses on this occasion in addition to Mrs. Colvin were Mrs. R. P. McKay and Mrs. Louise Averette.

Pink lilies overflowing from tall floor standards formed the decorative [illegible] in the reception suite where the hostesses [illegible] their guests. [illegible] mother, Mrs. A. E. Prince. Miss Dorothy Prince, sister of the honor guest, was also introduced at this time.

Guests were invited to the dining room where a variety of luscious viands were served from a table accented with a wide spreading plaque of gardenias and white roses. From the chandelier fell white satin ribbons in wedding bouquet effect. Handsome silver coffee services graced either end of the lace-covered table. Mrs. R. E. Wilson and Miss Beulah Doerr presided at the urns.

Mrs. Raymond Spence, Mrs. Carey Holmes and Miss Mack Fay Hammons assisted in the serving of the open-faced sandwiches and individual cakes embossed with the letters, M-E.

The presentation of handsome gifts to Miss Prince was a charming interlude.

Junior Gavel Club Holds Last Meeting

As a farewell gesture, members of the Junior Gavel club charmingly entertained with a tea Thursday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. As this was the last meeting of the year an invitation was extended to all literary clubs of the Twin Cities.

The president, Mrs. H. L. Deloney, wearing a lovely model of pale pink mousseline de soie, stood at the head of the receiving line with the officers of the club and two honor guests, Mrs. J. R. White, president of the mother club, Welcome Branch, wore a pastel blue taffeta and Mrs. H. V. Collins, junior chairman for Welcome Branch, wore a charming peach chiffon model. Mrs. C. O. Boyce, Mrs. G. V. McCaskill, Mrs. D. L. Bornman, Mrs. John Naylor and Mrs. Oliver Lowery, all wore summery models of chiffon.

The tea table, covered with handsome Renaissance lace, was centered with sweet peas and fern and tall pink tapers in crystal and silver candelabra. The crystal punch bowl was presided over by Mrs. John Richardson, who wore a white dotted swiss and lace model.

Crystal trays of open-faced sandwiches, gateaux embossed in the pastel shades and a variety of other confections were served by Mrs. Blair Bartleson, Mrs. E. T. Heard, Jr., Mrs. Gordon Elliott and Mrs. John C. Best, Jr. They were assisted in the dining room by Mrs. Elizabeth King and Mrs. L. C. Williams.

Mrs. J. Norman Coon entertained with two beautiful vocal numbers, "Little Green Valley" by Arthur A. Penn and "A Baby's Hair is Built of Sun," by William Wentzell. She was accompanied by Mrs. E. E. Lowson.

Miss Ivo Wilson played "Berceuse" from Jocelyn, "Ah, So Pure," by S. Von Slolow and "Dark Eyes," by Giffen. Mrs. J. L. Whitfield played several selections from Chopin and Brahms.

Mrs. F. A. Allison sang in splendid voice, "Thank God for a Garden," by Teresa Del Riego and "Rain," by Pearl Curran. She was accompanied by Mrs. C. L. Moore.

The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents May 8 at 7:30 in the evening.

The impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. J. F. Dring, pastor of the Methodist church, in the presence of relatives and intimate friends.

The living room where the vows were exchanged was beautifully decorated with baskets of pink radiance roses and fern.

The bride wore an ensemble of navy blue and white with a corsage of orchids and valley lilies. Her attendants were Miss Rubye Robison of Ruston, who wore blue lace with sweet pea corsage, and Miss Helen Wilhite of Sterlington, who wore a navy chiffon model with sweet peas.

The bride's table, draped in white lace and centered with a lovely three-tiered wedding cake, was aglow with candlelight. After the cutting of the wedding cake, an informal reception was held for friends who called to view the beautiful wedding gifts and extend their wishes to the popular young couple.

Annual Neville High School Alumni Banquet Held On Hotel Virginia Roof

Joe Kern Serves As Chairman Of Arrangements; Superintendent Neville Makes Talk

A memorable event and one that will linger in memory for all time to come was the banquet honoring the members of the senior class of the Neville High school on the roof garden of the Virginia hotel, Friday night.

Hosts on this occasion were members of the alumni association of which Mr. Joe Kern was chairman for this year's banquet and in a measure responsible for the interesting program.

The roof, an idyllic spot, was thronging with beautifu girls in summery gowns and young men in immaculate white linens. They reveled in the courtesies extended them as members of the senior class. Miss Adelaide Parker, president of this year's class, a lovely figure in white organza and with flowers in her hair, responded to the introduction by the toastmaster, Mr. Briscoe Trousdale, with characteristic charm.

The tables, set in the midst of beautiful flowers, arranged with unusual artistry, were banked high with summer blossoms and illuminated with myriad tapers, burning in hurricane shades.

Mr. Warren Taylor, member of the school board, gave the welcoming address, paying a tribute to the class of 1939. Mr. Trousdale introduced the members of the senior class individually and the two sponsors, Mr. D. W. Griffith and Mrs. Algernon Flournoy.

Superintendent E. L. Neville, beloved by every student graduating from the city high school, spoke with great depth of feeling when introduced.

Mrs. Monita Melgren took this opportunty to laud a departed member of the alumni association, Mrs. Rose Haas. She was always a guiding spirit in all alumni activities and was missed by young and old on this occasion.

Others who were introduced during the dinner hour were Mrs. Milling Bernstein, president of the alumni association, Mrs. A. N. Robbins, who was elected president for the ensuing year, and popular member of the Neville High school faculty. Mr. Paul Neal, another popular member of the faculty, was also introduced.

Mayor Harvey Benoit was called upon for a few remarks and responded in genial manner.

The highlight of the evening was the introduction of the fathers and mothers, members of the alumni association, whose sons and daughters are graduating this year. They were Mr. and Mrs. Ben Downing, Mrs. Carrie Masur Hyman, Mrs. Jessie Goldman, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Vaughan, Mrs. Annie Mae Gattis and Mrs. Dallas Wales.

Mr. J. M. Cobb, member of the school board, was called upon for the invocation.

The serving of the delicious four-course dinner was punctuated with several musical numbers, including a piano number by Miss Hermoine Driskell and a vocal duet by Sue McBride and Marietta Rasbury.

Long after the school song, "Loyalty," led by Ben Downing, Jr., was sung, the guests lingered on the roof enjoying the beauty of a perfect night in May. The roof garden, one of the beauty spots of this city, is now a flowery little kingdom, especially beautiful at night with stars overhead and a cool breeze blowing in from the river.

Members Of Ouachita Parish Medical Society Are Hosts At Charming Dinner

Ladies Honor Guests At Delightful Affair

Dr. DeWitt Milam Presides As Toastmaster; Several Interesting Talks Are Made

A group of women of social graces and charming looks were delightfully entertained at dinner on the terrace of the Frances hotel Thursday night by their husbands, members of the Ouachita Parish Medical society.

It was a gala event with the feminine guests in lovely evening attire and their hosts in white linens, de rigueur of southern summertime in the south.

One section of the terrace, banked extravagantly with garden flowers, offered a charming setting for the long banquet table covered with white damask and serviced in crystal and silver. The floral decor, unusually artistic, was wide spreading, with Queen Ann's lace extending down the full length of the table. Clusters of sweet peas in all the pastel shades were cleverly arranged in low, circular plaques.

Dr. DeWitt Milam, in the capacity of toastmaster, introduced Dr. John Pracher, president of the Ouachita Parish Medical society, who talked along humorous lines addressing his remarks principally to the ladies.

Dr. J. E. Walsworth spoke briefly on the subject of the meeting of the Fifth District Medical society June 5.

Dr. C. P. Gray, past president of the Louisiana State Medical society, was introduced, and as customary gave a splendid talk. Others called upon by the toastmaster were Dr. R. W. O'Donnell and Dr. A. G. McHenry, who responded with brief talks.

During the serving of the delectable five-course dinner Miss Mary Wilba McKee entertained with skillful acrobatic numbers with Miss Melba Henry at the piano. Mr. Bob Hall, KMLB radio artist, entertained with two song numbers.

Mrs. Clifford Johnson, president of the auxiliary, responded to the introduction with characteristic graciousness. She was wearing a lovely rose chiffon evening model.

Seated at the dinner table were Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, Dr. and Mrs. P. L. Perot, Dr. and Mrs. H. S. Coon, Dr. and Mrs. C. P. Gray, Dr. and Mrs. F. C. Bennett, Dr. and Mrs. John Pracher, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Cummins, Dr. and Mrs. John G. Snelling, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Guerriero, Dr. and Mrs. John Bostick, Dr. and Mrs. DeWitt Milam, Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Simonton, Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Tiche, Dr. and Mrs. C. B Flinn, Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Talbot, Dr. and Mrs. F. P. Rizzo, Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Peters, Dr. and Mrs. Irving Wolff, Dr. and Mrs. H. V. Collins, Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Gregory, Dr. C. Prentice Gray, Jr., Dr. Frank A. Wood and Miss Dorothy Calvert, Dr. George Snellings, Dr. and Mrs. J. Q. Graves, Dr. and Mrs. A. G. McHenry, Dr. and Mrs. R. W. O'Donnell, Dr. B. E. Spencer, Dr. and Mrs. D. M. Moore, Dr. and Mrs. C. U. Johnson, Dr. and Mrs. George Wright, Dr. G. T. Gallaspy and Miss Gladys Fortenberry, Dr. J. E. Walsworth, Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Fisher.

Hobbs Auxiliary Holds Meeting

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Rodney J. Hobbs post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, met in regular session Thursday night at the club room on DeSiard street. The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. DeVeria Blackwell. Considerable unfinished business was brought before the auxiliary and all but last minute details concerning reports of the various chairmen was disposed of. This year's activities have been the greatest since the auxiliary's organization and members are exceedingly proud of the reports to be submitted at the department encampment.

Mrs. Effie W. Veazey was welcomed as a new member and in the absence of the chaplain, Mrs. Goldia B. Logan, who was reported ill at her home on DeSiard road, the obligation was given by Mrs. Maude M. Slaughter.

One other application was presented by a vote of the auxiliary accepted, and referred to the investigating committee whose report will be heard at the next regular meeting.

The national junior vice-president, department president and other department officials are expected to be present at this meeting as well as delegations from the auxiliaries at Bastrop and Rayville. Several candidates will be obligated at this time. A meeting of the auxiliary presidents and delegates in the Fifth district will be held in Monroe at the V. F. W. club room on DeSiard street, Tuesday night, May 30, for the purpose of electing a district officer. The meeting will be presided over by Mrs. Helen Himel, department council member of Rayville.

All members elected as delegates to the department encampment are expected to be present with the president of their auxiliary.

This being the regular night for the weekly party sponsored by the Hobbs auxiliary for the hospital fund, the party will follow the business session and will be held at the V. F. W. club room with Mrs. Jessie Cahill, hostess.

Fred Fudickar, Jr., Talks At Banquet

Memory is a precious heritage. All through life memories of the happy days of one's youth and especially of graduation from high school, come trooping back. Passages from an address one has heard will dwell in memory long after the speaker has been forgotten. A strain of music often associated with an event in our life and the scent of a perfume has the power to bring back memories of some happy incident.

When Fred Fudickar, Jr., addressed the Ouachita Parish High school senior class and members of the alumni association at the annual banquet, sections of his talk will no doubt be recalled again and again by those who were impressed with certain passages.

He said in part:

"When my mother graduated from Ouachita Parish High school, there were only five in the graduating class. By 1931 when I was a graduate, the size of the senior class had increased to 156. We were to be the first class to graduate from the new auditorium, but what we little knew was that we were also to be the last class to use that auditorium for its commencement. In the short space of one year the senior class grew so that larger quarters had to be sought for its commencement. Today we have 320 in the senior class.

"From all over the United States come newspaper accounts of the financial troubles of schools. Schools closed. Children without means of education. Teachers out of jobs. Yet here at Ouachita Parish High, we find not only the enrollment enlarging, our teachers paid regularly, but even our physical plant expanding. Our community is proud and our praise must go out to those men who have brought about this prosperous condition and have maintained it during the years of adversity.

"Schools of America, as with the European countries from which our early American settlers came, arose as children of the church; but by the end of the first quarter of the nineteenth century, a great struggle for the creation of a series of tax-supported, publicly-controlled and directed, and non-sectarian schools was in progress. With the exception of the battle for the abolition of slavery, perhaps no question has ever come before the American people for settlement that has caused such hard feeling and aroused such antagonism. In the course of time, however, the desirability of the free, tax-supported school came to be evident to a majority of the people of the different American states, and as it did so, the American state school, free and equally open to all, was finally evolved and took its place as one of the most important functions in our national life, working toward the perpetuation of the American democracy and the advancement of the public welfare.

"The fundamentals of our American democracy center around freedom of speech, freedom of thought and of activities. Our schools are bringing up our young people in the light of that. The development of individuality is one of the cardinal principles of modern education. The chance to think for oneself. The chance to make up one's own mind. You boys and girls who are looking forward to your graduation from this high school, are to experience a liberty the like of which is not to be found in any other country in the world. At your age, in Europe you would already have been subjected to propaganda, lack of physical freedom and other innumerable restrictions.

"But what is worse than the European lack of physical freedom is the lack of opportunity to develop minds and characters of their own. Not only are their bodies bound into slavery but their thoughts cannot reach out for any goals or ideals other than those imposed upon them.

"The only restrictions which you have known have been those of your parents and of your teachers. But now you are leaving both of those behind. You are stepping, for the most part, beyond their reach. There will be no one to tell you what is right and what is wrong. Your minds are free to take and receive or to reject. There are no chains by which you will be fettered except those self-imposed. The results of your freedom depend entirely upon yourselves. What you are going to do with it lies in your own hands.

"In closing, let me quote from Polonius's advice to his son, Laertes:

> " 'To thine ownself be true,
> And it must follow as the night the day
> Thou canst not then be false to any man.' "

The regular meeting of the W. B. A. was held in the club rooms at the K. of P. hall May 23, with 35 members present. President Mrs. Myrtle Stubbs presided over the meeting. The next meeting will be held June 13 at 8 p.m.

Miss Elliott Weds Richard Percy Wright

Claiming the interest of friends is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Lillian Grace Elliott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Elliott, and Mr. Richard Percy Wright Saturday night, May 20, with the pastor, Rev. L. T. Hastings, officiating.

Mr. Charles Johnson served in the capacity of best man.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Later, Mr. and Mrs. Wright motored to Galveston to spend their honeymoon. Upon their return they will be at home in this city, corner Auburn and North Third.

Mrs. Wright is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish High school. Mr. Wright is a graduate of the same school and also was graduated from Arkansas A. and M. He is associated with the Farm Security administration.

Mr. Harvey C. Redmon, senior vice-president department of Louisiana, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Mrs. Redmon, senior vice-president of the department of Louisiana, ladies auxiliary, of Gretna, La., were guests this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hunt on DeSiard road. Mr. and Mrs. Redmon are the organizers of the Liberty Girls, an organization comprised of 200 girls. While in the city arrangements were made to bring this group of girls to Monroe for the department encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The pride of the unit is the 40-piece drum and bugle corps which will be seen in Monroe during the encampment.

Mrs. A. L. Harrington, local captain of the World Bridge olympic held in this city, April 27, makes a most interesting announcement in regard to the state winners. Mrs. Walter Black and Mrs. E. T. Lamkin claimed the honors and will be presented with handsome gold vanities by the national judges. The winners in the local tournament were Mrs. J. T. Conger and Mrs. Thomas Sullivan, east and west. They received handsome prizes from Mrs. Harrington, who sponsors the local tournament each year.

---

Miss Nell Renwick extends an invitation through this medium, to her friends to be present at her graduation from the Ouachita Parish High school, June 2.

---

Y. W. C. A. Club Changes Name

The Y. W. C. A. Residence Girls voted to have the club named "The Y's Girls club." The business meetings are held each Tuesday at 5 p.m. Various subjects are discussed on how to make a more lively and interesting place to live and how to make the newcomers feel at home and become a part of the Y's activities. The Y's girls enjoy outdoor activities each week, such as hiking, swimming, and yard parties. The Y's girls also enjoy a social class in etiquette each Tuesday night at 7 p.m. given by members of the Junior Charity league.

Y. W. C. A. Club Changes Name

The Y. W. C. A. Residence Girls voted to have the club named "The Y's Girls club." The business meetings are held each Tuesday at 8 p.m. Various subjects are discussed on how to make a more lively and interesting place to live and how to make the newcomers feel at home and become a part of the Y's activities. The Y's girls enjoy outdoor activities each week, such as hiking, swimming, and yard parties. The Y's girls also enjoy a social class in etiquette each Tuesday night at 7 p.m. given by members of the Junior Charity league.

Mrs. Harry Newhall's Pupils In Recital

A program of music, reflecting the excellent training received, was presented by Mrs. Harry Newhall's pupils in annual recital at the Georgia Tucker auditorium Saturday night.

The stage, banked with flowers, offered a colorful setting for the youthful musicians seated at the concert grand piano. They rendered selections from Schubert, Beethoven, Liszt, Rachmaninoff and other composers, with remarkable musicianship. Excellency of technique was especially noted.

The program, enjoyed by a large concourse of friends and relatives of the youthful performers, was presented as follows:

Plans Are Made For P.-T. A. Short Course

Annual Training Period Will Be Held At Southwestern Institute On June 20-23

Plans are being perfected for the Parent-Teacher short course which will be conducted at Southwestern Louisiana institute, Lafayette, June 20-23, and F. M. Hamilton, director of the summer session, issues a cordial invitation to all Parent-Teacher workers to attend.

The theme of the course will be "The Family in Our Democracy," and Mrs. Noel C. Little, Brunswick, Me., will represent the National Congress of Parents and Teachers at the four-day session.

Mrs. Paul Blanchard, Baton Rouge, state president of the Parent-Teacher association, will preside at the opening session on June 20. Other presiding officers will be Mrs. R. H. Bolyard, Lafayette, vice-president, Louisiana P.-T. A.; Mrs. G. S. Jones, president of the Lafayette Council of Parent-Teacher Associations; Mrs. D. S. Byrnside, principal, Southwestern Training school; Mrs. O. J. Ory, president, Mount Carmel P.-T. A.

Prominent educators scheduled to take part in the program are President L. E. Frazar, Mrs. Alice N. Boucher, supervising critic; Dr. Kenneth B. Hart, professor of psychology, Mr. George Barth, department music, Miss Bessie Leftwich, assistant professor home economics, and Mr. Harry DeLaRue, department of history of Southwestern Louisiana institute, Lafayette; Dr. Alvin Good, professor of social science, and Miss Laura Stiley, supervising critic, Louisiana State Normal college, Natchitoches; Dr. Pierce Cline, Centenary college, Shreveport; Dr. E. B. Roberts, college of education, Baton Rouge; Miss Myrtle Rodgers, principal, Georgia Tucker school, Monroe; Miss Carmelite Janvier, visiting teacher department, New Orleans public schools.

Other speakers of note who will participate in the program will be Miss Inez Neyland, chairman, recreation commission of Lafayette; Miss Essae M. Culver, Louisiana library commission, Baton Rouge; Miss Paula Frank, children's bureau, state department of labor; Mr. Tom Callahan, editor, Lafayette Daily Advertiser.

Accommodations for visiting delegates will be provided at De Clouet hall and reservations may be made through Mr. Hamilton, Lafayette.

Jonesboro

The Jonesboro Parent-Teacher association for the elementary school met for the last time this school year in the auditorium of the grammar school.

The president, Mrs. Henry F. Stovall, presided over the short business session and introduced the new officers for the coming year. The guest speaker for the afternoon was Mrs. S. L. Cole of Ruston, who is the director of the Ninth district of the state P.-T. A. Mrs. Cole gave an interesting and enlightening talk on "Democracy in the Home," with practical illustrations.

Miss Doris Bowman rendered a vocal selection, accompanied by Miss Judith Sutton at the piano. The next meeting will be held next September with the following officers in charge: President, Mrs. W. S. McDonald, vice-president, Mrs. Jack Shows Fallon; secretary, Mrs. E. L. Thompson; treasurer, Miss Mary E. Upchurch.

Oak Grove

The Oak Grove P.-T. A. held the last meeting of the school year at the auditorium of the high school on May 17.

All business transactions for the year were reviewed and closed, with the final reports of the officers and standing committee heads being given. Plans were made by the campus committee to see to the caring of the rose garden and shrubs during the summer months.

The same group of officers will serve the organization the coming year. President, Mrs. W. H. Keller, vice-president, Mrs. T. H. Vining, secretary, Mrs. D. M. Copeland, treasurer, Mrs. Arden B. Smith.

The name chosen for the organization was "The Oak Grove Parent-Teacher Association of West Carroll Parish."

Claiborne

Mrs. J. G. Durret of West Monroe, leader of the study group of the Claiborne P.-T. A., met with the group Wednesday afternoon in the Methodist church for their final meeting. A resume of the year's work was given and discussed by the leader and members.

In the meeting which followed the study group Mrs. C. G. Simmons, president of Claiborne P.-T. A., expressed her appreciation to the officials of the organization, to the parents and to the teachers for their loyal support during the last year. In her yearly report she enumerated different goals achieved. Reports were made by the retiring officers and chairman of standing committees.

The program was then rendered. The subject, "Safety First As a Partner in Progress," was discussed in detail by Mrs. Leo Hartman, program chairman. Scripture reading, Mrs. Ivey Wallace, piano solo, Yvonne Wallace, group singing, grades 1-6. A feature of the singing was that one of the songs, "Safety First," was composed by one of the mothers.

Installation of officers for the coming year followed the program. Mrs. King Hunt of West Monroe had charge of this program. Those installed were: President, Mrs. J. A. Vernon; vice-president, Mrs. H. P. Smith; secretary, Mrs. Leo Hartman; treasurer, Mrs. B. O. Douglas.

Mrs. J. A. Vernon, the incoming president, named the following committees to serve with her: Program, Mrs. Ivy Wallace; publication, Mrs. M. L. DeFreese; hospitality, Mrs. Leo Hartman and Mrs. W. R. Williams; membership, Mrs. C. G. Simmons; publicity, Mrs. H. P. Smith; summer round-up, Mrs. D. F. Dennis.

Grades one and two had the most mothers present. Grades three and four won in the yearly contest for having the most mothers present during the entire year.

Fairbanks

The Fairbanks P.-T. A. held its regular meeting Thursday afternoon with its newly elected president, Mrs. O. J. Ham, presiding.

The meeting was called to order by the president. The minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. C. C. Franks, and approved.

The program chairman, Mrs. Spurgeon Welch, with the help of the primary teacher, Mrs. Culbert Lee, gave a splendid program on "Health."

Health Poems—First and Second grades.

The Goat—Wanda Lorraine Inabnet.

The Rabbit—Virginia Wells.

Piano Solo—Joyce Lane Talley.

Animal Alphabet—First and Second grades.

School—Bonnie Rhea Linzay.

The new committee chairman selected were: Membership, Mrs. H. J. Hunter; safety, Mrs. Billy Hewitt; welfare, Mrs. R. A. Boyd; playground, Mrs. Borden Bradley; program, Mrs. Spurgeon Welch; publicity, Mrs. D. Worley; music, Mrs. Vane Brazil.

Reception-Tea Given By University Women

On the side of things charming was the reception-tea in the home of Mrs. Elmer Slagle complimentary to members of the senior class of Northeast Junior college and friends of the Monroe branch of American Association of University Women, hostesses on this occasion.

Mrs. C. C. Colvert, Mrs. W. R. Hammond, Miss Myrtle Rodgers, Miss Dean McKoin, Miss Zelda Moss and Mrs. Slagle welcomed the guests in the reception suite, banked with pink roses and purple iris.

Dr. Julia Hunter, Mrs. Frederick Williamson, Mrs. John Best and Miss Frances Flanders extended courtesies in the dining room, where a fascinating array of confections was served.

The refreshment table, presided over by Mrs. W. C. Oliver, was adorned with a silver epergne overflowing with pink roses, blue stock and purple iris. Tall white tapers in silver candelabra gleamed at the four corners. Miniature silken flags of the nations outlined the table in picturesque manner.

Mrs. John Coon, Miss Lucyle Godwin, Mrs. J. Noble White, Mrs. S. E. Huey, wearing costumes suggestive of China, Japan, Spain and Holland, added a realistic touch to the theme employed.

The guests were received in the living room by Mrs. George Holland, Miss Ivo Wilson and Miss Clara Wood.

Miss Gladys Joy Aulds, daughter of Mrs. Ella Aulds, extends an invitation to her friends to be present at her graduation from O. F. H. S. on Friday evening, June 2, the exercises to be held at Neville High school.

Mrs. Gertrude Jones and Mrs. Bella Scherck Davidson will motor to Baton Rouge to attend the graduation of their nephew, Scherck Bogen, from the state university on Monday.

Landon Miles of Monroe has been named president of the Episcopal club at Louisiana Tech for the 1939-40 school year. He succeeds Scott Yeager of Alexandria, who graduates this spring.

Other officers of the club are as follows: Charles McComb, Monroe, vice-president, and Eleanor Stout, Ida, secretary-treasurer. Charles McComb and Martha Williams, Shreveport, have been elected to edit the club's weekly news letter, the Episcopalian. L. B. Watt Jr., of the journalism department at the college, will continue to be the faculty adviser, it was announced.

Mrs. Norman Dickson of Hodge was a visitor in the city on Monday and took the opportunity to bid her Monroe friends goodbye. She and Mr. Dickson left Tuesday morning for their new home in Jacksonville, Fla., where Mr. Dickson will be identified with the National Container corporation.

Mrs. E. Heninger of Oklahoma City is enjoying a visit in the home of her son and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Leibreich and incidentally looking forward to the pleasure of being present at the confirmation of her granddaughter, Julia Kern Leibreich, on Sunday.

Mrs. S. R. Wright left Saturday for Shreveport to be present at the graduation of her grand-daughter, Jimmie Thibadeaux, from the Byrd High school.

Miss Virginia Kersh arrived home Thursday from the Alabama state university to visit her parents. She will return to the university next month to take up a special course of study during the summer.

Miss Opal Louise Curry will graduate from the Neville High school June 1 and extends an invitation to her friends to be present.

Miss Lois Downs is in Shreveport at the bedside of her father, Mrs. J. W. Downs, who is critically ill in a hospital there.

Mr. Walter J. Meyer left the first of the week for Rockwood, Me., where he and a party of gentlemen from New York City will be the guests for two weeks of Mr. Calvin Agar of New Jersey, at Camp Maynard, in the heart of the Maine woods.

Mrs. Mark Stroud and daughters, Misses Billie and Irene Stroud, left Thursday for Mobile, Ala., to visit Mrs. Scranton Dunlap and Mrs. Edwin Curran and incidentally to make the acquaintance of their new grandson and nephew, Mark Stroud Curran.

Miss Sydney Marie Loeb, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Bert Heinberg extends through this medium an invitation to her friends to be present at her graduation from Neville High school, June the first.

Miss Elsie Henry, accompanied by her grandmother, Mrs. N. C. Spencer, motored on Saturday to Paducah, Ky., and later will visit friends at Collinsville, Ill., and in Tennessee. She expects to be gone several weeks.

Mrs. Thomas King still continues a patient in St. Francis sanitarium and will be glad to have her friends call.

Bastrop

Mrs. Arthur Ross and daughter of Georgetown, S. C., are visiting friends here.

Among the courtesies extended the graduates of 1939 was the lovely party given Tuesday night at the Morehouse Country club with nine class mothers, Mrs. J. F. Carpenter, Sr., Mrs. D. M. Quinn, Mrs. W. C. Gibson, Mrs. Mattie Gissette, Mrs. Will Tappin, Mrs. J. Crout, Mrs. H. M. McKoin, Mrs. Lide and Mrs. A. C. Volk as hostesses.

The club lounge was decorated with hydrangeas, sweet peas and larkspur in class colors of pink and blue. The evening was passed in bingo, Chinese checkers and dancing with Mrs. A. Moore acting as master of ceremonies. A shower of confetti and balloons heightened the evening's fun. Present were the eighty-nine Bastrop High school graduates and all the high school faculty. Sandwiches and cold bottled drinks were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cummings have returned from a week vacation with friends and relatives in Pennsylvania.

Mr. and Mrs. John Letard will leave for Baton Rouge where they will study this summer at Louisiana State university.

Mangham

Mr. and Mrs. Will Rogers of Topeka, Kans., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. DeMoss, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Judd honored the graduating class of the Mangham High school with a lawn party. Mrs. Judd was assisted in entertaining by her sister, Mrs. J. K. Gladney, and Misses Susie Ailey and Doris Terrill.

Mrs. C. E. McConnell entertained with a chicken barbecue in honor of her daughter, Miss Mary V. McConnell. Those enjoying the occasion were Bob Bell, Mike Bell, Massey K. McConnell, Aubry Parham, Miss Beryl Stark.

WITH LONG SLEEVES

THAT long sleeves are new and smart for both daytime and evening, is admirably illustrated by these charming summer dinner dresses. The model at left is of coral marquisette with interesting bodice trimming of black lace. Notice the square neckline and the flattering fullness of the skirt. The other gown, right, is of pale gray silk crepe with a spray of chartreuse slipper orchids appliqued on each sleeve.

● SERIAL STORY

'MRS. DOC'

BY TOM HORNER

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CHAPTER VII

Emily was laughing, almost hysterically.

"I can't see anything so terribly funny about it." Kane's tone was sharp-edged.

"Forgive me, Eric." Emily's laughter subsided. "But it is funny—I was the 'fairy princess.' And you—you were 'Sir Knight.' I don't blame you for not recognizing me; there's quite a difference between a school girl of 18 and a doctor's wife of 24. And I looked positively outlandish that night in that headdress and costume. Oh, it's such a funny, tiny world!"

"My Fairy Princess," Eric murmured.

"I had just returned from a vacation abroad," Emily explained. "I saw you dancing with Rosalind, just as I said. Like a foolish school girl I decided to meet you—romantically. There was no dragon—not even a drink.

"I was afraid you might not be interested. I thought if you were, you'd be at Rosalind's the next night looking for me. But you weren't there and my pride was terribly hurt. I never mentioned the affair to anyone. Rosalind and Walt thought I had left the ball before you arrived, and immediately eliminated me from the search. They never mentioned it."

"That's why I've had the feeling all evening that I had met you before. I couldn't place you—I never dreamed of seeing you here—until you started telling me about the 'Fairy Princess'."

"I never came back, so you thought—"

"Then I met Alan."

"Alan, darling, guess what? Eric and I met before, years and years ago." Emily was perched on the arm of his easy chair, after Eric had departed. "Really. I didn't remember until he started telling me about a girl he had met at a veiled prophet ball—" She was pouring out the entire story.

"But I didn't love him, Alan," she concluded, "not like I love you. I was just a crazy kid. I knew that when I met you. You're the only man I'll ever love."

"You were just a child then, honey. You still are—my baby." His arms were around her, pulling her down, closer to him. His lips brushed her forehead, she cuddled comfortably there, her head on his shoulder.

"Eric is certainly a fine chap," Alan continued. "He's so real, so earnest, no one could dislike him. I hope we'll see a lot more of him. You'll have to be sort of guardian for him. He's probably deucedly lonely, sitting around in an empty hotel room all day."

"If he's well enough to go, I'll have Mrs. Maddox ask him to her party Saturday night."

"That's a good idea. You can launch him into summer's social whirl. All the other women will be jealous when you appear with two men."

"I don't want two men, Alan. You're the only one I want. I'm selfish—I want you to be just like you were, and always and always." She kissed his lips, rumpled his unruly hair. "I want you to be just like you were, back in St. Louis. Not the eminent Doctor Alan Warren, who has so little time for his wife, but the Alan I fell in love with. The Alan who used to sneak down fire escapes just to kiss me; who used to call me at all hours of the night just to say 'I love you.' We had such fun, then, Alan."

"It was fun, my sweet." Alan smiled. "Remember our picnics out on the Merrimac. And our own special little table at Mella's."

"I'll bet they're still keeping that table just for us." Emily grew serious. "We could have all of that again, and more, too—if you'd go back, darling."

"You'd like it very much wouldn't you?"

"Oh Alan, it would be wonderful. We could buy a little house out near the park. You'd be home early every evening. And after dinner, every night, you'd sit in your chair, just like this; and I'd be in your arms always—with no telephone to disturb us. Have you heard from Dr. Peterson yet?"

"Not yet. He's a busy man. But if he said he would write, he will, as soon as he gets time."

"And when he does, you'll tell him you'll accept the position?"

"Don't cross your bridges too soon, honey. Wait till we get the offer—officially."

Alan sat on the edge of the bed and stared across the room at his beautiful, young wife. Emily was beautiful. Smooth satin sheathed her lovely, youthful figure. Her back, bare in the deep decollete of her evening gown, was perfect, Alan decided. Wonder if she knows she has a tiny mole, right about the sixth thoracic, Alan mused.

"Like a goddess!"

"Alan—you're not dressed. Mr. Maddox asked us for 8; Eric will be here any minute. You've had a little rest; now hurry, you still have time."

"I'm not going, Emily."

"Not going? And you let me get dressed? Why aren't you going? I can't call Mrs. Maddox half an hour before her dinner begins."

"I've got to be at the hospital, honey. Farrell phoned that he's bringing in a gangrenous appendix. Wants me to give his anaesthetic. I'll drop in on the party as soon as I'm finished."

"But me—what do you expect me to do?" Emily's lips pursed in a pout, her temper flaring. "I'll feel like a fool, going to the dinner. All the other wives will have their husbands there. The least you might have done was tell me—"

"Now, now, don't get all angry, Emily. You'll spoil your makeup. Eric will be here soon. I'll drop you both off at the party, explain my absence to Mrs. Maddox and go on to the hospital. I'll be back before the party is over. See, it's not so bad. Come on—a smile and a kiss. Am I forgiven?"

Reluctantly, Emily complied. She was hurt and she hated to admit that, as usual, Alan was right.

"Well, if you'll promise to come just as soon as the operation is over—"

"I do."

This is the way it has always been, this is the way it will always be, in Sumner, Emily thought. Going alone, going without Alan to dinners, to parties. Eric was a help, but nothing could make her like this "widowhood" medicine had brought her after scarcely a year of marriage.

Alan would never change—not in this environment. His patients, his operations would be his first consideration. She hated playing second fiddle to anything. A man's wife should come first; he should think of her feelings. As a doctor's wife, she had a certain social position to maintain—Alan admitted that—but she couldn't maintain it alone.

She breathed a prayer—"Please God, make him go to St. Louis!"

Emily could hear Alan's voice downstairs, as he welcomed Eric. Eric's wife would never be pushed off to go to a party with another man. She was glad Eric was there. Without him, she would have called Mrs. Maddox, sent her regrets, and spent a miserable evening alone. And there would have been words when Alan returned from the hospital—sharp, angry words that hurt.

Slowly she went down the stairs.

"Is it real, or is it a picture?" Eric asked as he gazed admiringly at her. "It walks, it smiles; it's really alive!"

"And it's mine—all mine," Alan added proudly. "You're a lucky fellow Eric, getting to take this glamorous queen of beauty and charm to dinner. Watch over her, and fight off all the men—she's precious."

"You idiots!" Emily scolded, but she was pleased.

The telephone rang. Alan answered.

"Yes, Dr. Farrell. All right. I'm on my way."

He turned to them. "You'll have to take a cab. Farrell just arrived, and he wants me in a hurry." He pulled his scarf from his overcoat pocket, adjusted it quickly.

"See you later, darlin'." He bent to kiss Emily.

Eric had seen something white fall to the floor. "You dropped something, Alan," he said, but it was too late, with a slam of the door Alan was gone.

Eric bent, picked up the letter that had fallen from Alan's pocket, and handed it to Emily. It was soiled, unopened. She glanced at the postmark. "St. Louis, March—" The date was four days old.

She read the return address.

"Dr. William Peterson, Dean."

SEEN in the shops

---by Irene

At White System

GOING to the fair? . . . You know a vacation is an investment in health and relaxation and every person should try to get away from their regular duties for a few days or two weeks at least. . . . Now, if money for the trip, and to keep things going at home while you are away is your worry, the White System can take care of this in a swell way. Just drop by and explain your needs and name the amount needed. Have a good time and take 10 months to pay for it. . . . Really, it is the smart thing to do. There are no embarrassing investigations and the plan is easy, convenient and dignified.

At Style Shop

GETTING ready to go away for that needed vacation? . . . There is a certain duty to your fur coat before you leave. The Style Shop is now offered a special low price of only $1.50 to store your coat for the summer months and this included insurance for $100.00 valuation until 1940. The Style Shop is conveniently located 141 DeSiard street and it's no matter at all to drop by and leave it . . . or, phone 499 and they will send a bonded messenger to pick it up for you. . . . There is no payment asked until you take your fur coat out next season. You may also have your fur coat cleaned and glazed by the furrier's method at only $3.50.

At Jitney Jungle

HAVE you tried the famous "VIEUX CARRE" CRAWFISH BISQUE prepared and packed in the far south which has been received in the North Fourth street Jitney Jungle store at 29c a can. Also a shipment of sweets from Havana, Cuba . . . includes plenty of that good Guava jelly. Oh, there are so many new things each week at this interesting store. . . . Drop by—browse around and look. . . . Nearly all the poets have waxed sentimental about the "flowers that bloom in the spring" and "the frost on the pumpkin," but few have spent their efforts on "Danish pastries" that truly deserve a niche in the Hall of Fame. Danish pastries, these bakers call them though I like to say "sweet" cakes as our down south cousins would say. Grand big "pretty" cakes are these and packed with fluffy "sweet nothings" until they won't hold any more. Do get some tomorrow—it's a new treat at Jitney Jungle North Fourth Street Bakery. Fresh every day.

At Griffin's

BELIEVE ME, the new Griffin's Studio building directly across from the Paramount theater is shaping up into form. . . . This progressive studio is also rounding out its 25th year in the photographic field in Monroe. . . . And, from the looks of their expansion . . . it's headed for another 25 years. Their success is well deserved, however, always sticking to high type quality work and unexcelled service that has built confidence. Keep your eye on Griffin's. . . . Monroe is justly proud of their achievements.

At Kopy Kat

I FOUND out this week why and where . . . the Kopy Kat Dress Shop located 322 DeSiard street got its name . . . (copies of expensive originals). . . . Yes, that makes them a "shore-nuf" Kopy Kat all right . . . but lucky for us gals who eye certain styles that won't fit our budget. . . . Usually you can find the very outfit at Kopy Kat for less money that you have admired somewhere else for "much money." . . . A new summer crop of dresses came in this week that will fairly "lift you up"; they are cottons . . . priced from $1.95 to $5.95. Or, maybe you are in the market for a nifty silk at $3.95 and $6.95. Anyway, you take my advice and shop at the Kopy Kat for your summer duds.

At Fink's

HAVE you noticed the men folks stepping out in those smart sensible slack suits. . . . Especially to play golf, attend ball games . . . and for lounging around? . . . At the ball games lately about six out of ten men were wearing these slack suits. Some clever pretty ones were in shantung and seem to fit much better than any other materials. I learned they came from FINK The Tailor . . . and cost only $7.95. Yes, sir, made of the same materials as his suit . . . and look how low the price is! . . . Others range in prices from $3.95 to $10.95. Materials are: Hop Sackings, Iranga, Kyro Cloth, Havana Cloth, fit comfortably with zipper fastening . . . belted and in every size and color. . . . Listen you wives . . . surprise him . . . select his own at FINK'S.

At Dan Cohen's

EVERY day . . . new things under the sun greet us in Monroe shops. . . . This time the Dan Cohen Shoe Store "is it." . . . The Hosiery Department has something new and lovely for the women folks! . . . A fine soft clinging mesh hose guaranteed not to run . . . in every new summer shade, selling for only $1.15. What a relief . . . what a beauty. . . . See it. While you are hose minded let me tell you about the Lace Caprice . . . to wear with sport or dress. Cost you only $1.49. Here is another hose you will go for like hot cakes! . . . Dranco ringless genuine crepe two-thread hose (read a newspaper through them). Flattering . . . Oh, my, only 99c pair. Now for the business girl. . . . A chiffon hose smart yet durable at 79c. . . . The children haven't been left out . . . quality "Little Gent" hose that can take it for 15c and misses' and children's anklets for 15c and 19c.

At Sears

FRESH UP . . . with a new set of slip covers, cool, breezy curtains, venetian blinds, awnings . . . and most every other thing you need to bring cooling atmosphere into your home for the hot days that are to come. . . . Sears (Mezzanine Floor) is ready to help you with your plans . . . to acquire the items you need and a convenient budget plan on which to buy them. I found beautiful awning material at only 25c a yard and 30 inches wide. Slip cover material . . . such beauties at 19c. . . . Upholstering cloth, solid colors at 89c. . . . Kitchen curtain cottage sets 59c and 89c . . . Kris-Kross curtains 100 inches wide in white and pastel at $1.55 pair. You'll always find the trimming such as ball fringe, brush fringe and loop edging. Also rods, tie backs, and other needs to dress the home up for summer.

JOSEPH E. JOHNSON

For the past eight years, as portrait photographer with Griffin Studio, I have been making pictures of people in the Monroe area. During that time I have photographed more than 15,000 persons—children, boys and girls, young men and women, older people—from every walk of life.

These Pictures

Offer a record of service, ability and satisfaction. They are priceless testimonials. I am now opening my own studio, to continue making the kind of pictures I have always made—high class work, the kind that people like, at a price they can afford to pay. That will be my fixed policy.

Plans Are Made For P.-T. A. Short Course

Annual Training Period Will Be Held At Southwestern Institute On June 20-23

Plans are being perfected for the Parent-Teacher short course which will be conducted at Southwestern Louisiana institute, Lafayette, June 20-23, and F. M. Hamilton, director of the summer session, issues a cordial invitation to all Parent-Teacher workers to attend.

The theme of the course will be "The Family in Our Democracy," and Mrs. Noel C. Little, Brunswick, Me., will represent the National Congress of Parents and Teachers at the four-day session.

Mrs. Paul Blanchard, Baton Rouge, state president of the Parent-Teacher association, will preside at the opening session on June 20. Other presiding officers will be Mrs. R. H. Bolyard, Lafayette, vice-president, Louisiana P.-T. A.; Mrs. G. S. Jones, president of the Lafayette Council of Parent-Teacher Associations; Mrs. D. S. Byrnside, principal, Southwestern Training school; Mrs. O. J. Ory, president, Mount Carmel P.-T. A.

Prominent educators scheduled to take part in the program are President L. E. Frazar, Mrs. Alice N. Boucher, supervising critic; Dr. Kenneth B. Hart, professor of psychology; Mr. George Barth, department music; Miss Bessie Leftwich, assistant professor home economics, and Mr. Harry DeLaRue, department of history of Southwestern Louisiana institute, Lafayette; Dr. Alvin Good, professor of social science, and Miss Laura Stilley, supervising critic, Louisiana State Normal college, Natchitoches; Dr. Pierce Cline, Centenary college, Shreveport; Dr. E. B. Roberts, college of education, Baton Rouge; Miss Myrtle Rodgers, principal, Georgia Tucker school, Monroe; Miss Carmelite Janvier, visiting teacher department, New Orleans public schools.

Other speakers of note who will participate in the program will be Miss Inez Neyland, chairman, recreation commission of Lafayette; Miss Essae M. Culver, Louisiana library commission, Baton Rouge; Miss Paula Frank, children's bureau, state department of labor; Mr. Tom Callahan, editor, Lafayette Daily Advertiser.

Accommodations for visiting delegates will be provided at De Clouet hall and reservations may be made through Mr. Hamilton, Lafayette.

Jonesboro

The Jonesboro Parent-Teacher association for the elementary school met for the last time this school year in the auditorium of the grammar school.

The president, Mrs. Henry F. Stovall, presided over the short business session and introduced the new officers for the coming year. The guest speaker for the afternoon was Mrs. S. L. Cole of Ruston, who is the director of the Ninth district of the state P.-T. A. Mrs. Cole gave an interesting and enlightening talk on "Democracy in the Home," with practical illustrations.

Miss Doris Bowman rendered a vocal selection, accompanied by Miss Judith Sutton at the piano. The next meeting will be held next September with the following officers in charge: President, Mrs. W. S. McDonald, vice-president, Mrs. Jack Shows Fallon; secretary, Mrs. E. L. Thompson; treasurer, Miss Mary E. Upchurch.

Oak Grove

The Oak Grove P.-T. A. held the last meeting of the school year at the auditorium of the high school on May 17.

All business transactions for the year were reviewed and closed, with the final reports of the officers and standing committee heads being given. Plans were made by the campus committee to see to the caring of the rose garden and shrubs during the summer months.

The same group of officers will serve the organization the coming year: President, Mrs. W. H. Keller; vice-president, Mrs. T. H. Vining; secretary, Mrs. D. M. Copeland; treasurer, Mrs. Arden B. Smith.

The name chosen for the organization was "The Oak Grove Parent-Teacher Association of West Carroll Parish."

Claiborne

Mrs. J. G. Durret of West Monroe, leader of the study group of the Claiborne P.-T. A., met with the group Wednesday afternoon in the Methodist church for their final meeting. A resume of the year's work was given and discussed by the leader and members.

In the meeting which followed the study group Mrs. C. G. Simmons, president of Claiborne P.-T. A., expressed her appreciation to the officials of the organization; to the parents, and to the teachers for their loyal support during the last year. In her yearly report she enumerated different goals achieved. Reports were made by the retiring officers and chairman of standing committees.

The program was then rendered. The subject, "Safety First As a Partner in Progress," was discussed in detail by Mrs. Leo Hartman, program chairman. Scripture reading, Mrs. Ivey Wallace; piano solo, Yvonne Wallace; group singing, grades 1-6. A feature of the singing was that one of the songs, "Safety First," was composed by one of the mothers.

Installation of officers for the coming year followed the program. Mrs. King Hunt of West Monroe had charge of this program. Those installed were: President, Mrs. J. A. Vernon; vice-president, Mrs. H. P. Smith; secretary, Mrs. Leo Hartman; treasurer, Mrs. B. O. Douglas.

Mrs. J. A. Vernon, the incoming president, named the following committees to serve with her Program, Mrs. Ivy Wallace; publication, Mrs. M. L. DeFreese; hospitality, Mrs. Leo Hartman and Mrs. W. R. Williams; membership, Mrs. C. G. Simmons; publicity, Mrs. H. P. Smith; summer roundup, Mrs. D. F. Dennis.

Grades one and two had the most mothers present. Grades three and four won in the yearly contest for having the most mothers present during the entire year.

Fairbanks

The Fairbanks P.-T. A. held its regular meeting Thursday afternoon with its newly elected president, Mrs. O. J. Ham, presiding.

The meeting was called to order by the president. The minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. C. C. Franks, and approved.

The program chairman, Mrs. Spurgeon Welch, with the help of the primary teacher, Mrs. Culbert Lee, gave a splendid program on "Health."

Health Poems—First and Second grades.

The Goat—Wanda Lorraine Inabnet.

The Rabbit—Virginia Wells.

Piano Solo—Joyce Lane Talley.

Animal Alphabet—First and Second grades.

School—Bonnie Rhea Linzay.

The new committee chairman selected were: Membership, Mrs. H. J. Hunter; safety, Mrs. Billy Hewitt; welfare, Mrs. R. A. Boyd; playground, Mrs. Borden Bradley; program, Mrs. Spurgeon Welch; publicity, Mrs. D. Worley; music, Mrs. Vane Brazil.

Reception-Tea Given By University Women

On the side of things charming was the reception-tea in the home of Mrs. Elmer Slagle complimentary to members of the senior class of Northeast Junior college and friends of the Monroe branch of American Association of University Women, hostesses on this occasion.

Mrs. C. C. Colvert, Mrs. W. R. Hammond, Miss Myrtle Rodgers, Miss Dean McKoin, Miss Zelda Moss and Mrs. Slagle welcomed the guests in the reception suite, banked with pink roses and purple iris.

Dr. Julia Hunter, Mrs. Frederick Williamson, Mrs. John Best and Miss Frances Flanders extended courtesies in the dining room, where a fascinating array of confections was served.

Mrs. John Coon, Miss Lucyle Godwin, Mrs. J. Noble White, Mrs. S. E. Huey, wearing costumes suggestive of China, Japan, Spain and Holland, added a realistic touch to the theme employed.

The guests were received in the music room by Mrs. George Holland, Miss Ivo Wilson and Miss Clara Wood.

WITH LONG SLEEVES

THAT long sleeves are new and smart for both daytime and evening, is admirably illustrated by these charming summer dinner dresses. The model at left is of coral marquisette with interesting bodice trimming of black lace. Notice the square neckline and the flattering fullness of the skirt. The other gown, right, is of pale gray silk crepe with a spray of chartreuse slipper orchids appliqued on each sleeve.

● SERIAL STORY

'MRS. DOC'

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CHAPTER VII

Emily was laughing, almost hysterically.

"I can't see anything so terribly funny about it." Kane's tone was sharp-edged.

"Forgive me, Eric." Emily's laughter subsided. But it is funny—I was the 'fairy princess.' And you—you were 'Sir Knight.' I don't blame you for not recognizing me; there's quite a difference between a school girl of 18 and a doctor's wife of 24. And I looked positively outlandish that night in that headdress and costume. Oh, it's such a funny, tiny world!"

"My Fairy Princess," Eric murmured.

"I had just returned from a vacation abroad," Emily explained. "I saw you dancing with Rosalind, just as I said. Like a foolish school girl I decided to meet you—romantically. There was no dragon—not 'even a drunk.

"I was afraid you might not be interested. I thought if you were, you'd be at Rosalind's the next night looking for me. But you weren't there, and my pride was terribly hurt. I never mentioned the affair to anyone. Rosalind and Walt thought I had left the ball before you arrived, and immediately eliminated me from the search. They never mentioned it.

"That's why I've had the feeling, all evening, that I had met you before. I couldn't place you—I never dreamed of seeing you here—until you started telling me about the 'Fairy Princess'."

"I never came back, so you thought—"

"Then I met Alan."

"Alan, darling, guess what? Eric and I met before, years and years ago." Emily was perched on the arm of his easy chair, after Eric had departed. "Really. I didn't remember until he started telling me about a girl he had met at a veiled prophet ball—" She was pouring out the entire story.

"But I didn't love him, Alan," she concluded, "not like I love you. I was just a crazy kid. I knew that when I met you. You're the only man I'll ever love."

"You were just a child then, honey. You still are—my baby." His arms were around her, pulling her down, closer to him. His lips brushed her forehead, she cuddled comfortably there, her head on his shoulder.

"Eric is certainly a fine chap," Alan continued. "He's so real, so earnest, no one could dislike him. I hope we'll see a lot more of him. You'll have to be sort of guardian for him. He's probably deucedly lonely, sitting around in an empty hotel room all day."

"If he's well enough to go, I'll have Mrs. Maddox ask him to her party Saturday night."

"That's a good idea. You can launch him into summer's social whirl. All the other women will be jealous when you appear with two men."

"I don't want two men, Alan. You're the only one I want. I'm selfish—I want you to be just like you were, and always and always." She kissed his lips, rumpled his unruly hair. "I want you to b ejust like you were, back in St. Louis. Not the eminent Doctor Alan Warren, who has so little time for his wife, but the Alan I fell in love with. The Alan who used to sneak down fire escapes just to kiss me; who used to call me at all hours of the night just to say 'I love you.' We had such fun, then, Alan."

"It was fun, my sweet." Alan smiled. "Remember our picnics out on the Merrimac. And our own special little table at Mella's."

"I'll bet they're still keeping that table just for us." Emily grew serious. "We could have all of that again, and more, too—if you'd go bcak, darling."

"You'd like it very much wouldn't you?"

"Oh Alan, it would be wonderful. We could buy a little house out near the park. You'd be home early every evening. And after dinner, every night, you'd sit in your chair, just like this; and I'd be in your arms always—with no telephone to disturb us. Have you heard from Dr. Peterson yet?"

"Not yet. He's a busy man. But if he said he would write, he will, as soon as he gets time."

"And when he does, you'll tell him you'll accept the position?"

Alan sat on the edge of the bed and stared across the room at his beautiful, young wife. Emily was beautiful. Smooth satin sheathed her lovely, youthful figure. Her back, bare in the deep decollete of her evening gown, was perfect, Alan decided. Wonder if she knows she has a tiny mole, right about the sixth thoracic, Alan mused.

"Like a goddess!"

"Alan—you're not dressed. Mr. Maddox asked us for 8; Eric will be here any minute. You've had a little rest; now hurry, you still have time."

"I'm not going, Emily."

"Not going? And you let me get dressed? Why aren't you going? I can't call Mrs. Maddox half an hour before her dinner begins."

"I've got to be at the hospital, honey. Farrell phoned that he's bringing in a gangrenous appendix. Wants me to give his anaesthetic. I'll drop in on the party as soon as I'm finished."

"But me—what do you expect me to do?" Emily's lips pursed in a pout, her temper flaring. "I'll feel like a fool, going to the dinner. All the other wives will have their husbands there. The least you might have done was tell me—"

"Now, now, don't get all angry, Emily. You'll spoil your makeup. Eric will be here soon. I'll drop you both off at the party, explain my absence to Mrs. Maddox and go on to the hospital. I'll be back before the party is over. See, it's not so bad. Come on—a smile and a kiss. Am I forgiven?"

Reluctantly, Emily complied. She was hurt and she hated to admit that, as usual, Alan was right.

"Well, if you'll promise to come just as soon as the operation is over—"

"I do."

This is the way it has always been, this is the way it will always be, in Sumner, Emily thought. Going alone, going without Alan to dinners, to parties. Eric was a help, but nothing could make her like this "widowhood" medicine had brought her after scarcely a year of marriage.

Alan would never change—not in this environment. His patients, his operations would be his first consideration. She hated playing second fiddle to anything. A man's wife should come first; he should think of her feelings. As a doctor's wife, she had a certain social position to maintain—Alan admitted that—but she couldn't maintain it alone.

She breathed a prayer—"Please God, make him go to St. Louis!"

Emily could hear Alan's voice downstairs, as he welcomed Eric. Eric's wife would never be pushed off to go to a party with another man. She was glad Eric was there. Without him, she would have called Mrs. Maddox, sent her regrets, and spent a miserable evening alone. And there would have been words when Alan returned from the hospital—sharp, angry words that hurt.

Slowly she went down the stairs.

"Is it real, or is it a picture?" Eric asked as he gazed admiringly at her. "It walks, it smiles; it's really alive!"

"And it's mine—all mine," Alan added proudly. "You're a lucky fellow Eric, getting to take this glamorous queen of beauty and charm to dinner. Watch over her, and fight off all the men—she's precious."

"You idiots!" Emily scolded, but she was pleased.

The telephone rang. Alan answered.

"Yes, Dr. Farrell. All right. I'm on my way."

He turned to them. "You'll have to take a cab. Farrell just arrived, and he wants me in a hurry." He pulled his scarf from his overcoat pocket, adjusted it quickly.

"See you later, darlin'." He bent to kiss Emily.

Eric had seen something white fall to the floor. "You dropped something, Alan," he said, but it was too late, with a slam of the door Alan was gone.

Eric bent, picked up the letter that had fallen from Alan's pocket, and handed it to Emily. It was soiled, unopened. She glanced at the postmark. "St. Louis, March—" The date was four days old.

She read the return address.

At White System

GOING to the fair? . . . You know a vacation is an investment in health and relaxation and every person should try to get away from their regular duties for a few days or two weeks at least. . . . Now, if money for the trip, and to keep things going at home while you are away is your worry, the White System can take care of this in a swell way. Just drop by and explain your needs and name the amount needed. Have a good time and take 10 months to pay for it. . . . Really, it is the smart thing to do. There are no embarrassing investigations and the plan is easy, convenient and dignified.

At Style Shop

GETTING ready to go away for that needed vacation? . . . There is a certain duty to your fur coat before you leave. The Style Shop is now offered a special low price of only $1.50 to store your coat for the summer months and this included insurance for $100.00 valuation until 1940. The Style Shop is conveniently located 141 DeSiard street and it's no matter at all to drop by and leave it . . . or, phone 499 and they will send a bonded messenger to pick it up for you. . . . There is no payment asked until you take your fur coat out next season. You may also have your fur coat cleaned and glazed by the furrier's method at only $3.50.

At Jitney Jungle

HAVE you tried the famous "VIEUX CARRE" CRAWFISH BISQUE prepared and packed in the far south which has been received in the North Fourth street Jitney Jungle store at 29c a can. Also a shipment of sweets from Havana, Cuba . . . includes plenty of that good Guava jelly. Oh, there are so many new things each week at this interesting store. . . . Drop by—browse around and look. . . . Nearly all the poets have waxed sentimental about the "flowers that bloom in the spring" and "the frost on the pumpkin," but few have spent their efforts on "Danish pastries" that truly deserve a niche in the Hall of Fame. Danish pastries, these bakers call them though I like to say "sweet" cakes as our down south cousins would say. Grand big "pretty" cakes are these and packed with fluffy "sweet nothings" until they won't hold any more. Do get some tomorrow—it's a new treat at Jitney Jungle North Fourth Street Bakery. Fresh every day.

At Griffin's

BELIEVE ME, the new Griffin's Studio building directly across from the Paramount theater is shaping up into form. . . . This progressive studio is also rounding out its 25th year in the photographic field in Monroe. . . . And, from the looks of their expansion . . . it's headed for another 25 years. Their success is well deserved, however, always sticking to high type quality work and unexcelled service that has built confidence. Keep your eye on Griffin's. . . . Monroe is justly proud of their achievements.

At Kopy Kat

I FOUND out this week why and where . . . the Kopy Kat Dress Shop located 322 DeSiard street got its name . . . (copies of expensive originals). . . . Yes, that makes them a "shore-nuf" Kopy Kat all right . . . but lucky for us gals who eye certain styles that won't fit our budget. . . . Usually you can find the very outfit at Kopy Kat for less money that you have admired somewhere else for "much money." . . . A new summer crop of dresses came in this week that will fairly "lift you up"; they are cottons . . . priced from $1.95 to $5.95. Or, maybe you are in the market for a nifty silk at $3.95 and $6.95. Anyway, you take my advice and shop at the Kopy Kat for your summer duds.

At Fink's

HAVE you noticed the men folks stepping out in those smart sensible slack suits. . . . Especially to play golf, attend ball games . . . and for lounging around? . . . At the ball games lately about six out of ten men were wearing these slack suits. Some clever pretty ones were in shantung and seem to fit much better than any other materials. I learned they came from FINK The Tailor . . . and cost only $7.95. Yes, sir, made of the same materials as his suit . . . and look how low the price is! . . . Others range in prices from $3.95 to $10.95. Materials are: Hop Sackings, Iranga, Kyro Cloth, Havana Cloth, fit comfortably with zipper fastening . . . belted and in every size and color. . . . Listen you wives . . . surprise him . . . select his own at FINK'S.

At Dan Cohen's

EVERY day . . . new things under the sun greet us in Monroe shops. . . . This time the Dan Cohen Shoe Store "is it." . . . The Hosiery Department has something new and lovely for the women folks! . . . A fine soft clinging mesh hose guaranteed not to run . . . in every new summer shade, selling for only $1.15. What a relief . . . what a beauty. . . . See it. While you are hose minded let me tell you about the Lace Caprice . . . to wear with sport or dress. Cost you only $1.49. Here is another hose you will go for like hot cakes! . . . Dranco ringless genuine crepe two-thread hose (read a newspaper through them). Flattering . . . Oh, my, only 99c pair. Now for the business girl. . . . A chiffon hose smart yet durable at 79c. . . . The children haven't been left out . . . quality "Little Gent" hose that can take it for 15c and misses' and children's anklets for 15c and 19c.

At Sears

FRESH UP . . . with a new set of slip covers, cool, breezy curtains, venetian blinds, awnings . . . and most every other thing you need to bring cooling atmosphere into your home for the hot days that are to come. . . . Sears (Mezzanine Floor) is ready to help you with your plans . . . to acquire the items you need and a convenient budget plan on which to buy them. I found beautiful awning material at only 25c a yard and 30 inches wide. Slip cover material . . . such beauties at 19c. . . . Upholstering cloth, solid colors at 89c. . . . Kitchen curtain cottage sets 59c and 89c . . . Kris-Kross curtains 100 inches wide in white and pastel at $1.55 pair. You'll always find the trimming such as ball fringe, brush fringe and loop edging. Also rods, tie backs, and other needs to dress the home up for summer.

At York Linen Shops

AFTER all . . . folks . . . graduates do appreciate the gift of handkerchiefs. I have never seen so many lovely ones as YORK LINEN SHOPS, 230 DeSiard Street, has ready for your selection. All fine imported linen in white and colors . . . applique, hemstitched, cross stitched, etc., with flowers daintily appliqued in contrasting colors . . . some with initials. . . . There are hundreds and hundreds priced from 6c to 55c. You'll love the white handmade ones at $1.95 each. For the boys . . . Lovely quality tailored linen handkerchiefs for boys . . . 10c up. York Linen Shops will attend to wrapping and mailing for you also. You'll enjoy browsing around in the York Linen Shops where articles from every corner of the world will greet you.

15,000 PHOTOGRAPHIC TESTIMONIALS

JOSEPH E. JOHNSON

For the past eight years, as portrait photographer with Griffin Studio, I have been making pictures of people in the Monroe area. During that time I have photographed more than 15,000 persons—children, boys and girls, young men and women, older people—from every walk of life.

These Pictures

Offer a record of service, ability and satisfaction. They are priceless testimonials. I am now opening my own studio, to continue making the kind of pictures I have always made—high class work, the kind that people like, at a price they can afford to pay. That will be my fixed policy.

Altrurian Club Gives Tea At McGuire Club

All Members Of Other Literary Organizations In Twin Cities Are Guests For Occasion

Memories of charming, gracious social affairs will be entertained throughout the summer by the literary club women of the Twin Cities who have climaxed their year's work with artistic social courtesies.

Every variety of flower in the lap of early summer formed the decorative and colorful background for the throngs of beautifully gowned women who gathered in friendly cliques for conversation in the lounge and around the refreshment table in the dining room. An orchestra played continuously during the receiving hours.

Mrs. Kate Morrice, wearing a black and white evening model, and Mrs. Clarence Faulk, wearing a white embroidered gown of organza, Mrs. R. B. Henry in pink organza with a wide sash of rose colored velvet and Mrs. Edward Stinson in a fuschia colored taffeta model, extended greetings. Also offering courtesies was Mrs. King Hunt in a green taffeta model with corsage of Talisman roses. Mrs. C. H. Tait, wearing a lovely model of horizon blue lace, presided over the punch bowl.

Three members of the younger set, Miss Jayne Smith in white point d'esprit, Miss Nell Rainbolt in a picturesque Dresden model and Miss Louise Rinehart in pink taffeta, robe de style, were drafted to the refreshment table.

Assisting in the serving of the luscious confections from a lace-covered flower-adorned refreshment table were Mrs. George Welsh in a peach-colored chiffon model, Miss Maida McClendon in pink organza with sash of blue velvet, Mrs. Herbert Steed in black chiffon and Mrs. D. C. Metcalf in green taffeta with corsage of Talisman roses.

This affair, an artistic triumph in club circles, marked the close of a most successful year for Altrurian members.

Meet with us in all these services; you are always welcome.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
St. John And Grammont Streets
L. T. Hastings, Pastor
D. C. Black, Pastor's Associate

The members of the local post of Veterans of Foreign Wars will worship with us Sunday morning and the pastor will bring an appropriate "Memorial day" address: "Did They Die in Vain?" or "Will Our Patriotism Now Meet the Problems of Peace as it Met the Problems of War?" All are invited to hear this timely message. The choir will bring a special number, "Come Ye Disconsolate." All are urged to be on time for Sunday school which begins at 9:45 in all departments. The Baptist Training Union, the Baptist Brotherhood and the story hour for the little children will be held at the usual time, 6:30 p.m. The evening service will be at 7:45, the pastor bringing a message on "The Lord Will Be the Hope of His People."

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
West Monroe
Dr. A. E. Prince, Pastor
Professor Dallas Goss, Music Director
Miss Beulah Doerr, Educational Director

The baccalaureate sermon for the graduation class of Crosley school will be delivered by Dr. Prince at the morning hour of worship—10:50 a.m.—today. His subject will be "The Runner Who Wins." A cordial invitation is extended to citizens of West Monroe and patrons of the school to attend this service.

The marriage of the pastor's daughter, Miss Mary Lucille Prince, to Professor Edwin Moore of Howard Payne college, Brownwood, Tex., will be celebrated in the church auditorium at 4 p.m. This service is open to the public and all are invited.

At the evening hour of service the male quartet of Northeast Junior college will be featured in a special music program of several numbers. The ordinance of baptism will be administered by Dr. Prince at the beginning of the service. The music numbers by the quartet will follow the baptismal service. Dr. Prince will then preach on "A World Wide Gospel."

The Sunday school meets at 9:45 a.m., and the Brotherhood and B. T. U. meet at 7 p.m. The B. T. U. officers and sponsors meeting is at 6:45 p.m.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH
I. J. Brooks, Pastor

Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. I. M. Corbin, superintendent. B. T. U. at 7 p.m. Miss Gertrude Gregory, director. Worship services at 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. The pastor's subjects: "The Challenge of Christ to Win the Lost" and "Sin" (I John 3:4). Someone has well said that "Unless we can learn the supremacy of spiritual forces, the pallbearers that have carried out other dead civilizations wait at our door." What about these epigrams?

"Hard work is the yeast that raises the dough."

"The things we do are our loud speakers."

"God employs no hirelings; His work is done by His sons."

CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH
3400 Lee Avenue
D. D. Cantrell, Pastor

Special service for the children today prior to the Sunday school lesson. The children should endeavor to bring their parents to this meeting. The Sunday school will begin as usual at 9:45 a.m. A class for all ages; come and share the mutual blessing from the Bible lesson with us. The Baptist Training union meets promptly at 6:30 p.m. A great blessing awaits all who will enlist in this training for church membership.

The pastor has returned from the convention which met at Oklahoma City, and will give the highlights of the convention at the morning service. At the evening service he will speak on the subject, "The Challenge to Know God." We welcome all friends of this church to worship with us in all these services.

In words of the eminent Jame Russell Lowell we say: "Once to every man and nation comes the moment to decide, in the strife with truth and falsehood, for the good or evil side; some great cause, God's new Messiah, offering each the bloom or blight. Parts the goats upon the left hand and the sheep upon the right, and the choice goes by forever 'twixt that darkness and that light. Hast thou chosen, O my people, on whose party thou shalt stand, ere the doom from its worn sandals shakes the dust against our land."

Hebrews 9:27: "It is appointed unto man once to die, but after this the judgment."

CHURCH OF CHRIST
South Second And Apple
J. P. Lowrey, Minister

Bible study 10:45 a.m. Preaching 11 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. Communion morning and evening.

Ladies' Bible class Tuesday 3 p.m. Prayer and song service Wednesday 7:45 p.m.

In view of the fact that the Bible is the divine Creator's revelation of the rules of human conduct necessary for the happiest life on earth and the attainment of joyous salvation in the life to come, it is depressing to note how few people really know this sacred book. Come and let us reason together.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES
Corner Auburn Avenue And North Second Street

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, Alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, May 28, 1939.

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Again, the devil taketh him up into an exceeding high mountain, and sheweth him all the kingdoms of the world, and the glory of them; And saith unto him, All these things will I give thee, if thou wilt fall down and worship me. Then saith Jesus unto him, Get thee hence, Satan: for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and Him only shalt thou serve." (Matt. 4.)

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Animal magnetism has no scientific foundation, for God governs all that is real, harmonious, and eternal, and His power is neither animal nor human." (p. 102.)

GRACE EPISCOPAL CHURCH
North Fourth And Glenmar Streets
Edward Farren Hayward, Rector

Services for Pentecost, commonly called Whitsunday, are as follows: the Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 7:30 a.m. As Whitsunday is a day of obligation, all communicants are expected to receive Holy Communion. Whitsunday is the birthday of Christianity. The church school will convene at 9:30 a.m., and a choral celebration of the Eucharist and sermon by the rector at 10:45 a.m.

The members of the congregation are invited to a picnic supper to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Rowland on Sunday at 4:30. Evensong will be said, followed by a social hour, and picnicking.

The church is open daily from 7:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Come in, rest, pray, give thanks, meditate.

TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH
Harrison And D'Arbonne Streets
Sherrouse Addition
Vernon C. Grosse, Pastor

There will be no services today. You are invited to attend services next Sunday at the usual time, to hear the Rev. A. Lindner of El Dorado, Ark.

FIRST METHODIST EPISOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH
The Church With The Lighted Steeple
Jackson At Wood Street
Walter C. Scott, Minister

Our minister has chosen the theme, "The Merchant's Quest," for the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday morning when the graduates of Neville High school will attend this church in a body. Verne Kelsey will preside at the organ and special music will be rendered by the choir. You are invited to worship with us. Evening services begin at 7:45. Church school classes begin at 9:30 in the children's division and 9:45 in other departments. The Monroe district conference of the Woman's Missionary society will be held at this church on Tuesday from 9:30 to 2:30. Delegates from all churches of the Monroe district will be in attendance. On Tuesday evening at the Ouachita Parish High school auditorium the Southwestern university chorus will be presented in concert under the auspices of the choir of this church with all departments of the church cooperating. Tickets may be secured from members of these organizations. This chorus is returning from an eastern tour where they have appeared in many cities en route to Baltimore, where they represented Texas and the southwest at the Federation of Music clubs. This promises to be one of the most outstanding musical programs of the year and it is hoped that all of Monroe will avail themselves of this opportunity of hearing them.

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH
West Monroe
C. Karlos Smith, Pastor

Everybody appreciates a progressive and forward looking organization at work in any community. To find out just what a great work we are doing we invite you to attend the services in our church. Our fine Sunday school meets every Sunday at 9:45 a.m. with a class for every age and a teacher to present a lesson which will prove inspirational to all who attend. Our church services are of the highest order with the presentation of the Gospel of Jesus Christ in the messages delivered by the pastor. The music is that type of sacred music which tends to inspire and bring about a worshipful attitude. G. C. Williams is the director of music assisted by Miss Madia McClendon at the piano.

We believe we have the largest attended prayer meeting in the state, and if you desire to take part in such a meeting be on hand next Wednesday evening at 7:45. The public is invited to attend every service and to take part in every phase of the worship of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

GORDON AVENUE METHODIST
J. M. Alford, Pastor

The usual program of work will be observed today with the church school opening at 9:45 a.m. and the regular worship service at 11:00 a.m. The pastor will use as the subject at this hour: "The Supreme Task of Life." The young people will hold their Epworth League services at 6:45 p.m. and the evening services will be held at 7:45 o'clock. At this time the subject will be "The Enlarged Program of the Church." At the mid-week prayer meeting service, Wednesday evening we will present the last chapter of our mission study book, "The Invincible Advance." We cordially invite all our members and friends to meet with us at all these services and come praying for victory in our Lord's kingdom work. The Wesley Brotherhood met last Thursday evening with a large number present. An interesting and profitable program was rendered, led by R. L. Hales, the president. All three departments of the Sunday school will meet today in the church at 10:30 a.m. to observe "Church School Day," led by E. K. Reeves the general superintendent. We have choir practice every Friday evening.

STONE AVENUE METHODIST CHURCH
Stone Avenue And South Third Street
I. L. Yeager, Pastor

Lost—75 per cent of our boys and 65 per cent of our girls during teen age. Last seen in intermediate or senior classes. Appeared restless and uninterested before becoming irregular in attendance and finally disappeared. Reply—Department lost boys and girls, the Sunday schools of America. The first corps of searchers will mobilize at 9:45 a.m. The call for volunteers is being extended. Information and a message given, also a study of the law at 11 o'clock a.m. Leaguers will assemble for reports and instruction at 6:45 p.m. All groups will gather in the main camp at 7:30, for relaxation, fellowship, reports and marching orders. Will you volunteer and report at the above hours of meeting" Circle meetings Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. Midweek Bible study Thursday evening at 7:30. The ninth chapter of Revelation will be the evening lesson.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE
Thomas Avenue At Richmond Streets
G. M. And Ina Lee Akin, Pastors

"Wilt thou not revive us again, O Lord, that Thy people may rejoice in Thee?"

The spiritual life of the individual and the church needs an awakening. There is much lukewarmness, indifference, backsliding and outbroken sin in the church, as well as among the unchurched people everywhere. There should be a backward march: Back to God and the Bible, back to prayer and ethical living, back to church and Sunday school, back to honesty and morality. People make time by traveling the main highway. It is true in religion. Salvation through Jesus Christ is the only Christian way.

We offer to you a spiritual feast this week-end. Rev. Elbert Dodd is giving great evangelistic sermons. Buford Bargher is singing the sweet songs of the kingdom. The Sunday school announces a rally with the Reds and Blues in contest. The young people will give interesting programs at 6:45 p.m. The W. F. M. S. will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Prayer meeting Wednesday at 7:45 p.m.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Grammont At Catalpa
Ernest Holloway, Pastor

"A Practical Memorial Meditation" and "Can We Hide Our Meanness?" are the subjects of our messages. The first will deal with the possibilities of a practical observance of Memorial day; the second with something many of us are disposed to disregard. The veterans of all wars are most cordially invited to worship with us.

Were you present for the Sabbath school hour last Sunday? The lessons deal with matters of interest. "Man does not live by bread alone; but by every word which the Lord hath revealed." There is a place for you. If you will join us in the study of the Bible, you will be richer and the means of cheering the faithful.

Our purpose is to enrich life, lift the fallen, encourage the depressed, and inspire the saints. Your presence at the worship periods is desired. If you attend, you are saying with Joshua—"But as for me and my house we will serve the Lord." Whether intended or no, absence from divine worship reveals that we are sufficient unto ourselves and able to meet the issues as they arise.

SALVATION ARMY
Adjutant And Mrs. Glen Washburn, Officers In Charge
201 Wood Street

Sunday school 9:45 a.m.; holiness meeting, 11 a.m.; Salvation meeting 7:45 p.m.; Young Peoples Legion, 6:15 p.m.

The conference was held in Monroe last year.

THREE STEPS IN THE EVOLUTION OF ELIZABETH'S CLOTHES

Clarks

The guests included: Margie Bass, E. P. Chapman, Jr., Harietta Cobb, Elizabeth Eason, Mary Ferree, Ray M. Greene, Doc Howard, Maxine Jordan, Myrtice Kennison, Amos Ozelle Lindsey, Marjorie Loflin, Lenora May, Bobbie McBroom, Herman O'Banion, Frank Reeves, Dorothea Richman, Hazel Rogers, Billie Rogers, Clarence Martin, seniors; Mr. and Mrs. Loy Camp, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Johnston, Miss Carmen Gerlach, faculty members and friends; Letaine Knowles, Charles Cooksey, Ernest Meredith, Chlotield Dunn, Hazel Cotton, Elsie Carter, Lloyd Carroll, Lois Carroll, Juanita Thomas, Mildred Patton, Mildred Ballard, Leon Kees, Dalton Boyd, Laurence Rogers, Charles Riser, Warren Rodgers, Rudolph and Johnnie Estess, Carl Wallis, Leon Howell, J. D. Harris, Edridge Loflin, and Stuart Richman, juniors.

Immediately following the banquet, Charles Cooksey entertained at a dance at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Cooksey, as a compliment to the senior class. Joining the banquet guests for the dance were Helen Dawes, Sylvia Greene and Bertie Helen May and Blake Harveston.

C. C. Sheppard, president and general manager of the Louisiana Central Lumber company of Clarks, has returned from Kansas City, Mo., where he attended a meeting of the company's directors.

On his return home Mr. Sheppard was accompanied by a party of directors and stockholders who are making their annual visit to the local lumber plants. In this party were R. B. White, Kansas City, Mo.; W. B. Pettibone, Hannibal, Mo.; G. W. Dulany, Clinton, Ia.; G. W. Grandin, Cleveland, O.; Henry B. Grandin, Los Angeles, Calif.; W. M. Lange and M. Lange, Dallas, Tex.

The pastor has returned from the convention which met at Oklahoma City, and will give the highlights of the convention at the morning service. At the evening service he will speak on the subject, "The Challenge to Know God." We welcome all friends of this church to worship with us in all these services.

In words of the eminent Jame Russell Lowell we say: "Once to every man and nation comes the moment to decide, in the strife with truth and falsehood, for the good or evil side; some great cause, God's new Messiah, offering each the bloom or blight. Parts the goats upon the left hand and the sheep upon the right, and the choice goes by forever 'twixt that darkness and that light. Hast thou chosen, O my people, on whose party thou shalt stand, ere the doom from its worn sandals shakes the dust against our land."

Hebrews 9:27: "It is appointed unto man once to die, but after this the judgment."

CHURCH OF CHRIST

Bible study 10:45 a.m. Preaching 11 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. Communion morning and evening.

Ladies' Bible class Tuesday 3 p.m. Prayer and song service Wednesday 7:45 p.m.

In view of the fact that the Bible is the divine Creator's revelation of the rules of human conduct necessary for the happiest life on earth and the attainment of joyous salvation in the life to come, it is depressing to note how few people really know this sacred book. Come and let us reason together.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES
Corner Auburn Avenue And North Second Street

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, Alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, May 28, 1939.

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Again, the devil taketh him up into an exceeding high mountain, and sheweth him all the kingdoms of the world, and the glory of them; And saith unto him, All these things will I give thee, if thou wilt fall down and worship me. Then saith Jesus unto him, Get thee hence, Satan: for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and Him only shalt thou serve." (Matt. 4.)

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Animal magnetism has no scientific foundation, for God governs all that is real, harmonious, and eternal, and His power is neither animal nor human." (p. 102.)

GRACE EPISCOPAL CHURCH
North Fourth And Glenmar Streets
Edward Farren Hayward, Rector

Services for Pentecost, commonly called Whitsunday, are as follows: the Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 7:30 a.m. As Whitsunday is a day of obligation, all communicants are expected to receive Holy Communion. Whitsunday is the birthday of Christianity. The church school will convene at 9:30 a.m., and a choral celebration of the Eucharist and sermon by the rector at 10:45 a.m.

The members of the congregation are invited to a picnic supper to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Rowland on Sunday at 4:30. Evensong will be said, followed by a social hour, and picnicking.

The church is open daily from 7:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Come in, rest, pray, give thanks, meditate.

The Church With The Lighted Steeple
Jackson At Wood Street
Walter C. Scott, Minister

Our minister has chosen the theme, "The Merchant's Quest," for the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday morning when the graduates of Neville High school will attend this church in a body. Verne Kelsey will preside at the organ and special music will be rendered by the choir. You are invited to worship with us. Evening services begin at 7:45. Church school classes begin at 9:30 in the chldren's division and 9:45 in other departments. The Monroe district conference of the Woman's Missionary society will be held at this church on Tuesday from 9:30 to 2:30. Delegates from all churches of the Monroe district will be in attendance. On Tuesday evening at the Ouachita Parish High school auditorium the Southwestern university chorus will be presented in concert under the auspices of the choir of this church with all departments of the church cooperating. Tickets may be secured from members of these organizations. This chorus is returning from an eastern tour where they have appeared in many cities en route to Baltimore, where they represented Texas and the southwest at the Federation of Music clubs. This promises to be one of the most outstanding musical programs of the year and it is hoped that all of Monroe will avail themselves of this opportunity of hearing them.

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH
West Monroe
C. Karlos Smith, Pastor

Everybody appreciates a progressive and forward looking organization at work in any community. To find out just what a great work we are doing we invite you to attend the services in our church. Our fine Sunday school meets every Sunday at 9:45 a.m. with a class for every age and a teacher to present a lesson which will prove inspirational to all who attend. Our church services are of the highest order with the presentation of the Gospel of Jesus Christ in the messages delivered by the pastor. The music is that type of sacred music which tends to inspire and bring about a worshipful attitude. G. C. Williams is the director of music assisted by Miss Madia McClendon at the piano.

We believe we have the largest attended prayer meeting in the state, and if you desire to take part in such a meeting be on hand next Wednesday evening at 7:45. The public is invited to attend every service and to take part in every phase of the worship of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

GORDON AVENUE METHODIST
J. M. Alford, Pastor

The usual program of work will be observed today with the church school opening at 9:45 a.m. and the regular worship service at 11:00 a.m. The pastor will use as the subject at this hour: "The Supreme Task of Life." The young people will hold their Epworth League services at 6:45 p.m. and the evening services will be held at 7:45 o'clock. At this time the subject will be "The Enlarged Program of the Church." At the wid-week prayer meeting service, Wednesday evening we will present the last chapter of our mission study book, "The Invincible Advance." We cordially invite all our members and friends to meet with us at all these services and come praying for victory in our Lord's kingdom work. The Wesley Brotherhood met last Thursday evening with a large number present. An interesting and profitable program was rendered, led by R. L. Hales, the president. All three departments of the Sunday school will meet today in the church at 10:30 a.m. to observe "Church School Day," led by E. K. Reeves the general superintendent. We have choir practice every Friday evening.

STONE AVENUE METHODIST CHURCH
Stone Avenue And South Third Street
I. L. Yeager, Pastor

Lost—75 per cent of our boys and 65 per cent of our girls during teen ages. Last seen in intermediate or senior classes. Appeared restless and uninterested before becoming irregular in attendance and finally disappeared. Reply—Department lost boys and girls, the Sunday schools of America. The first corps of searchers will mobilize at 9:45 a.m. The call for volunteers is being extended. Information and a message given, also a study of the law at 11 o'clock a.m. Leaguers will assemble for reports and instruction at 6:45 p.m. All groups will gather in the main camp at 7:30, for relaxation, fellowship, reports and marching orders. Will you volunteer and report at the above hours of meeting? Circle meetings Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. Midweek Bible study Thursday evening at 7:30. The ninth chapter of Revelation will be the evening lesson.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE
Thomas Avenue At Richmond Streets
G. M. And Ina Lee Akin, Pastors

"Wilt thou not revive us again, O Lord, that Thy people may rejoice in Thee?"

The spiritual life of the individual and the church needs an awakening. There is much lukewarmness, indifference, backsliding and outbroken sin in the church, as well as among the unchurched people everywhere. There should be a backward march: Back to God and the Bible, back to prayer and ethical living, back to church and Sunday school, back to honesty and morality. People make time by traveling the main highway. It is true in religion. Salvation through Jesus Christ is the only Christian way.

We offer to you a spiritual feast this week-end. Rev. Elbert Dodd is giving great evangelistic sermons. Bluford Burgner is singing the sweet songs of the kingdom. The Sunday school announces a rally with the Reds and Blues in contest. The young people will give interesting programs at 6:45 p.m. The W. F. M. S. will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Prayer meeting Wednesday at 7:45 p.m.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Grammont At Catalpa
Ernest Holloway, Pastor

"A Practical Memorial Meditation" and "Can We Hide Our Meanness?" are the subjects of our messages. The first will deal with the possibilities of a practical observance of Memorial day; the second with something many of us are disposed to disregard. The veterans of all wars are most cordially invited to worship with us.

Were you present for the Sabbath school hour last Sunday? The lessons deal with matters of interest. "Man does not live by bread alone: but by every word which the Lord hath revealed." There is a place for you. If you will join us in the study of the Bible, you will be richer and the means of cheering the faithful.

Our purpose is to enrich life, lift the fallen, encourage the depressed, and inspire the saints. Your presence at the worship periods is desired. If you attend, you are saying with Joshua—"But as for me and my house we will serve the Lord." Whether intended or no, absence from divine worship reveals that we are sufficient unto ourselves and able to meet the issues as they arise.

SALVATION ARMY
Adjutant And Mrs. Glen Washburn, Officers In Charge
201 Wood Street

Sunday school 9:45 a.m.; holiness meeting, 11 a.m.; Salvation meeting, 7:45 p.m.; Young Peoples Legion, 6:15 p.m.

Adjutant and Mrs. Washburn and a delegation of about 20 young people left here Saturday morning to attend the youth conference at Alexandria.

The new commissioner for the southern territory, Lieutenant Commissioner William C. Arnold, and Mrs. Arnold were to meet the young folks of this section of the south at the conference.

The conference was held in Monroe last year.

Eloise Aden Marries At Lake Providence

Becomes Bride Of Richard Keener Howard, Jr., In Ceremony At Home Of Sister

The interest of friends in this section of the state is centered in the marriage of Miss Eloise Aden, daughter of Mr. W. E. Aden of Bastrop, and Mr. Richard Keener Howarld, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Howard of Lake Providence, Friday evening, May 19, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. W. T. Turner, and Mr. Turner, at 8 o'clock.

An improvised altar was formed by the placement of tall floor baskets overflowing with Calla lilies and ferns. Rev. A. L. Russell, pastor of the Lake Providence Baptist church, stood in the enclosure to perform the double ring ceremony.

While the guests were assembling, Mrs. Sterling Merrill, pianist, rendered a pre-nuptial concert.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely dusty rose lace model with becoming square neck line, puffed sleeves and wide, full skirt. A corsage of sweet peas was worn.

Members of the two families and a few intimate friends attended the informal reception immediately following the ceremony. A handsome lace cloth covered the dining table, which was centered with the three-tiered bride's cake, surmounted with miniature bride and groom standing under a wedding bell. Cake and fruit punch was served during the evening.

After a motor honeymoon to points in Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Howard will return to reside at Highland plantation.

Mrs. Howard graduated from the Lake Providence High school and attended the Louisiana State Normal college, and is a secretary for the East Carroll parish department of public welfare. Mr. Howard graduated from the Lake Providence High school and Southwestern School of Agriculture and was a member of Sigma Pi Alpha and Demeter, and is engaged in planting in East Carroll.

Eloise Aden Marries At Lake Providence

Becomes Bride Of Richard Keener Howard, Jr., In Ceremony At Home Of Sister

The interest of friends in this section of the state is centered in the marriage of Miss Eloise Aden, daughter of Mr. W. E. Aden of Bastrop, and Mr. Richard Keener Howarld, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Howard of Lake Providence, Friday evening, May 19, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. W. T. Turner, and Mr. Turner, at 8 o'clock.

An improvised altar was formed by the placement of tall floor baskets overflowing with Calla lilies and ferns. Rev. A. L. Russell, pastor of the Lake Providence Baptist church, stood in the enclosure to perform the double ring ceremony.

While the guests were assembling, Mrs. Sterling Merrill, pianist, rendered a pre-nuptial concert.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely dusty rose lace model with becoming square neck line, puffed sleeves and wide, full skirt. A corsage of sweet peas was worn.

Members of the two families and a few intimate friends attended the informal reception immediately following the ceremony. A handsome lace cloth covered the dining table, which was centered with the three-tiered bride's cake, surmounted with miniature bride and groom standing under a wedding bell. Cake and fruit punch was served during the evening.

After a motor honeymoon to points in Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Howard will return to reside at Highland plantation.

Mrs. Howard graduated from the Lake Providence High school and attended the Louisiana State Normal college, and is a secretary for the East Carroll parish department of public welfare. Mr. Howard graduated from the Lake Providence High school and Southwestern School of Agriculture and was a member of Sigma Pi Alpha and Demeter, and is engaged in planting in East Carroll.

'Love Affair' Opens Engagement Today At Paramoun

Miss Dunne Co-Starred With Boyer

Brilliant Actors Make First Appearance Together In Romance

MAKING their first appearance together as a romantic team, Irene Dunne and Charles Boyer have the stellar roles in "Love Affair," coming to the Paramount theater today. Produced and directed by Leo McCarey, who was responsible for the academy prize-winning hit, "The Awful Truth," the current offering affords Miss Dunne her first straight dramatic role in several years.

Miss Dunne is cast as the luxury-loving fiancee of a wealthy business man who sends her on frequent trips to Europe to collect art objects for him. Returning from one of these missions, she meets Charles Boyer, the notorious Continental playboy.

Although Boyer is also engaged, the shipboard acquaintance of the mundane couple quickly develops into a genuine romance that virtually sweeps them both off their feet. At a brief stopover on the Portuguese island of Madeira, the romantic influence of the picturesque background fuses their love into an almost invulnerable solidarity.

Boyer, who has known only a caviar-and-champagne life, decides to prove himself worthy of this great love by a six-month romantic moratorium, during which he will work in New York as an artist. Similarly, Miss Dunne goes to work as a night club singer.

At the end of the period, they rush to the established meeting ground. Boyer arrives first, but his sweetheart meets with an automobile accident and is taken to the hospital.

Believing that she is permanently lamed, Miss Dunne refrains from notifying Boyer. She prefers that he suffer this disappointment than marry her, who would be a burden.

The plot development mounts to an exciting, heart-gripping climax, after the principals endure an interlude of personal sacrifice.

As the title indicates, romance has its day in "Love affairs," even unto the backgrounds. Seldom pictured Madeira island, Manhattan and all its smart social rendezvous, and a first-rate Atlantic liner are settings which are at once breath-takingly beautiful and exciting.

Miss Dunne sings two numbers in "Love Affair," "Sing My Heart" and "Wishing." Maria Ouspenskaya, as Boyer's grandmother, heads the featured cast of this RKO Radio picture which includes Lee Bowman and Astrid Allwyn, as the betrothed mates of Miss Dunne and Boyer, and Maurice Moscovich, as an old art dealer.

Jackie Cooper, Kathryn "Sugar" Kane and Freddie Bartholomew in Universal's "Spirit of Culver," a timely drama of youth, its eager hopes, dreams and ambitions, showing at the Paramount theater Wednesday only.

Loretta Young and Warner Baxter, co-stars of 20th Century-Fox's slam-bang comedy romance, "Wife, Husband and Friend," playing Friday and Saturday at the Paramount theater.

'Huck Finn' Plays Again At Capitol

Mickey Rooney Is Star Of Mark Twain's Story Of Mississippi

"THE ADVENTURES OF HUCKLEBERRY FINN," Mark Twain's sequel to 'Tom Sawyer,' with Mickey Rooney in the title role playing his first solo starring part in a dramatic story of life on the Mississippi, is the attraction starting today at the Capitol theater.

Familiar to millions of readers, the Mark Twain story presents Mickey as the river lad who seeks to aid a runaway slave to escape up the river to a free state. Their raft is invaded by two comical swindlers, "The King" and "The Duke," who give bogus Shakespearean plays, plot to sell the slave back to slavery, and are about to defraud two girls of their father's estate when Huck exposes them and precipitates a dramatic climax.

Much of the action was filmed on the Sacramento river, which did service as the Mississippi, and where one of the last old river steamers still in service in this country staged the dramatic race to rescue the slave from a lynch mob.

Richard Thorpe, who filmed "The Crowd Roars" and other hits, directed the new picture. The cast includes Walter Connolly as the "King," who, with Mickey as Juliet, stages an absurd "Romeo and Juliet" performance in a river village. "The Duke," second of the swindlers, is played by William Frawley, veteran of stage and screen, and the kindly Widow Douglass, benefactress of the boy, is enacted by Elizabeth Risdon. Jim, the runaway, is played by Rex Ingram, the negro actor who scored as "De Lawd" in "Green Pastures."

The two heiresses whom Mickey rescues from the swindlers are played by Lynne Carver and Jo Ann Sayers, and the remaining supporting roles are filled by Minor Watson, Victor Kilian and Clara Blandick.

Dramatic highlights include the boy's attempt to run away to save the widow from paying blackmail, his discovery of the runaway slave, their raft trip up the river with frequent narrow escapes, the encroachment of the swindlers, the absurd Shakespearean performance and the plot to swindle the girls. The negro carrying the boy, bitten by a snake, to medical aid, knowing it means return to slavery, and the mad dash of the steamer to save him from the lynch mob, are other dramatic thrills.

'Love Affair' Opens Engagement Today At Paramoun

Brilliant Actors Make First Appearance Together In Romance

MAKING their first appearance together as a romantic team, Irene Dunne and Charles Boyer have the stellar roles in "Love Affair," coming to the Paramount theater today. Produced and directed by Leo McCarey, who was responsible for the academy prize-winning hit, "The Awful Truth," the current offering affords Miss Dunne her first straight dramatic role in several years.

Miss Dunne is cast as the luxury-loving fiancee of a wealthy business man who sends her on frequent trips to Europe to collect art objects for him. Returning from one of these missions, she meets Charles Boyer, the notorious Continental playboy.

Although Boyer is also engaged, the shipboard acquaintance of the mundane couple quickly develops into a genuine romance that virtually sweeps them both off their feet. At a brief stopover on the Portuguese island of Madeira, the romantic influence of the picturesque background fuses their love into an almost invulnerable solidarity.

Boyer, who has known only a caviar-and-champagne life, decides to prove himself worthy of this great love by a six-month romantic moratorium, during which he will work in New York as an artist. Similarly, Miss Dunne goes to work as a night club singer.

At the end of the period, they rush to the established meeting ground. Boyer arrives first, but his sweetheart meets with an automobile accident and is taken to the hospital.

Believing that she is permanently lamed, Miss Dunne refrains from notifying Boyer. She prefers that he suffer this disappointment than marry her, who would be a burden.

The plot development mounts to an exciting, heart-gripping climax, after the principals endure an interlude of personal sacrifice.

As the title indicates, romance has its day in "Love affairs," even unto the backgrounds. Seldom pictured Madeira island, Manhattan and all its smart social rendezvous, and a first-rate Atlantic liner are settings which are at once breath-takingly beautiful and exciting.

Miss Dunne sings two numbers in "Love Affair," "Sing My Heart" and "Wishing." Maria Ouspenskaya, as Boyer's grandmother, heads the featured cast of this RKO Radio picture which includes Lee Bowman and Astrid Allwyn, as the betrothed mates of Miss Dunne and Boyer, and Maurice Moscovich, as an old art dealer.

Jackie Cooper, Kathryn "Sugar" Kane and Freddie Bartholomew in Universal's "Spirit of Culver," a timely drama of youth, its eager hopes, dreams and ambitions, showing at the Paramount theater Wednesday only.

Loretta Young and Warner Baxter, co-stars of 20th Century-Fox's slam-bang comedy romance, "Wife, Husband and Friend," playing Friday and Saturday at the Paramount theater.

There are a number of Ann Arbor models—one for any kind of baling job. Advise Frick company of your baling needs and the firm will suggest the proper Ann Arbor to get your job done. Or better still, visit the establishment at 129-133 North Grand street and discuss your problems with members of the firm. There are several Ann Arbors on display there.

Frick company also deals in Frick sawmills, power units, tractors, threshers, combines, Bear Cat hammer mills and farm machinery of every description.

Spray Painting Saves Property

The paint department of Lane Wilson Seed company, 100 North Sixth street, of which A. B. Buck is manager, is saving property owners in Arkansas and Louisiana thousands of dollars by protecting their investments with paint using the economical spray method of application.

In spray painting the properties of these people—industrial plants of a transitory nature, plantation cabins and barns, negro quarters, sheet metal and rough-lumber warehouses and sheds, private garages of cheap construction and the like—the paint department of Lane Wilson Seed company is effecting substantial savings for them. The yearly cost of spray painting has been figured to be only one-fifth the annual cost of deterioration.

You, too, can avoid constant repairs to properties on which the cost of painting by the brush method is prohibitive. You will be surprised at what low cost these properties can be protected from the elements by spray painting.

Incidentally, spray painting not only beautifies and protects, but preserves as well. The air pressure used in spraying the paint drives it into the timbers to which it is applied. In most instances only one coat of spray paint is required to give unsightly structures both attraction and protection.

Let Mr. Buck explain the economy of spray painting to you. He may be reached by calling telephone number 4790.

Advice Is Given On Side Dressers

The use of side dressers, usually a nitrogen fertilizer, is an old practice in the southern states. The application of nitrate of soda to cotton and corn at the proper stages of growth has always proved a good investment.

Crops inadequately fertilized at time of planting should receive an additional side application of fertilizers. If cotton is fertilized at planting and not enough potash has been used, or no potash at all, a combination fertilizer of potash and nitrogen can be used as a side dresser.

Tyner-Petrus company, 311 Trenton street, West Monroe, the telephone number of which is 2660, suggests a 10-0-10 analysis.

It carries at all times large stocks of both Chilean and Arcadian nitrate of soda and also the combination nitrate and potash fertilizer known as Big Crop 10-0-10 analysis.

We-Too's Minced Barbecued Beef Sandwich Great

Why worry about Sunday night supper or supper any other night during the warm summer months when you can get a big minced barbecued beef sandwich, with a helping of potato salad on the side, at We-Too Sandwich shop, 1602 DeSiard street, for 15 cents. One of these sandwiches and a cold bottle of beer or some other cold drink will thoroughly appease your appetite.

And don't forget, now that fishing trips, outdoor entertainments and picnics are the order to the day, that We-Too can make all the preparations for you for materially less than you can make them yourself. It is offering a special price of 39 cents a pound on barbecued pork ribs. Pound prices on other popular We-Too items are: sliced barbecued veal or beef, 50 cents; sliced barbecued pork ham, 65 cents; barbecued beans, 30 cents, and potato salad, 25 cents.

Lower bulk prices are made on large orders of any of the items, depending on the amount purchased. For people who like to buy their own meats for barbecue, We-Too Sandwich shop offers the facilities of its barbecuing pits at a moderate cost. In connection with this barbecuing, the establishment furnishes everything but the meats.

All barbecue sandwiches at We-Too Sandwich shop are 15 cents. The same price prevails for individual orders of barbecued beans, which are served steaming hot in clay pots. Plate orders are 25 cents, with the exception of pork ham, which are 35 cents. A helping of potato salad goes with each sandwich, and in addition to potato salad, sliced tomatoes and pickles are served with each plate order. While boasting of the coldest bottled drinks in town, We-Too Sandwich shop sells all brands of beer, with the exception of a couple, for 10 cents a bottle.

Champions for the champion! When Floyd Roberts flashed to victory in last year's Indianapolis 500-mile race in the record time of 117.2 miles per hour, he gave a major portion of the credit to the Firestone tires that carried him through the grind without any semblance of trouble. On May 30, Floyd will again ride on the tires that have carried the last 19 drivers to victory at Indianapolis. Every day of the year he and his family ride on Firestone Champion tires because his experience on the speedway has taught him the importance of safe equipment on the highway. Firestone tires are distributed and sold here by Firestone Auto Supply and Service store, corner of Washington and North Third streets.

Wayne Hog Feeds Grow Pork Faster

You grow pigs to pork faster and more economically with the Wayne hog feeding program. You can put 225-pound hogs on the market in five to six months by feeding the Wayne way.

The manner in which Wayne hog feeds, which are completely mineralized, may be used to supplement home-grown grains is available in pamphlets which may be had free of charge at Lane Wilson Seed company, 113-115 North Grand street. Moreover, employes of the establishment will be glad to give you all the information they themselves have acquired about Wayne hog feeds.

Since the firm deals extensively in Wayne hog feeds, the sales staff of the store has obtained considerable first-hand information from farmers who have tried the feeds. They have learned the best combinations of Wayne hog feed with grains grown in this section.

The information they have and the facts contained in the pamphlets they will give you without cost will enable you to build better bacon, build it faster and build it more economically.

Visit Lane Wilson Seed company and inquire about the Wayne system of hog feeding. There is a feed for each stage of growth and development, a feed that gets results.

CLASS NIGHT IS OBSERVED HERE

St. Matthew's High School Celebrates Completion Of Year's Work

Class night was observed by St. Matthew's school class of 1939 Friday at 8 p.m., when Dr. F. P. Rizzo delivered the principal address.

The salutatory was delivered by Robert Rimes, the valedictory by Clifton Worsham. A violin selection was rendered by Miss Eileen MacKinnon and there was a vocal duet by Charles Bigger and Miss Eloise Temple, with Miss Ella Rose Crawford, pianist.

Class history was given by Mildred Keller; "Juniors to Freshies," by Rosemary Worsham, with response by Jacqueline Voohries and class prophecy by Marilyn Rolleigh.

The honor roll for the year in the high school department was read by Father M. F. Walsh and medals and honors awarded. They were as follows: Highest yearly average in each class—freshmen, Robert Clouatre; sophomore class, Bobby Elioff; junior class—Rosemary Worsham; senior class, Cliff Worsham. The scholarship award for the highest average in the junior class went to Rosemary Worsham. The athletic award went to Bobby Rimes. The C. D. A. medal for the highest yearly average in religion in the senior class was given to Cliff Worsham. Scholarship to St. Vincent's college in Shreveport was awarded to Mildred Keller. The D. A. R. award for senior class history went to Cliff Worsham and Bobby Rimes, while the American Legion medals went to Mildred Keller and Bobby Rimes.

CAMP FIRE

Okeehee

The Okeehee group met at the Bawcomville recreation center Saturday. After each girl had recited the Camp Fire law, the trail seekers' desire was learned. The group discussed plans to earn the remainder of the group's dues and after the meeting aided in the cleaning of the playground.

Those present were: Leora Lewis, Georgette Bowie, Margie Reese, Vera Mae Anding, Betty Bawcom, Virginia Butler, Winnie Smith, Allie Mae Clark, Clarice Davis and the guardian, Miss Junie McRamey.

Chitimacha

The Chitimacha group met Friday afternoon with its guardian, Miss Rose Taylor, at Camp Fire headquarters. The group's charter was received and membership cards given out.

Plans were made for the group to take swimming tests to earn health honors and swimming emblems.

After the meeting cookies were passed to Dorothy Prater, Reta Clement, Evelyn Middleton, Linda O'Kelly, Betty Dawson and Bennie Turner.

Tami

The Tami group met Friday afternoon at the home of its guardian, Mrs. Dopson in West Monroe. The meeting was opened with each girl repeating the trail seekers' desire, after which each told the number of requirements she had fulfilled of the rank of trail seeker. Plans were made for the camp to be held July 2.

Tawanka

The Tawanka group met Thursday afternoon at the home of its guardian, Mrs. Fred Hemler, on Sherrouse avenue.

Camping, for which the group is preparing, was discussed. Each girl is to start a personal notebook in which to keep her own Camp Fire records, such as lists of honors won, ranks earned, information or notes on interesting activities. This book may be a simple, practical notebook or one illustrated attractively.

Cookies were passed after the meeting to Louise Williams, Elizabeth Ellis, Mary Lee Perot, Beatrice Panzico, Vivian Weathersby, Jean Hemler, Ottolyne Payne, Mary Lue Parker, Patsy Ann Harbuck, Betty Benson, Ruth Horton, Jonnye Lou McCarthy and Dorothy Younce.

Blue Birds

The Blue Birds met Wednesday afternoon at the Mitchell school with Miss Fairchild. The law of the fire in air pictures (sign language) was learned and the Blue Birds look forward to more air pictures next week.

After the meeting candy was passed to Janette Pace, Jonita Bellmore, Aline Edney, Frances Sue Breck, Annette Pace, Eloise Hobbs, Dorothy Odom, Mary Jo Vernon, Shirley Odom.

Wacherlovan Nos. 1 And 2

The Wacherlovan groups Nos. 1 and 2 met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Neely at the Camp Fire headquarters. A match on information of the trail seeker rank was held and two leaders appointed by Mrs. Neely were Florence Reynolds and Betty Firnberg. Each leader chose a girl for her side until all the girls were chosen.

Wicaka

This group met at the Mitchell school with the guardian, Miss Hazel Fairchild, Monday afternoon. Plans were made to earn at least one honor in each of the seven crafts and the group decided to start with cooking, which is home craft. They will prepare and cook three foreign dishes.

After the meeting candy was passed and games were played. Those present were Evelyn Gannaway, Delores Masset, Louise Williamson, Lorice Caples, Norma Jean Warren, Patsy Ruth Gandy, Mildred White, Eloise Woods and Jackie White.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING!

Millsaps Offers Bargain Prices On Refrigerators

No one whose home is wired for electric current need go without electric refrigeration this summer—not at the price Millsaps Furniture company, 303 Trenton street, West Monroe, dealer in new and used furniture, is quoting reconditioned electric refrigerators.

It has a reconditioned MW four-foot refrigerator priced at only $57.50 and a number of other makes and models as low as $25.

Then, too, for as little as $5, you can get a reconditioned radio at Millsaps Furniture company. It has all makes and models in used radios at exactly the price you are able to pay.

The price of reconditioned gas ranges it has in stock begins at $7.50. These ranges are in excellent operating condition and worth considerably more than is being asked for them.

Used two and three-piece living room suites can be had at Millsaps Furniture company for as little as $14.95 and new Simmons gliders with coil springs are priced there at only $19.95.

Terms to suit each purchaser can be arranged at Millsaps Furniture company. The firm is noted not only for its low prices, but for its liberal credit terms as well.

TERMITE DAMAGE IN MONROE HOME

This shows a part of the damage termites did to a Monroe home. They shredded this and three other sills, as well as weather boards and studs. Termite engineers of Terminix of Louisiana, 321 Bernhardt building, replaced the damaged wood and insulated the structure against further termite attacks. Terminix of Louisiana operates throughout the northern section of the state. Its telephone number is 1341.

Royal Feed Has All That Canners Need

You home gardeners, no doubt you have or will have a surplus of vegetables within the near future. Well, be economical and can 'em. They'll taste mighty fine during the winter to come.

The necessary canning equipment is inexpensive—that is, when it's purchased from Royal Feed and Seed store, 812 DeSiard street—and will last a lifetime with ordinary care.

It has canners and cookers of varying sizes—just the size to fit the surplus production of your garden. Moreover, it has sealers that not only seal cans but cut and reflange those you've already used for reuse.

And you're sure to find the proper containers and other requirements for putting up preserves and jellies at Royal Feed and Seed store. The establishment has just received a carload of fruit jars and jelly glasses in varying sizes. Moreover, it has jar tops of all varieties, rubber rings for jars and sealing wax.

FAST, ECONOMICAL HAY BALER

This is the answer to your hay baling problem—an Ann Arbor Pick-up baler. This baler is equally efficient for windrow, stack, shock or barn baling. It enables you to bale your hay quicker and with fewer workers, thereby reducing your costs. Moreover, it turns out uniformly superior bales of hay, thereby increasing your profits.

Ann Arbor Pick-up balers, which are products of 57 years of specialized manufacturing, are sold in this area by Frick company, 129-133 North Grand street.

Exclusive features of the Ann Arbor Pick-up baler give more even and smoother operation, more power and less wear. The pick-up attachment is thoroughly proven to do a satisfactory job. It will operate efficiently with any type of hay—soy bean, alfalfa, lespedeza, Johnson grass or any other kind.

The Ann Arbor Pick-up baler gives a superior quality of hay—hay with more leaves—because there is less handling. It operates with a three-man crew, resulting in valuable savings both in time and dollars. It operates satisfactorily from either power take off drive or motor drive. Any 20 horsepower tractor furnishes sufficient power.

There are a number of Ann Arbor models—one for any kind of baling job. Advise Frick company of your baling needs and the firm will suggest the proper Ann Arbor to get your job done. Or better still, visit the establishment at 129-133 North Grand street and discuss your problems with members of the firm. There are several Ann Arbors on display there.

Frick company also deals in Frick sawmills, power units, tractors, threshers, combines, Bear Cat hammer mills and farm machinery of every description.

GEORGE F. WHITE NAMED HOMER LIONS CLUB HEAD

HOMER, La., May 27.—(Special)—George F. White, well known business man here, has been elected president of the Homer Lions club for the ensuing year.

Other officers elected include B. E. Nelson, first vice-president; Joe Robertson, second vice-president; Rev. B. C. Taylor, third vice-president; Grady Mullenix, secretary; Rev. H. H. Gordon, lion tamer; E. H. Fortson, tail twister.

The board of directors includes H. G. Robinson, Marx Maritzky, Harry McKenzie, N. J. Kendrick and B. W. Fortson, Jr.

WPA ALLOTMENTS MADE FOR MALARIA CONTROL

Two WPA allotments for Morehouse parish have been approved by the government, according to information received at the office of Representative Newt V. Mills.

The first carries appropriation of $1,944 for the drainage of swamps and ponds to provide malaria control in the vicinity of Moore's community. The second project also for malaria control is for $2,563, near Oak Ridge. Canals and other necessary construction are to be provided for.

The sponsors are the Louisiana state board of health and the Morehouse parish police jury.

WHEN FELLOW SCOTS MEET

FORMAL PHOTOGRAPHER

This picture is guaranteed not to be a gag. The plutocratic-looking gentleman you see above is just a photographer with the royal party. To snap the king and queen as their majesties visited Canada's capital, the lensboys were told to don formal morning clothes and top hats.

SECOND ANNUAL MART IS SLATED

Event Will Be Held On July 23-24 At Hotel Frances Here

The second annual Monroe Merchants' mart will be held in Hotel Frances, July 23-24, sponsored by the North Louisiana Traveling Men's association, stated George D. Holland, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Saturday.

There will be 60 or more lines of varied merchandise shown in special rooms at the mart. Fully 1,600 retail merchants of this area from Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas will be invited to come as guests.

One of the features will be a banquet served on the Cherokee terrace of Hotel Frances on the night of July 23. This is expected to be largely attended and one of the most pleasing features of the entire exhibition. Last year, at the initial event, 32 exhibits were displayed but this year the number will be doubled, it is expected.

The mart is expected to fill a decided want in this section and will enable merchants to place fall and winter orders for goods without the necessity of traveling to distant cities to accomplish this end. The North Louisiana Traveling Men's association was formed a year ago when Claude Harrison was elected president and John Carroll, secretary.

Present at a special meeting held Saturday morning to effect early arrangements for the holding of the mart were the following: Archie L. Dickerson, John Carroll, J. L. Pugh, J. A. Reid, Ed Cannon, T. Mickel, M. L. Gans, J. E. Middleton, W. H. McGee, M. M. Creagon, H. B. Crutchfield, Fred Mitchell, H. K. Litton and H. L. Broadwell.

'POPPY DAY' PROVES TO BE COMPLETE SUCCESS

The annual "Buddy Poppy" sale held in the Twin Cities Saturday went over the top in a big way, all the flowers being sold out by noon, stated J. W. Keene, commander of Rodney J. Hobbs post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

A total of fully $[illegible] was realized which will be devoted to the care of needy veterans, their families and for the support of the veterans' home for [illegible].

Ouachita Baking Company Buys Latest In Bread-Making Equipment

The Ouachita Baking company has announced that a traveling oven has been installed at the company's modern plant on South Grand street and that in the future Butter-Krust bread will be baked by this new scientific method to insure even better quality in this product.

The public is invited to visit the Ouachita bakery and inspect this new traveling oven, the only one in north Louisiana, according to officials of the firm. The new equipment is the second important phase of the baking industry to be installed at the progressive bakery in the past year, it was pointed out. About a year ago the Ouachita bakery introduced air-conditioned Butter-Krust bread to northeast Louisiana. Then, too, the local bakery was the first to introduce this new, finer, method of improving the quality of their product.

The finely mixed loaves of Butter-Krust enter the big traveling oven as it moves on its way to complete a circle and when the circle is completed, which requires 26 minutes, the loaf is ready to be wrapped for delivery. The new method, according to baking experts, results in tenderer crust, a more uniform loaf, better flavor and smoother and creamier bread.

"The Ouachita Baking company is ever ready to adopt modern methods in an effort to improve the quality of Butter-Krust bread," G. B. Watkins, president of the firm, said. "We appreciate the splendid patronage accorded us all over northeast Louisiana and thus are most receptive to the new ideas and methods invented and introduced by manufacturers of baking equipment. We zealously prize the reputation Butter-Krust bread has for being the best loaf of bread obtainable anywhere."

Mr. Watkins urged everyone to visit his plant and watch the procedure in producing Butter-Krust bread.

NOTED BIBLE LECTURER WILL LEAD CONFERENCE

TALLULAH, La., May 27.—(Special)—Dr. F. Crossley Morgan, celebrated lecturer on the Bible, and son of Dr. G. Campbell Morgan of England, outstanding authority on the Bible, will conduct a Bible conference in Tallulah June 4 to 9. The conference is sponsored by ministers of the Presbyterian, Episcopal, Baptist and Methodist churches. Services will be held in the Baptist church each morning and in the Methodist church each evening.

TALLULAH HIGH SENIORS TO HEAR BACCALUREATE

TALLULAH, La., May 27.—(Special)—The baccalaureate sermon for the graduating class of the Tallulah High school will be delivered by Rev. D. W. Poole, pastor of the Tallulah Methodist church, in the new gymnasium-auditorium Sunday morning. Other ministers of Tallulah will assist in the services and music will be furnished by the music department of the school.

DICK TRACY
YES, GENTLEMEN, I'M CONVINCED THE TWO "PRINCES" ARE IMPOSTORS—COMMON HOUSE THIEVES AND SWINDLERS—PASSING THEMSELVES OFF AS THE REAL ROYALTY.
PRINCES
THIS SHIRT THE COAST GUARD PICKED UP PROVES IT! THE MESSAGE, ACCORDING TO THE INTERPRETER, SAYS THE REAL PRINCES ARE BEING HELD ABOARD A BOAT SOMEWHERE OFF SHORE.
THE HOAX MUST NOT BE REVEALED UNTIL THE REAL PRINCES HAVE BEEN RESCUED, OTHERWISE THEY MAY BE KILLED.
YES! EVEN THE BOVANIAN GOVERNMENT MUST NOT KNOW THE REAL FACTS.
COMMANDER, OUR NEXT STEP IS TO COOPERATE WITH YOUR COAST GUARD CREWS TO LOCATE THAT PRISON BOAT.
RIGHT.
MEANWHILE, THE PRISON BOAT HAS ALREADY RUN INTO TROUBLE.
QUICK! LIE DOWN IN THAT TANK AND PUT THESE RUBBER HOSES IN YOUR MOUTHS.
WE'RE COMING ABOARD. WE WANT TO LOOK YOU OVER.
YOU CAN'T BOARD US—WE'RE OUTSIDE THE TWELVE-MILE LIMIT.
CG 210
YEAH! WELL, WE'RE SEARCHING YOUR BOAT. YOU LOOK SUSPICIOUS—BEEN SETTING OUT HERE FOR OVER A WEEK.
LISTEN, IF WE WERE SMUGGLERS WE'D HAVE A FAST OUTFIT. WHY, THIS TUB COULDN'T OUTRUN THE OLD ROBERT E. LEE.
OKAY. LIE STILL AND BREATHE THROUGH THOSE HOSES OR YOU'LL DROWN. HERE COMES THE BILGE WATER.
GET OFF YOUR MASK—HERE THEY ARE!
HM, IT'S A SCREWY LOOKING OUTFIT IF YOU ASK ME. WHAT DO YOU CALL THAT?
MEANWHILE, IN ONE OF THE CITY'S PALATIAL HOMES WHERE THE "PRINCES" HAVE JUST BEEN ENTERTAINED...
YOUR HIGHNESS, YOUR VALET IS HERE.
OH, YES, HERE IS OUR LAUNDRY.
AS THE PRINCES' VALET MAKES HIS WAY TOWARD HIS CAR, WITH THE BAGS OF "LAUNDRY"
YE GODS! THESE BABIES MUST WEIGH A HUNDRED POUNDS APIECE. THIS IS SOME HAUL.
OH BOY, I JUST MADE IT.

WPA ALLOTMENTS MADE FOR MALARIA CONTROL

Two WPA allotments for Morehouse parish have been approved by the government, according to information received at the office of Representative Newt V. Mills.

The first carries appropriation of $1,944 for the drainage of swamps and ponds to provide malaria control in the vicinity of Moore's community. The second project also for malaria control is for $2,563, near Oak Ridge. Canals and other necessary construction are to be provided for.

The sponsors are the Louisiana state board of health and the Morehouse parish police jury.

WHEN FELLOW SCOTS MEET

SECOND ANNUAL MART IS SLATED

Event Will Be Held On July 23-24 At Hotel Frances Here

The second annual Monroe Merchants' mart will be held in Hotel Frances, July 23-24, sponsored by the North Louisiana Traveling Men's association, stated George D. Holland, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Saturday.

There will be 60 or more lines of varied merchandise shown in special rooms at the mart. Fully 1,600 retail merchants of this area from Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas will be invited to come as guests.

One of the features will be a banquet served on the Cherokee terrace of Hotel Frances on the night of July 23. This is expected to be largely attended and one of the most pleasing features of the entire exhibition. Last year, at the initial event, 32 exhibits were displayed but this year the number will be doubled, it is expected.

The mart is expected to fill a decided want in this section and will enable merchants to place fall and winter orders for goods without the necessity of traveling to distant cities to accomplish this end. The North Louisiana Traveling Men's association was formed a year ago when Claude Harrison was elected president and John Carroll, secretary.

Present at a special meeting held Saturday morning to effect early arrangements for the holding of the mart were the following: Archie L. Dickerson, John Carroll, J. L. Pugh, J. A. Reid, Ed Cannon, T. Michel, M. L. Gans, J. E. Middleton, W. H. McGee, M. M. Creagon, H. B. Cruthird, Fred Mitchell, H. K. Litton and H. L. Broadwell.

'POPPY DAY' PROVES TO BE COMPLETE SUCCESS

The annual "Buddy Poppy" sale held in the Twin Cities Saturday went over the top in a big way, all the flowers being sold out by noon, stated J. W. Keene, commander of Rodney J. Hobbs post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

A total of fully $170 was realized which will be devoted to the use of needy veterans, their families and for the support of the veterans' home for orphan children.

Commander Keene stated he wished in the name of the post to thank the public of the Twin Cities for their aid accorded.

TRAVELING OVEN INSTALLED HERE

Ouachita Baking Company Buys Latest In Bread-Making Equipment

The Ouachita Baking company has announced that a traveling oven has been installed at the company's modern plant on South Grand street and that in the future Butter-Krust bread will be baked by this new scientific method to insure even better quality in this product.

The public is invited to visit the Ouachita bakery and inspect this new traveling oven, the only one in north Louisiana, according to officials of the firm. The new equipment is the second important phase of the baking industry to be installed at the progressive bakery in the past year, it was pointed out. About a year ago the Ouachita bakery introduced air-conditioned Butter-Krust bread to northeast Louisiana. Then, too, the local bakery was the first to introduce this new, finer, method of improving the quality of their product.

The finely mixed loaves of Butter-Krust enter the big traveling oven as it moves on its way to complete a circle and when the circle is completed, which requires 26 minutes, the loaf is ready to be wrapped for delivery. The new method, according to baking experts, results in tenderer crust, a more uniform loaf, better flavor and smoother and creamier bread.

"The Ouachita Baking company is ever ready to adopt modern methods in an effort to improve the quality of Butter-Krust bread," G. B. Watkins, president of the firm, said. "We appreciate the splendid patronage accorded us all over northeast Louisiana and thus are most receptive to the new ideas and methods invented and introduced by manufacturers of baking equipment. We zealously prize the reputation Butter-Krust bread has for being the best loaf of bread obtainable anywhere."

Mr. Watkins urged everyone to visit his plant and watch the procedure in producing Butter-Krust bread.

YES, GENTLEMEN, I'M CONVINCED THE TWO "PRINCES" ARE IMPOSTORS — COMMON HOUSE THIEVES AND SWINDLERS — PASSING THEMSELVES OFF AS THE REAL ROYALTY.
PRINCES
THIS SHIRT THE COAST GUARD PICKED UP PROVES IT! THE MESSAGE, ACCORDING TO THE INTERPRETER, SAYS THE REAL PRINCES ARE BEING HELD ABOARD A BOAT SOMEWHERE OFF SHORE.
Gus mualo nis deo lalla y se lani gulati nis se y suncio y. Jerg a Nestor
THE HOAX MUST NOT BE REVEALED UNTIL THE REAL PRINCES HAVE BEEN RESCUED, OTHERWISE THEY MAY BE KILLED.
YES! EVEN THE BOVANIAN GOVERNMENT MUST NOT KNOW THE REAL FACTS.
COMMANDER, OUR NEXT STEP IS TO COOPERATE WITH YOUR COAST GUARD CREWS TO LOCATE THAT PRISON BOAT.
RIGHT.
MEANWHILE, THE PRISON BOAT HAS ALREADY RUN INTO TROUBLE.
QUICK! LIE DOWN IN THAT TANK AND PUT THESE RUBBER HOSES IN YOUR MOUTHS.
WE'RE COMING ABOARD. WE WANT TO LOOK YOU OVER.
YOU CAN'T BOARD US — WE'RE OUTSIDE THE TWELVE-MILE LIMIT.
CG 210
YEAH! WELL, WE'RE SEARCHING YOUR BOAT. YOU LOOK SUSPICIOUS — BEEN SETTING OUT HERE FOR OVER A WEEK.
LISTEN, IF WE WERE SMUGGLERS WE'D HAVE A FAST OUTFIT. WHY, THIS TUB COULDN'T OUTRUN THE OLD ROBERT E. LEE.
OKAY. LIE STILL AND BREATHE THROUGH THOSE HOSES OR YOU'LL DROWN. HERE COMES THE BILGE WATER.
GET OFF YOUR MASK — HERE THEY ARE!
HM, IT'S A SCREWY LOOKING OUTFIT IF YOU ASK ME. WHAT DO YOU CALL THAT?
MEANWHILE, IN ONE OF THE CITY'S PALATIAL HOMES WHERE THE "PRINCES" HAVE JUST BEEN ENTERTAINED...
YOUR HIGHNESS, YOUR VALET IS HERE.
OH, YES, HERE IS OUR LAUNDRY.
AS THE PRINCES' VALET MAKES HIS WAY TOWARD HIS CAR, WITH THE BAGS OF "LAUNDRY"
OH BOY, I JUST MADE IT.

Tarzan
by EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS
KULEEAH THE TREE-WOMAN
TO ESCAPE THE DEADLY MISSILES OF HIS FOES, TARZAN THREW HIMSELF QUICKLY UPON THE GROUND.
FROM EVERY QUARTER LINGOOS RAN TOWARD HIM, EAGER TO DELIVER THE STROKE OF DEATH.
MEANWHILE, AT THE FOREST'S EDGE, A LEGION OF MYSTERIOUS TREE-WOMEN DROPPED TO EARTH.
WITH SPIRITED CRIES THEY ASSAILED THE HALF-MEN, MANY OF WHOM TURNED TO MEET THIS NEW MENACE.
WITH GAY ENTHUSIASM THEY BATTLED THEIR WAY TO TARZAN, WHO WAS ENGAGED WITH A LINGOO BAND.
"LET US BEAR AWAY THE STRANGERS," SHOUTED KULEEAH, CHIEF OF THE AMAZONS; "THE HANDSOME ONE IS MINE!"
THE APE-MAN HAD NO TIME TO WONDER WHO OR WHAT SHE WAS, BUT HE RECOGNIZED IN HER A REMARKABLE ALLY. AS THEY FOUGHT SIDE BY SIDE, HE MARVELED AT HER STRENGTH AND SPARKLING COURAGE.
AND NOW AND THEN KULEEAH CAST A GLANCE OF FRANK APPROVAL AT THE MIGHTY JUNGLE LORD.
SUDDENLY TARZAN WAS STRUCK FROM BEHIND. HE FELL UNCONSCIOUS. KULEEAH SWOOPED DOWN----

THEN BEARING HER PRECIOUS BURDEN, SHE LEAPED INTO THE TREES, AND VANISHED.

DISCOVERED BY TWO OFFICERS OF THE SECRET ORGANIZATION, JUNIOR AND BUCK ARE BUNDLED INTO A CAR....THEIR PLEADINGS ARE OF NO AVAIL AS THE MACHINE RACES MADLY INTO THE NIGHT ON A LONELY HIGHWAY
_SUDDENLY A SHARP TURN IN THE ROAD _SHRIEKING BRAKES AND A SPLINTERING CRASH___ THE CAR IS CATAPULTED INTO A DEEP RAVINE______
JUNIOR! WHERE ARE YOU? ARE YOU ALL RIGHT?
I'M OKAY_ LET'S SCRAM OUT OF HERE!
SCRATCHED UP BUT SLIGHTLY, THE BOYS STRIKE OUT FOR TOWN___SOON A WELCOME SIGHT APPEARS__
SO YOU SEE WE MUST REACH THE AIRPORT IN TIME TO SAVE THE LIVES OF THE FLYERS WHOM THOSE MEN BACK THERE PLANNED TO KILL
JUST MADE IT AS THE GAS GAVE OUT
I'LL FIND THE COMMANDING OFFICER
SIR, I HAVE INFORMATION THAT THE NEW BOMBER YOU ARE TO TEST THIS MORNING HAS BEEN FIXED TO CRASH!
MY_MY_THAT'S BAD NEWS! ARE YOU SURE YOU'RE AWAKE AT THIS EARLY HOUR?
JUNIOR THEN RELATES HIS ENTIRE STORY AND THE OFFICER IS CONVINCED OF ITS TRUTH
THE TEST FLIGHT IS CALLED OFF FOR TODAY_ ORDER MY CAR OUT IMMEDIATELY!
YES, SIR!
TO TOWN _INTELLIGENCE DEPARTMENT HEADQUARTERS AND LOSE NO TIME
JUNIOR REPEATS THE ASTOUNDING STORY OF THE PLOT TO THE CHIEF OF THE INTELLIGENCE DEPARTMENT
AND TONIGHT THEY ARE MEETING TO CELEBRATE THE CRASH AND ONE OF THE MEN IS TO BRING THE BLUE PRINTS OF THE PLANE
TAKE TWO MEN AND HURRY TO THE SCENE OF THIS AUTO ACCIDENT_PREVENT ANY NEWS OF THEIR IDENTITY GETTING OUT AS THAT WOULD PROBABLY CHANGE THE PLANS FOR THEIR MEETING TONIGHT
NOW THEN, MY BRAVE YOUNG MEN, IF YOU WILL GIVE ME ALL THE DOPE ON HOW TO ENTER THAT TUNNEL I'LL TAKE A PARTY THERE TONIGHT AND GIVE THAT GANG A LITTLE SURPRISE AW, GEE_ WON'T YOU TAKE US WITH YOU?

WELL JO, I MET A VERY BRILLIANT MAN TODAY. AT A FIRE. HE'S A SCIENTIST. AS A HOBBY HE COLLECTS WOODEN LEGS AND...
WHAT! YOU MEAN I'VE GOT MOTHS?
I'M POSITIVE IT FLEW OVER THIS WAY.
SEE IT? UP THERE.
SH-H! HAND ME A FLY SWATTER.
GEORGE! DON'T LEAN BACK SO FAR.
SH-H! I WANT TO GET HIM GOOD.
WHAT.. WHERE... WHO..?
I KNEW YOU'D FALL. ARE YOU ALL RIGHT? GEORGE!
WHAT.?.NOW I REMEMBER. THE MOTH. WHERE'S THAT FLY SWATTER?
BE CAREFUL. DO NOT LEAN BACK TOO FAR AGAIN OR...
SH-H! I WON'T...
OH OH!
THAT'S NO MOTH. IT'S JUST A LOOSE PIECE OF WALL PAPER.
THE IDEA! BRINGING A MOTH HOME. THEN FLATLY REFUSING TO HELP ME FIND IT.
ALSO, MOTHS HAVE TO LIVE, TOO.

HE'S OFF TO A QUICK GETAWAY — I NEVER SHOULD HAVE GIVEN HIM THE GREEN LIGHT!
BY INJECTING A SECRET FERTILIZER INTO THE PITUITARY GLAND THAT REGULATED ITS GROWTH, A SPECIMEN GREW SO LARGE THAT BY TAPPING IT THE FLOW OF WATER FURNISHED COOL AND REFRESHING DRINK FOR OUR TABLE!
BECAUSE OF ITS IMMENSE SIZE THE NATIVES ROLLED IT TO THE RIVER'S BRINK AND HELD A TRIBAL FEAST!
CUTTING THE MELON IN HALF AND FEEDING THE ENTIRE TRIBE WITH THE LUSCIOUS RED FRUIT, THE NATIVES WERE ABOUT TO PUT ON A DANCE IN CELEBRATION —
— SUDDENLY, A FEROCIOUS TRIBE OF SAVAGES ATTACKED THEM FROM THE NEIGHBORING BUSH —
BY QUICKLY LAUNCHING THE HOLLOW HALVES OF THE MELON AND USING THE SEEDS FOR PADDLES, THE ENTIRE TRIBE WAS FERRIED TO SAFETY ON THE OPPOSITE SHORE!
EGAD, THAT WAS A MELON, BAXTER!
